CARPET COMP'Y WANTS HELP

And Mayor O'Donnell Is Appealed To

Help Question More Important Than Tariff Scare

The dark tariff cloud that we hear so much about nowadays is not taken very seriously in some of the manufacturing cities and towns in this great and glorious country. Mayor O'Donnell receives a great many letters from manufacturers who are short of help and it would seem that the help question is much more important than the tariff question. The Magee Carpet Co. of Bloomsburg, Pa., is shy on help, and the mayor is in receipt of the following letter from that company:

Bloomsburg, Pa.,
May 12, 1913.

His Honor, the Mayor, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Frequently in the daily papers we read of people who are destitute because they cannot get work. Occasionally this is the reason given for a suicide.

This condition of affairs we do not understand for right in our own healthy town with good water, good schools, cheap coal and cheap rents we need workers. We ourselves could use 1100 more today if we had them, and give them steady work at wages which enables our people to save money.

We do not want the irresponsible or those that won't work, but for any that want a chance to work we have vacancies. Can use whole families, men and women. The other industries in the town are in like position. We do not insist upon skilled help, as we can teach them.

Will you kindly have the charitable organizations of your city put our name on their lists and have worthy applicants for work referred to us?

Any bank in Bloomsburg, or any business man can be used as reference as to our responsibility. We never had a strike, nor any labor trouble whatever as we try to do the best we can for our people.

Thanking you for what you may do for us, we are,

Yours truly,
The Magee Carpet Company.

Forest Fires in Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 15.—The forest fires which were burning fiercely in various parts of the state last night were all believed to be under control today.

Marathon Relay Race

CHICAGO, May 15.—A Marathon relay race extending from the national capital to Chicago will be the opening feature of the international athletic contests in Grant park from June 28 to July 6, it was announced today. Schoolboy runners will carry a message from President Wilson to Mayor Harrison, who will be in the stadium in the park on the afternoon of June 28 when the carnival is formally opened. The delivery of the document will entail the assistance of about seven hundred schoolboys, school superintendents along the route, mayors of various municipalities and scores of automobile clubs.

Judge Fox Dead

TAUNTON, May 24.—Judge William H. Fox, presiding justice of the First Bristol district court for 45 years, died suddenly of heart disease at his home today, aged 76 years. Judge Fox was a native of Taunton.

SENTENCED FOR ASSAULTING COP

James P. Boyle Struck Police Officer Considine

Oleomargarine Cases Heard In Court Today

The charges preferred against James P. Boyle in police court this morning were the result of a drama enacted last night in Central street with Boyle playing the leading role. Officers Considine and Sheridan and Lieutenant Freeman all testified this morning that the defendant was in a state of intoxication last night when Officer Considine arrested him on Central street. Boyle did not take kindly to the trip to the station in the patrol and the consequences were that both defendant and arresting officer were rolling in the street when the other officers arrived on the scene. Boyle, it seems, tried to break away from Officer Considine and when he did not appear to be succeeding very well struck him several blows in the face with his fist. From the appearance of the two this morning it is safe to say that Boyle came out second best in the encounter. He was charged with drunkenness and also with assaulting an officer while in the performance of his duty. Judge Enright ordered him to be committed to the house of correction for a term of four months on each complaint.

Oleomargarine Cases

State Inspector of Butter Lombard arraigned three defendants before the local court this morning. Nicholas Kennos, of 432 Suffolk street, was charged with selling oleomargarine without having it properly marked. He pleaded not guilty but was fined $100, the minimum penalty for this offence. Albert F. Nealy was charged with serving oleomargarine to guests in place of butter without notifying them of the fact. He was fined $10. Alvirid Brodie was fined $10 for the same offence.

Cruelty to Horse

The case of Morris Goldman, charged with cruelty to a horse, was continued for one week. Officer Dooley testified that he had ordered the defendant not to drive his horse in its present condition but that witness had not heeded his commands. Dr. Eaton informed the court that he had examined the horse of the defendant and that the animal will never be fit to use again. The case was continued in order to allow Agent Richardson of the Humane society to ascertain just what will be the best disposition to make of the case.

Setting Fires

Parquale Ondinarelle and Luigi Faouzza, a pair who own a small lot in Tewksbury were in court this morning on the church of setting fires in the open air without having a permit to do so from the town authorities. The case was continued until the court could discover whether the town of Tewksbury had adopted the measure which made this a misdemeanor.

Non-Support Case

The case of Michael J. Gaffney, charged with the non-support of his wife, was continued until Saturday. His wife testified that he had not lived up to a previous order of the court which decreed that he should give her seven dollars each week.

Drunken Offenders

Peter J. Larkin pleaded guilty to drunkenness but did not confess to taking a pair of pants from a house on upper Market street. The evidence developed that the defendant has been a worthless personage for some time past. Officer Martin and Sergeant McCloughrey both testified that Larkin had been hanging around Market street for some few weeks and that he had no visible means of support. He was sentenced to four months in the house of correction.

John F. Murphy was fined $6 for his second appearance for drunkenness. There was only one $2 drunk and Probation Officer Slattery allowed two to leave the station without appearing in court.

STRIKE CALLED OFF

Lawrence Teamsters Return to Work

LAWRENCE, May 15.—The strike of local coal handlers and teamsters for a wage increase of 25 cents a day, which began May 5, was called off by the strikers today, who returned to work at the old scale.

Want Conference

The mayor has received the following letter from the Municipal Employes' union:

Municipal Employees' union,
May 14, 1913.

Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell:

Your Honor:—At a meeting of this union a committee was appointed to have a conference with you, at your convenience and if possible the committee would like to have a two days' notice. Hoping for an early reply,

I remain,
G. W. Gordon, Secretary.

WELLS FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

Swanton Man Acquitted of Charge of Poisoning Children—Jury Was Out 15 Hours

ST. ALBANS, Vt., May 15.—Julius Wells of Swanton was found not guilty today of the murder of his son Louis by poison last December.

The jury was out 15 hours. Wells wept when the verdict was announced but he soon regained his composure, and as the jurymen filed out of the courtroom he shook hands with each of them.

The child Louis and his sister Marie died December fourth and an examination of the stomachs showed the presence of poison. Mrs. Wells was arrested early in January but her husband was not taken into custody until more than two months later. Both were indicted for murder on March 19. The state charged that the motive was a desire on the part of Wells to obtain insurance on the child's life. The defense asserted that the children had been accidentally poisoned.

Mrs. Wells, who is yet to be tried, appeared as a witness against her husband, testifying that he begged her to commit suicide and so cover him from suspicion.

Wells also was under indictment, charged with the murder of his daughter Marie, aged four years, but was tried only on the charge of poisoning the boy. After the verdict had been rendered Judge Miles announced that the other indictment had been quashed and Wells was discharged from custody.

MR. THOMAS J. MULLIGAN DEAD

Had Long Been Telegraph Editor on Sun Staff

Untimely Death of a Popular Young Newspaperman

THE LATE THOMAS J. MULLIGAN

After a lingering illness of about six months, Thomas J. Mulligan, of The Sun staff passed away at his home yesterday afternoon, mourned by a host of friends, who admired him for his many genial qualities, his loyal friendship and sterling worth.

It was about a year ago that his health first began to give way, but he continued to work as telegraph editor of The Sun until Thanksgiving, when he was advised to take a rest. He quit work with every confidence of soon being restored to perfect health, but in this he was disappointed, although until within a month ago he entertained strong hopes of recovery with the coming of the warm weather. He bore his illness with great fortitude, being conscious to the last and making full arrangements for his funeral.

Mr. Mulligan was about 41 years of age. A native of this city, he attended the old Mann school and later St. Patrick's parochial school, from which he graduated with high honors in 1888. He then entered Holy Cross college, Worcester, where he studied for three years, but did not complete the course. On returning he held a clerical position until 1892, when he became a reporter on The Sun staff. He soon developed into a keen, bright and accomplished newspaperman; became telegraph editor and filled the position with marked ability; his great memory for dates and names, as well as his familiarity with political leaders and political issues fitting him peculiarly for the varied duties of his office.

As an authority on election figures the comparative strength of political parties, and the influence exerted by individual leaders in city, state and nation he had few equals. He could discuss the standing and power of Tammany leaders as well as if he were a member of the organization.

He was noted for his polite and courteous manner and his faculty of making friends. He was highly esteemed at The Sun office, and it was but a short time before his death that his associates at The Sun office, together with the proprietor, combined to express their sympathy for him in a practical way.

Mr. Mulligan served two terms in the school board subsequent to 1894 and was later chosen a member of the board of health. He was closely connected with local political movements and served as chairman of the democratic city committee.

He was for many years a member of the C. Y. M. L., the Knights of Columbus and Industry council, Royal Arcanum. He always showed a great interest in the O. M. I. Cadets, assisting Rev. Fr. Sullivan O. M. I., in every way possible in the various events undertaken to help the Cadets.

Mr. Mulligan is survived by his wife, four daughters, Helen, Dorothy, Marion and Catherine, the eldest of whom is 15 years old, and his mother, Mrs. Ellen Mulligan, of Prince street. The family has the profound sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their sad bereavement. See funeral notice elsewhere.

Spring Golf Tournament

BROOKLINE, May 15.—The seventeenth renewal of the spring golf tournament at the Country club, one of the oldest golf fixtures in the country, opened today with nearly 100 on the entry rolls. Several New England golfing centers outside of Boston were represented and a number of Harvard students from New York and the west seized the opportunity of playing the course over which the open championship will be decided next fall.

The best 16 in the day's play will continue tomorrow in match play for the Country club cup.

LOWELL CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERT

Haydn's "Creation" Was Splendidly Given Last Night

Distinguished Soloists and Well Trained Chorus

Under Direction of E. G. Hood — Large Attendance

ARTHUR C. SPALDING,
President Choral Society.

EUSEBIUS G. HOOD,
Director.

The audience that filled the Lowell Opera House to its capacity last evening to hear Haydn's "Creation," as given by the Lowell Choral society were not disappointed; they heard a most admirable performance in which the distinguished soloists and the large chorus sang with a finish and precision which could only have been attained by a long and thorough preparation. That those present appreciated the rare treat was strikingly demonstrated by the close attention given the work of the singers, for from the opening recitative of Raphael to the final "amen" the greatest silence prevailed broken only by the frequent and enthusiastic applause.

The excellence of the performance was no doubt largely due to the long preparation and numerous rehearsals, for the society had held meetings for weeks past, and every part of the ora-

TO RESUME EATON INQUEST

Judge Pratt Will Hear Witnesses Tomorrow

Dist. Atty. Barker Will Produce New Witnesses

ROCKLAND, May 15.—The inquest into the death of Rear Admiral Joseph G Eaton, which was suspended when the widow, Mrs. Jennie Eaton, was arrested, charged with murder, will be resumed at Abington before Judge Pratt tomorrow. District Attorney Albert S. Barker said today that about six witnesses, some of whom had not previously appeared in the case, would testify. Admiral Eaton died suddenly at his home in Norwell on March 8, death being due, it is alleged, to poison administered by his wife. Mrs. Eaton is now held at the county jail at Plymouth pending trial, the date for which has not yet been set.

PRIEST TO LEAVE LOWELL

Rev. Henry C. Reardon Going to Europe

Rev. H. C. Reardon, assistant to Rev. Fr. Galligan, pastor of St. Margaret's church in the Highlands will spend the summer in touring Europe, so it was announced this morning. During his absence, his place will be filled by Rev. James F. Lynch of Roxbury, a young priest ordained at Brighton seminary about six weeks ago. Rev Fr. Reardon will leave at an early date and his trip will cover a period of several months. Rev. Fr. Lynch will take up his duties at St. Margaret's soon.

LOWELL BOY INJURED

Found in Freight Yard at Nashua

Duncan Kelley, aged 18 years, this city, was picked up in the East freight yard, Nashua, last night about 9 o'clock and it is believed that he fell or jumped from the passenger train that runs to Nashua from Lowell.

Young Kelley was found in the yard shortly after the passenger train arrived and he was taken on a shifter to the Main street station from which he was taken to the Emergency hospital in the ambulance. He was seriously bruised about the face and is suffering from a scalp wound although Dr. A. W. Shea stated that he is doing well and will be taken to his home within a few days.

He stated that he lived with his parents, 15 Oak street, this city, and his father was immediately sent for.

PERISHED IN FIRE SHE SET

Woman Deranged Over Daughter's Illness Set Barn Afire

Body Burned to a Crisp Was Found In Ruins

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., May 15.—While mentally suffering over the illness of her daughter Helen, whose death was momentarily expected, Mrs. Zebediah Fields was burned to death today after setting fire, it was believed to the barn on the Fields farm, one mile south of here.

She was in the house talking with the cook a few minutes before the fire was discovered. Her body, burned to a crisp was found in the ruins of the barn. The invalid daughter was carried to the home of neighbors. Mr. Fields and the farmhands were at work some distance from the house. The entire set of buildings and contents, valued at about $10,000, were burned.

SESSION WAS SUSPENDED

Proceeding Was Delayed While Attorneys Argue

THE COURT, OFFICERS AND JURORS HAD THEIR PICTURES TAKEN

Settlement Without Trial in Case Against Bay State Co. Resulted From a Long Consultation of Attorneys

Throughout the entire morning, the civil session of the superior court was suspended and the judge, jurymen, court officers, witnesses and spectators sat idly awaiting the resumption of the proceedings. The reason for the delay was the decision of the counsel for both sides in the case of Margaret U. Silk vs. the Bay State Street Railway Co., to retire from the court room to attempt to come to an agreement in the matter without going to trial. The case had not been called nor the jury chosen.

The suit of Margaret U. Silk against the Bay State Co. was an action of tort in which the damages sought were $15,000. The plaintiff is a resident of Dracut. There was a multitude of witnesses for both parties awaiting the bringing to trial of the suit. A few moments before 12 o'clock the attorneys returned to the court room with the glad tidings that they had effected a settlement.

Had Pictures Taken

The fact of the long consultation did not prevent the court, officers and jurors from taking the usual respite of 15 or 20 minutes at a quarter after eleven this morning, and at that time they all gathered on the steps at the north entrance to the court house where a photographer took several group pictures. In the front row was Judge Pratt and the officers, the latter holding the customary white staff. About them were arranged the jurors and Miss Louise N. Jackson, court stenographer, was also in the front row. Altogether they made an imposing array and from one or another there were heard frequent witty sallies at the expense of a friend, not to speak of repeated warnings to the picture man to be careful of his camera. It is a custom to have a picture of this kind taken in order that the jurors may have a memento of the three months' session of the superior civil court in which they deliberated and decided so many and various cases placed before them.

Adjourned to 2 O'Clock

As soon as it was announced that a settlement had been reached in the action against the Bay State Co. the court adjourned to 2 o'clock, for there was no other case ready for immediate trial.

EXPECT 40,000 PEOPLE

"Frank Chance Day" In Chicago Saturday

CHICAGO, May 15.—Ticket speculators are asking as much as $5 for reserved seats for "Frank Chance day" at the American league baseball park Saturday. They demand that price for box seats on the lower floor and ask $3 for seats on the lower half of the upper deck. It was reported that one agency procured 500 tickets for the game and they were offered today at various downtown hotels.

It looked like a world's series crush when distribution of reserved seats began yesterday. Patrons who had expected a public sale were disappointed as all the reserved sections were exhausted before the advance applications were filled. The reserved section will seat 10,000.

President Comiskey guarantees that he can accommodate 40,000 people at the game. Of this number 30,000 will remain unsold until the gates open on Saturday morning.

BURKES OPEN SEASON

Play Progressive Club Saturday

Saturday afternoon at Spaulding park the Burke Temperance society's baseball team will meet the fast aggregation which the Progressive club of Beverly has put in the field this year. This game will be the first big semi-professional game that Lowell has seen in some years and the question will be decided then whether this city will support a really good club of ball players who are outside the limits of organized baseball.

The Beverly club was organized this year more for the purpose of advertising the political party under whose name they play than for the purpose of making money. The expenses, uniforms, etc. are all paid for by prominent men of Beverly interested in the party and no less than three special cars have been chartered to bring the crowd, which will accompany the team to Lowell.

The Burkes are under the management this year of "Nixey" Coughlin, whose baseball career it is unnecessary to repeat to Lowell fandom. Manager Coughlin understands the game thoroughly and the team should have a very successful season. If the Burkes defeat Beverly Saturday it will be a big feather in their cap for the latter team has not been defeated as yet. The fast Maple team of Salem went down before them two weeks ago. The Salem team has Lonergan, who was drafted to Providence from Lowell last year by Fred Lake, and Gaw, who pitched for Brockton last season, in their lineup so that it can easily be seen that whoever beat this outfit were playing real baseball.

The progressives of Lowell will be present at the game in large numbers. The city committee of the party will attend the game in a body and "Honest Dan" Cosgrove, progressive candidate for lieutenant-governor, will pitch the first ball.

REVOLVER DUEL IN REVERE

One Dead and Another Seriously Injured

BRIDEGROOM AND FATHER-IN-LAW SHOOT EACH OTHER

Latter Died in Hospital of Injuries—Young Man Shot Through Neck and May Not Recover

BOSTON, May 15.—While 9-year-old Grasia Orlandella looked on, her father, Michael Orlandella, and her brother-in-law, Samuel Comiza, engaged in a revolver duel, which cost the life of the little girl's father and the possibly fatal injury of Comiza. The latter was married two weeks ago.

The shooting occurred shortly before noon yesterday in the upper tenement of a two-family house at 9 Mountain avenue, Revere.

Orlandella received bullet wounds in the left shoulder and the head. The second shot lodged in the base of his brain and caused his death in the Massachusetts General hospital two hours later. Comiza was shot once through the neck. As yet it has not been determined whether the wound will prove fatal.

Little Grasia was so overcome by fright, and the knowledge that her father had been killed that she has been unable to give her version of the affair. Her mother, the wife of the victim, collapsed after the shooting, and the police have yet to interview her before any charges are brought.

MILITIA NIGHT

Board of Trade Urges Public Meeting at the Armory—Speaker to Be Supplied By Adj.-General Pearson

The directors of the board of trade held a meeting yesterday afternoon and considerable business was transacted. Among other things it was voted to accept Adjt.-General Gardner W. Pearson's proposal to have a speaker from his department address the members of the board on the militia question. The adjutant-general suggested that the meeting be held at the state armory and that a brief exhibition drill or tactical exhibit be given by the local companies before the address on militia work is given.

The meeting it is proposed will be open to the public with special invitations to the members of the board.

It was also voted to request the Lowell legislators to do all that they deem advisable in bringing before the governor a request to veto the bill appropriating $10,500 for the Salisbury beach reservation, and to explain to him the reasons for such a request.

Relative to the new law regarding the establishment of city planning boards, it was voted that the secretary, John H. Murphy, be instructed to write or confer with the mayor, relative to the matter.

A nominating committee to bring in a list of officers and directors for the annual meeting which will be held on June 4, was named as follows: John E. Drury, F. A. Fisher and D. W. Shanahan. The following new members were chosen: Harold L. Chalifoux, Frank P. Carter and Charles W. Cunningham.

Homely, Yet Admired and Envied; Her Secret

The convention crowd in the lobby made a path for her, cast admiring side glances, then with longing eyes followed her to the elevator. It was at the Panchartrain in Detroit. The incident was recalled when I chanced to sit across table from the woman. What was it about her that caused all that commotion? She wasn't handsome; she was lacking in form and feature. Yet she did seem marvelously fascinating. Her complexion must be the secret. Really, I've never beheld its equal. Venturing to pick up acquaintanceship, I learned the reason.

"I know I'm not built for beauty," she confided, "but I've tried to make the most of my one charm. I've learned that men abhor make-ups and artificiality. I bar cosmetics: there are just two things I ever use and they promote natural loveliness and youthful appearance.

"When my complexion begins to age, I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off in the morning. This gradually flakes off the outer skin; then I have a brand new complexion, magnetically beautiful, as you see.

"Wrinkles never bother me. At their inception I bathe my face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. It works like magic."—Mona Morrow in Town Tattler.

RITCHIE EARNS DECISION

Boxed Andy Cortez at New London

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 15.—Joe Ritchie (Young Jasper) of Boston and Andy Cortez of New York boxed ten rounds in the main bout of the Greenwood A. C. last night. Neither man was badly punished. The former was entitled to the decision. A preliminary between Joe Corbett of Norwich and Kid Collins went eight rounds with honors even.

Ritchie, or Jasper, will appear in the main bout at tomorrow night's meeting of the Acme A. C. in Lowell, and he reports that he is in perfect condition. Ritchie will meet Terry Brooks of New York, also a very clever boy, and the number should prove interesting. The semi-final of eight rounds will be furnished by Barney Snyder of Boston and Finnie Boyle of Lowell, two likely performers. Both report that they are in good shape for the encounter and each is confident of winning. The preliminaries will be provided by lively local boys.

At the Lowell Textile School Elects Officers for Ensuing School Year

At the annual meeting of the Lowell Textile School Athletic association, yesterday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing school year: President, Raymond Brickett; vice president, Carl Coleman; secretary, George O. Richardson; treasurer, Arthur A. Stewart.

Manager George S. Kyle of the football team resigned his position, as he will not return to school in the fall. William F. Casey was elected football manager. Fred Abbott was elected baseball manager, and Kenneth Simpson, assistant manager.

On recommendation of the athletic council, Arthur N. Gadsby and Carrol S. Peck were awarded football sweaters and "Ts" for their proficient work with the squad.

About 100 students boarded special cars for the Martin Luther recreation grounds yesterday morning, where the annual "Upstream" day was enjoyed.

Schedules of the final examinations have been circulated among the students. Exams start Thursday, May 22, and continue until June 3.

BOSTON NEARLY SHUTOUT

In the Game With Detroit Yesterday

Larry Gardner's triple to right center followed by a passed ball was the only thing that saved Boston from a shutout yesterday. Willett allowed the Red Sox only two hits and Detroit won 4 to 1. Cobb got three hits, all of them coming at opportune times. The score:

Detroit	0	0	0	0	1	1	0	2	*	—4

Two base hit: Veach. Three base hits: Gardner, Crawford. Hits: Off Bedient 7 in 7 innings. Off Foster 3 in 1 inning. Sacrifice hits: Moriarty, Rondeau. Stolen bases: Crawford, Henriksen. Left on bases: Boston 4; Detroit 6. First base on balls: off Willett 1; off Bedient 1. Hit by pitcher: By Bedient (Moriarty). Struck out: by Willett 5; by Bedient 2. Passed ball: Cady. Wild pitch: Willett. Time: 1.42. Umpires: Dineen and Hart.

59,500,000 PACKAGES

Sent Through the Mails During April

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Reports received at the postoffice department indicate that 59,500,000 parcel post packages were sent through the mails during April, approximately 54 per cent. more than were handled in January, the first month of the system's operation. Chicago, with 6,397 parcels, led all other cities in the amount of parcel post business done in April, while New York city with 6,252,378 parcels was second; Boston third; Philadelphia fourth; Cleveland fifth, and St. Louis sixth.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Merrimack Square

With the last six performances of "Sapho" in order at the Merrimack Square theatre and seats for all of the performances at a mile a minute clip this famous play bids fair to be the most popular of all the other offerings so far presented.

For the coming week the management has secured the great race track play, "Wildfire." Miss Young will be seen in the famous character of "Mrs. Barrington," the owner of "Wildfire," while the other different characters will all be capably handled. The staging will be complete and will be given with full attention to details. Seats now. Prices 10 and 20c. No higher.

B. F. Keith's Theatre

John E. and George Gorman, who are enacting the parts of two bunco promoters at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, in the two-act musical comedy called "It Happened in New York" are very well known comedians and stage managers who have played in practically all of the theatres in the east. Charles N. Saunders, who has the role of the millionaire who is present in order to be fleeced, is an old actor who has had very wide experience. Miss Letty Grover, in one of the leading roles, has had much musical comedy training. The chorus of ten girls is an exceedingly active crew, appearing in a half dozen different songs and dances. Peppino, the accordeonist, is one of the masters of his chosen instrument. Los Valadons are slack wire performers of more than ordinary moment, Miss Retti Murri sings and then takes a trip in her aeroplane over the heads of her audience. Ben Harney & Co. are also on the bill.

LOWELL HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Presented Valuable Gift Last Night at the May Meeting—Large Attendance

The Lowell Historical society held its May meeting last night in Memorial building with a large attendance. A feature of the evening was the presentation to the society of the register of the Lowell Island house in Salem harbor, covering the years of 1852 to 1855, and containing the signatures of many well known people of that period, when Lowell island was the favorite shore resort of the people of this city. It is a very valuable addition to the collections of the society, and an appropriate supplement to the history of Lowell island, by Alfred Gilman, published in the fourth volume of the society's "Contributions."

The presentation was made by William B. Goodwin, and was followed by the reading of a paper on "Our Industrial Growth."

Mr. Henry A. Smith, Miss Jennie L. Allen and Miss Stella J. Allen were admitted to resident membership.

Brig.-Gen. Smith Retired

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Brig.-Gen. Smith, in command of the brigade doing patrol duty on the Texas border, was retired today on account of age.

THE BON MARCHE

CLOSE OF THE SESSION

Sermon at Free Baptist Church Last Night

The evening session of the Free Baptist churches of Massachusetts was held last night in the Paige Street Free Baptist church with a large attendance. Many ministers from the Baptist churches throughout the city were present. At the service there was singing by Miss Leona Small and John Moir of the church choir, and Miss Ethel Knowlton; prayers by Rev. H. H. Bishop of the Tewksbury Baptist church and Rev. W. J. Twort of Haverhill, and the address was given by Rev. A. W. Anthony, D. D., on "Our Mission Work in India."

Dr. Anthony spoke on the need of mission work in India and told of the work that is being done there at the present time. He stated that the missionary work should not be confined to the home country. He showed how the youth of New England had more opportunities than the one of India, where the son follows the trade of the father and is obliged to continue it. He said that the native of India who becomes a Christian is immediately disowned and he is obliged to find some other way to earn his livelihood. Thus the industrial establishments of the missionaries are a great blessing.

He spoke of medical missionaries, who strive to teach the natives a new attitude toward life. The natives' religion teaches the mto encourage suffering to a certain extent. Dr. Anthony gave a thorough story of the work among the missionaries, as it is being done at present and as it is hoped to be done in the future.

Owls, Associate hall, tonight.

Missionary Societies

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society of the First Congregational church, which was held Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. John Osgood gave an interesting report of the meeting of the Andover and Woburn branch, held at Wakefield, and Mrs. William Monroe followed with a report of a meeting at Pilgrim hall, which she attended.

Miss Boutelle, the secretary of the Y. W. C. A., held the attention of the audience closely as she spoke of the work it is doing in this city and in other countries.

During the social hour, Mrs. Rexford was asisted by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Stafford in serving refreshments.

HEAD & SHAW

THE MILLINER, 35 JOHN STREET,

WHALERS WHALED BY THE GRAYS

Lowell Won From New Bedford by Score of Seven to Three

The New Bedford ball tossers, stick swingers and base runners were the guests of the Lowell Baseball club at Spaulding park yesterday and the two teams crossed bats in a good game which was enjoyed by a fairly large gathering of fans. There were many of the fair sex present, and owing to the fact that it was ladies' day, they were allowed free admittance to the stands as well as to the grounds.

Another change was made in the lineup of the Lowell team in which Halstein and Smoyer were set farther down the list. At the third sack for the visitors was Starr who opened the season with the Lowell team. He was given a round of applause by his Lowell friends as he took his position. Umpire O'Brien, who caused some feeling yesterday in the little mix-up, was the official again today and he called the game at three o'clock.

First Inning

Smoyer let Griffith's grounder get away from him and the runner was safe at first. Connaughton advanced him to second with a sacrifice on which he was put out by Smoyer to Halstein. Sweatt was passed and Kennedy grounded out to Halstein, the Lowell first sacker making a neat stop of a hard hit ball. Briggs was hit by Smith, who was a little wild and Weeden fanned.

Clemens hit safely between third base and short stop and DeGroff advanced him by going out Spires to Briggs. Miller hit to center field and stole second and when Weeden threw to Connaughton, Clemens stole home for the first run. Magee hit to right field and when Griffith dropped the ball which had taken the first bound, Miller scored. Halstein hit an easy one to the pitcher and was fielded out to first while Monahan hit to Spires and was thrown out to Briggs.

Score—New Bedford 0, Lowell 2.

Second Inning

Starr walked and stole second and Spires fanned. Gibbs flied out to Monahan and Griffith slammed out a two-base hit scoring Starr. Connaughton flied out to Clemens.

Dee was put away by Gibbs to Briggs. Smoyer was safe on first on Connaughton's error, the New Bedford manager fumbling the grounder, and when he threw wildly to first, Smoyer sped to second, the ball falling into the Lowell quarters. Smith hit through first base and Smoyer scored. Gibbs passed both Clemens and DeGroff and Miller got a two-bagger, scoring Smith and Clemens. DeGroff came home for another tally on a sacrifice fly by Magee. Halstein was credited with a hit when the strong wind carried a fly away from Connaughton, Miller scoring on the play. Monahan closed the inning when he hit a high one to be gathered in by Griffith.

Score—New Bedford 1, Lowell 7.

Third Inning

Sweatt was allowed to stroll and he advanced to second on a sacrifice by Kennedy, the latter being put away, Smith to Halstein. Briggs hit to left field and scored Sweatt. Briggs went to second when Weeden was thrown out, Miller to Halstein. Starr hit to right field scoring Briggs. Spires flied out to Clemens.

Dee fanned, Smoyer out Spires to Briggs, Smith struck out.

Score—New Bedford 3, Lowell 7.

Fourth Inning

Only three men faced Smith in the fourth inning. Griffith was out when he hit an easy one to the pitcher's box. Connaughton got a hit to left center but was nipped at second by Monahan's great throw. Sweatt flied out to Clemens. No runs.

Clemens put up a high one to Sweatt. De Groff knocked the ball a few feet in front of the plate and Weeden made a nice throw to first for the putout.

"SHORTY" DEE
Whose all around work was a feature

Miller walked and stole second on the first ball pitched to Magee. Magee got a hit to left field which he netted three bases on, scoring Miller. Jimmy was out by two yards when he tried to sneak home with another run. One run.

Fifth Inning

New Bedford scored a run in her half of the fifth. Kennedy singled to center and Briggs knocked in the run when he hit his long double to left center. Weeden went out, Smoyer to Halstein. Starr hit one to Smith who turned and caught Briggs going to third. Spires made the third out when Smith handled his easy grounder. One run.

Halstein went out to Gibbs to Briggs Monahan hit a fast one to Spires which the latter juggled but the ball beat the Lowell catcher to first. Dee slammed the first ball Gibbs served up to him to center for two bases. Smoyer closed the inning by striking out. No runs.

Sixth Inning

Gibbs started the sixth by grounding out Smoyer to Halstein. Griffith was out when he lifted his high fly to Clemens. Connaughton walked but was out Smoyer to Miller, when Sweatt hit a fast one to the Lowell short stop. No runs.

Smith went out when Gibbs fielded his grounder to first. Clemens got a hit through short stop. DeGroff went out on a grounder to Starr. Miller hit a slow grounder to Spires but the ball beat him to the bag. No runs.

Seventh Inning

Kennedy started the lucky seventh by grounding out to Smoyer. Briggs walked and reached second when Smith threw low to Halstein and the ball rolled a dozen feet behind the bag. Weeden flied out to DeGroff. Starr got a hit through shortstop but Magee fielded the ball so fast that Kennedy was held at third. Spires went out when he grounded to Dee. No runs.

Magee, the first man up for Lowell, poked the ball into left field for three bases. Halstein followed with a clout through the pitchers' box, which scored Magee. Monahan hit into what should have been an easy double play. Spires fielded the ball to Connaughton, who forced out Halstein, but the New Bedford manager threw wild to first, and Monahan went to third on the error. Dee walloped the ball to left for a triple and Monahan scored. Dee was out when he tried to steal home. Two runs.

Eighth Inning

Gibbs received a free ticket to first in the eighth, but went out, Miller to Smoyer, when Griffith hit to the former. Connaughton flied out to Miller and Dee threw out Sweatt at first. No runs.

Clemens opened Lowell's half with a hit to center. He stole second but DeGroff flied out to Sweatt and Miller lifted a high one which Spires got under for the third putout.

Ninth Inning

New Bedford went out in order in her last turn at bat. Miller fielded Kennedy's hot one to Halstein, Clemens took care of Briggs' fly and Magee made the final putout when Weeden put up a high one to left. The score:

AMATEUR BASEBALL

An outfit that calls itself the All Stars announces that it is desirous of competing against any 17-year-old team in the city. The manager is Mr. Higgins, 159 Cross street, and today he stated that in particular he would like to arrange a game with a bunch of hot air compressors who have the nerve to call themselves the Hinky Dinks. The name is a good one for them, he said, and the fellow who called them that must have had some brain.

Hard Guys

Here is a bunch of real "hard guys" who want to trim any 13-14-year-old outfit. They call themselves the Young Champions, and their diet consists of baseball dope for breakfast, dinner and supper. This hard lot of youngsters savagely announced that they are after the scalps of the Red Sox, the Orcoles and the Athletics. Send all challenges through this paper. The manager warns all other teams against playing unless they can put up a pretty good game, for it irritates the Young Champions to walk away with game after game without half trying.

The Emeralds avow that they can whip any 13-year-old team in Lowell, and invite aspirants to accept their challenge through this paper.

Any 12-year-old team can get a game with the Young Cresus by writing to the manager, 17 Franklin court, and showing their age certificates.

The Lincolns would like to meet any team under 12 years of age at Lincoln park, Saturday, May 24, and prefer the Mohawks. Herbert Harris, 62 Lincoln street. The Mohawks say the Lincolns are at least 18 years of age each. They want a team younger than themselves.

The Woburn A. C. would like to play the Lions on the Bunker Hill grounds for a 25-cent ball Saturday afternoon. Send all challenges to Frank Kilbride, 15 L street, city.

What do you know about this one, boys? The Blue Sluggers have the gall to challenge any team in the city, and everyone knows that if a team accepted the challenge they would get scared and disband. Wherever they got the name of Sluggers, we do not know, but we think the "Blue Streaks" would be a better name. They have not lost a game thus far this season—they have not played any yet because they can run so fast no team can get close enough to trim them. They ought to organize a track team and not a baseball team.

Well, well, listen to this! The Albion Blues accept the challenge of the Cubs for Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and say that they will eat them alive. The Cubs better wear horseshoes, for the Albion Blues have a mascot named H. Stermont. They are also accompanied by an individual whom they call Pickaxe Murphy, who does the shouting. Pickaxe has four lungs and can make more noise than a steam piano.

The Savages would like a game with any 9 or 10-year-old team. The Savages are true to their name and awfully bloodthirsty. Send challenges to Frank Albert, 447 Broadway.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

O'Brien was on the job again, and we can't say that his work yesterday was exactly scintillated. He missed a great many strikes that cut the plate. Smith being the man who suffered most from his decisions. He seems to be lost when he tries to follow a curve ball.

Maybohm will probably be used on hot days only in the future. His arm is unreliable in the extreme in anything but the hottest kind of baseball weather. It was reported that he had been released, but Manager Gray has no such intentions at present.

Zeiser has a boil on the right side of his neck which is bothering him to such an extent that he will be unable to work for some time. The muscles of his shoulder have become inflamed and his whip is effected as well. Manager Gray has not allowed him to even warm up for the last three days in order to try and get rid of the boil in the shortest space at time.

Manager Gray has been offered a substantial sum of money for Daly from the manager of the Jacksonville, Fla., club, but will not let this player go on any consideration. He has three catchers now on his staff, and one of them must go before the 20th of the month, according to the league ruling. It is safe to say, however, that Daly will remain in the Lowell camp.

Dee was caught at the plate in the seventh when he tried to steal home with Smoyer at the bat. The latter had one strike and there was only one out in the inning, but he let the ball go that Gibbs served up to him as Dee made his dash for home. The decision was a close one, and if Smoyer had swung at the ball it is probable that the run would have counted.

Dee was right there with the war-club yesterday. Two hits out of three times at bat for a total of five bases is the best that Lowell's third sacker has produced this season.

Manager Connaughton of the New Bedford team has the reputation of being the greatest "sponger" on the circuit. Before yesterday's game "Conn" came over to the Lowell bunch and requested a new ball from Manager Gray to warm up his pitcher with. "Remember your weakness," remarked Jimmy, as he threw him an unused ball.

LOWELL HIGH TEAM WON

Defeated Groton by the Score of 6 to 2

Lowell high defeated Lawrence Academy yesterday at Groton by the score of 6 to 2. The local boys showed marked superiority in every department of the game and deserved the contest.

Wilson was in the points for Lowell and, although he allowed the home team seven hits, they were all scattered and he had the game well in hand throughout. Lowell only connected for four safe hits, but the errors of her opponents helped put runs over the plate.

Carter, the Lowell guardian of the first sack, played a great game in the field and got two of Lowell's four hits. Cawley accepted 12 chances without an error. Bailey also made two difficult catches in centre field. The score by innings:

Lawrence ..... 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0—2

Two base hit: Carter. Sacrifice hits: Gill, Jones. Double plays: Greene, Wilcox and Jones. Stolen bases: Gill 3, Breen 2, Cawley 2, Carter 2, Forgays. Bases on balls: By Wilson 1; by Farrar 6. Struck out: By Wilson 3; by Farrar 9. Wild pitch: Farrar. Hit by pitched ball: Gill. First base on errors: Lowell 6 Lawrence Academy 0. Left on bases: Lowell 6, Lawrence Academy 4. Umpire: Donahue. Time: 1.40. Attendance: 300.

LEFTY TYLER WON AGAIN

Former Lowell Twirler Pitches Victory

Lefty Tyler, the former Lowell twirler, let the St. Louis Cardinals down with four hits yesterday and Boston won her game, 7 to 0. Tyler's two doubles figured in the scoring as well. St. Louis used two pitchers in an attempt to stay the batting of the Braves but eight hits were gleaned off Harmon and Willis. Maranville played a spectacular fielding game, twice smothering hits which looked like safeties. The score by innings:

Boston ..... 0 0 0 0 3 3 1 0 *—7

Two base hits: Sweeney, Tyler 2, Whaling. Hits: Off Harmon 7 in 6 innings; off Willis 1 in 2 innings. Stolen bases: Devlin 2, Myers 2. Double plays: Maranville and Myers; Devlin, Sweeney and Myers. Left on bases: Boston 8, St. Louis 5. First base on balls: Off Tyler 4, off Harmon 5, off Willis 1. First on errors: Boston 2. Struck out: By Tyler 3, by Willis 1. Wild pitch: Tyler. Time: 1.55. Umpires: O'Day and Emslie.

ANTI-MORMON MEETING HELD

Doctrines of Mormonism Were Attacked by Speakers at the Worthen Street Church

"Give us ten years and we will snap our fingers at the United States government and the devil."

"If plural marriage be unlawful, then is the whole plan of salvation, through the house of Israel, a failure, and the entire fabric of Christianity without foundation."

These are samples of the quotations used at the anti-Mormon meeting at the Worthen Street M. E. church, last night. These meetings are being arranged for by the Massachusetts Patriotic Service league, a league organized for the purpose of driving out the Mormon elders and preventing the spread of Mormon literature. The pastor of the Worthen Street church, Rev. Dr. Davis, presided at the meeting last evening.

Dr. Davis spoke strongly against the Mormons and their doctrine and he said it was time for the people of Lowell to "get busy" and drive the evil from this city. In closing his remarks, Dr. Davis said: "I am in the fight and will remain to the finish, for the sake of God, home and our native land."

The Principal Speaker

The principal speaker of the evening was Rev. Paul Smith, pastor of the Dorchester Memorial church of Roxbury. Mr. Smith lived in Utah at one time and he spoke of Mormonism from the political, social and financial standpoint as well as from the religious standpoint. He likened it to a great cancer eating at the hearts of the American people. He repeated a story told by Rev. Dr. Neese of Boston and having to do with the modus operandi of the Mormons. Dr. Neese was called to the bedside of a dying woman. She told him that the father of her little daughter, who was then present, was a Mormon and she wanted Dr. Neese to take the child rather than to have her fall into the hands of the Mormons. Dr. Neese took the child and a few days after the woman's death he was visited by two gentlemen, well dressed, of good address and quite important in their general appearance. They were Mormon elders and they wanted the little girl. They said that the little girl's father and mother had both accepted the Mormon faith in Maine and because of that fact they wanted the little girl. Dr. Neese refused to turn the little girl over to them and a lawsuit ensued. The court found in favor of Dr. Neese and the girl was eventually put under the care of the society for the protection of children.

Mr. Smith told of a Dorchester man who has been deserted by his wife and daughter. They were converted to the Mormon faith and have gone to Utah. Mr. Smith said he failed to find words to express his disgust for Mormonism and he admonished the people of Lowell to take effective measures to prevent the Mormon elders from polluting the city.

Told Interesting Story

It remained for Miss Ridgley of this city to tell the most interesting story, for hers was a genuine, personal experience with Mormon elders in a place near Boston. Miss Ridgley is an evangelist and has done some very effective evangelistic work. She was engaged in evangelistic work when the incident upon which her story was based occurred. She received a letter one day inviting her to call at a certain house for the purpose of discussing her work. She went to the house and was met by an elderly and very gracious lady who proceeded to make very much of her. Miss Ridgley had but recently lost her mother and the strange lady sympathized very deeply with her. She had been in the room but a short time when a young man entered and he was introduced as Elder ———. Then entered two more young men and they were introduced as elder this and elder that. Miss Ridgley was getting extremely nervous when an old gentleman entered and the lady introduced him as her husband, Elder ———.

Miss Ridgley demanded to know why she had been sent for and the old man, after a short pause, said: "We have heard a great deal about you and your work. We are Mormons and we think that you could do a great work with us. You would not have to give up your own work entirely. We have had a revelation and it has been revealed to us that you are to become the wife of Elder ———" and the old man pointed to the young man who had been first to enter the room.

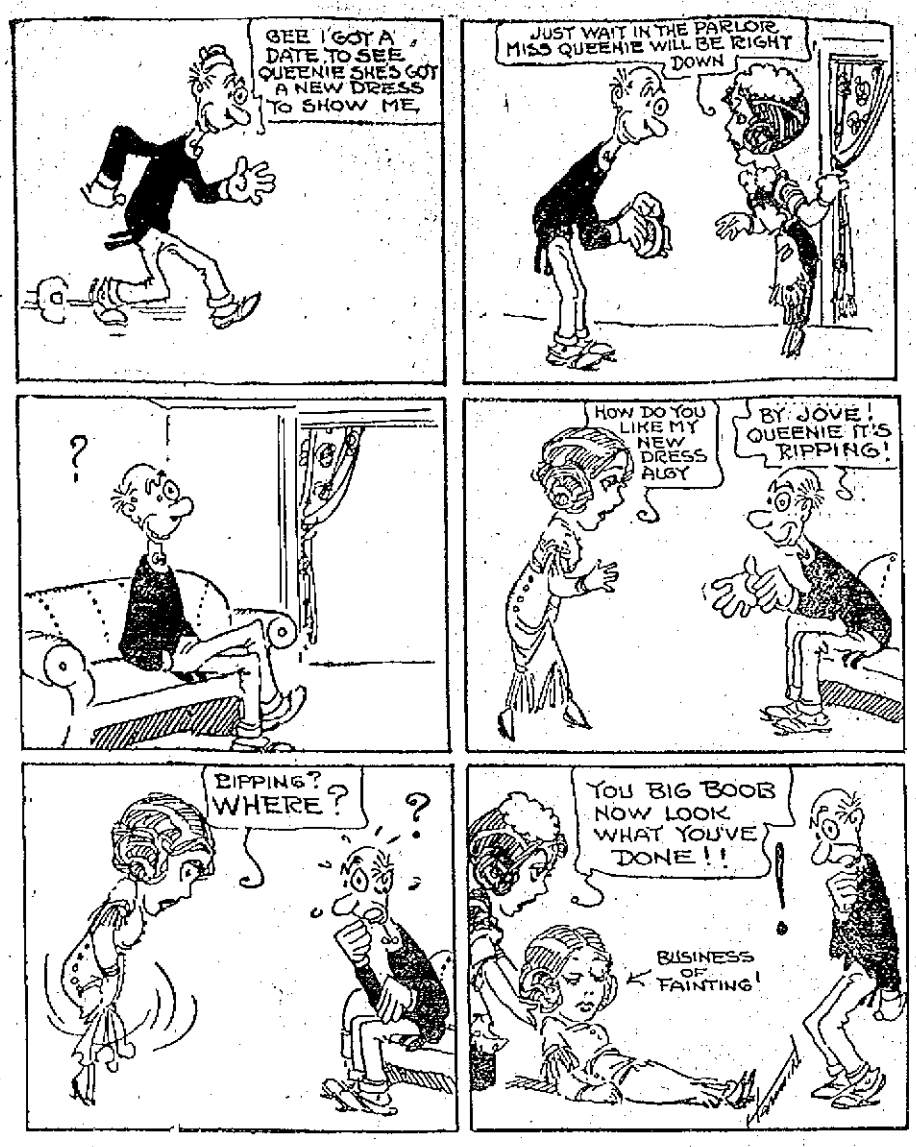

Miss Ridgley allowed that she had something to say about that and she started to leave the room. She had gone but a few steps when the elders and the woman surrounded her and entreated her to remain. In order to get away she had to promise to return. But she never returned.

Ex-Mormon Woman

Mrs. Louise Brittain, an ex-Mormon woman, was the next speaker. She characterized Mormonism as a great big, bitter poisonous, black pill with a very thin sugar coating. She said that Mormonism without polygamy ceases to be Mormonism. She said that the present day system of "celestial law" is far more degrading than the old time open polygamy. Mrs. Brittain quoted from Brigham Young and other Mormons, and she called a spade a spade. She said that polygamy is a travesty upon womanhood. It is an institution of barbarism and belongs to that time and place in which the laws of society are little better than than those of the wilderness. Its presence in the civilized world today must be accounted for other than by natural law and evolution.

Big Meeting Tonight

Another mass meeting under the auspices of the league will be held at the Fifth Street Baptist church at 7.45 o'clock this evening. The pastor, Rev Mr. MacDonald will preside and the speakers will include Mrs. Clark, president of the Methodist Woman's Home mission of New England; Miss Ridgley and Mrs. Brittain. Mrs. Brittain will be the principal speaker.

HE DIDN'T MEAN THAT WAY.

SUIT AGAINST STEEL CORP.

Pres. Farrell Continues His Testimony

NEW YORK, May 15.—James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation began today his fourth consecutive day of testimony as a witness for the defense in the government's dissolution suit against the corporation as an illegal combination. He continued his description of competitors of the corporation to support his contention that these concerns have grown stronger since the organization of the corporation.

The corporation, according to an exhibit submitted by the witness, owns only 27.3 per cent of the steel and iron bar capacity of the country as against 72.7 per cent owned by independent concerns.

PARK SUPERINTENDENT

Says Parks and Commons Should be Policed

The following report relative to the necessity of policing the parks and commons was submitted by the superintendent of parks meeting of the park commission:

Lowell, Mass., May 13th, 1913.

Park Commission,
Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:

Fully conscious that you must guard yourselves most cautiously in the expenditure of the money allotted to you, I can't but help calling to your attention a matter which will have to be met sooner or later.

For the last six weeks I have made it a point to observe conditions on the commons and parks during different hours of the day and evening. Not being known to the users of these beautiful breathing spaces an opportunity was afforded me to see the conditions as they actually existed.

I am not only gratified, but proud to report to you that the acts and actions of ninety per cent. of those who have frequented the parks and commons during the last six weeks have not only reflected great credit upon themselves, but upon the city of Lowell as well. The behavior of the other ten per cent should be met with at once, as their acts and actions are a serious drawback to all that is good and wholesome. I know that you will agree with me that it should be perfectly safe for ladies to pass through the parks and commons without fear of being molested at any seasonable time, or being compelled to witness unsightly scenes. Suffice for me to mention one or two instances which have occurred there recently. I was a witness, the other day, to the behavior of four men and one woman who evidently had been imbibing in some kind of liquid refreshment. They were lounging about the South common back of the Edson school, and their actions were most shocking, to say nothing of their talk. The little tots were just coming out from the school at noon time and try as I might I was unable to prevent them from taking in the situation.

It was only a few Sundays ago that a crowd of about ten or more vandals, ranging from 18 to 30 years of age, were amusing themselves by breaking a couple of whiskey bottles in the new bubble fountain installed by Commissioner Barrett.

At Fort Hill park the work of the vandals is self-evident, when our men are not at work there. We have, to my mind, too many valuable trees, shrubs and flowers to leave unprotected by a caretaker. I would respectfully recommend that one officer be assigned in the North common, one officer to Fort Hill park, and one officer to the South common, during the summer season.

In taking the matter up with Deputy Welch, he states that his department will furnish an officer for the North common and South common for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, at no expense to the park department, from June 1st to the latter part of September. Also that the pay of an officer is $3 per day.

Here with I wish to submit an estimate of the expense covering same:

1 officer, Fort Hill, June 2 to Sept. 28, 113 days, at $3	$357.00
1 officer, South common, June 2 to Sept 25 (Sat., Sun. and holidays excluded), 83 days at $3	249.00
1 officer, North common, June 2 to Sept. 28 (Sat., Sun. and holidays excluded), 83 days, at $3	249.00
	$855.00

Note—$855 is the maximum amount, as no allowance is made for rainy days.

Very truly yours,
John W. Kernan,
Engr. and Supt. of Parks.

The young men of St. Anne's church held a meeting at their rooms last evening, with a large number of members present. Mr. James P. Ramsay, probation officer at the superior court gave a very interesting talk on police work. Bishop Parker of New Hampshire also spoke briefly to the members. The next meeting of the club will be held on May 27th at which arrangements will be made for the last meeting of the year that is to be held on June 10.

THE FLETCHER WILL

Scheduled Hearing Was Postponed

The hearing on the allowance of the will of the late John William Fletcher, who committed suicide in his elegantly furnished apartments in Boston several weeks ago, has met with another postponement. The hearing was to have been held in Cambridge, before Judge Lawton, this morning, but entrance by Daniel T. Mason, an uncle and one of the heirs-at-law, was made yesterday afternoon and because of that fact it was necessary to postpone the hearing. Mr. Mason lives in Norridgewock, Me., and will oppose the allowance of the will.

In several stories appearing in Boston papers concerning the will of the unfortunate palmist it has been stated that his wife would contest the will. John William Fletcher's wife died in New York city, Feb. 9, 1911, and was buried Feb. 14, in Bellevue cemetery, Lawrence. Boston papers please copy.

FELL FROM SKY SCRAPER

Men Struck Roof of Building—One Killed

NEW YORK, May 14.—James King and Daniel Sullivan, riggers at work up on the skeleton of a new downtown sky scraper, fell 20 feet today to the roof of a five-story building adjoining. King was killed instantly. Sullivan may live.

DEATHS

REIDY.—Mrs. Grace Reidy, aged 73 years and 3 months, widow of the late Martin Reidy, died yesterday at her home, 69 Swift street. Deceased was a native of North Billerica. She was for 23 years a member of the Holy Rosary sodality of St. Peter's church. She is survived by two sons, Martin H. and Michael J.; one daughter, Miss Katherine E. Reidy; one brother, Hugh McGlone of this city, and a sister, Mrs. John Reidy of Cambridge.

NEW COMFORT STATION

Complaint Is Made That One of the Entrances Is Too Near Bridge Street

There is always somebody to find fault and the very latest complaint has to do with the location of the men's entrance to the sanitary station in Paige street. The complainant, name unknown, allows that the entrance to the station is too near Bridge street. This complaint, however, is not being taken seriously. The city engineer thinks that in two weeks' time the paving over the sanitary station will be commenced. The Lowell Electric Light corporation has been granted a permit to replace its conduits in Paige street, in order that the work of putting the street in proper shape may be expedited. The Lowell Gas Light Co., has already relaid its mains there, and the railway company is preparing to relay its track on the original locations.

Excavation From Panama Canal

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Excavation of earth from the Panama canal during the month of April, advices from the canal zone received today, declare, amounted to 2,653,995 cubic yards, as against 2,625,038 cubic yards during March. The average daily output in April was 102,077 cubic yards against 105,037 cubic yards in March. Concrete laid during April totalled 55,785 cubic yards against 38,769 in March.

Increased rainfall accounts for the decrease in some branches of the work in April.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

14 KILLED BY TORNADO

OMAHA, Neb., May 15.—Reports received early today show that the tornado which formed in the southern part of Seward county last night took a toll of 14 lives, injured 40 persons, and destroyed property valued at $250,-000. At least three towns—Seward, Tomaro and McCool Junction—suffered from the elements, the greatest destruction being at Seward where eight persons were killed and 14 injured. At Tomaro four lives were lost and much property destroyed. At McCool Junction two deaths occurred.

At Seward the property loss is estimated at $100,000. The tornado apparently originated southwest of McCool Junction and gathering force as it moved to the northeast struck with full force both at Tomaro and Seward. The storm crossed this city near the southern limits but its strength had been so far spent that the damage done here was nominal.

GOT FIVE?

If you want to invest $5.00 in a shaving outfit get an Autostrop. Remember that you have 30 days' free trial. If in that time you find an Autostrop unsatisfactory bring it back and get your $5.00. The main advantage of this razor is that you can strop the blade automatically and correctly without removing from the holder that is used for shaving. Less trouble to clean; practically no blade expense, and your money back if you say so. Other razors from 25c to $9.00. Everything for the shaver at "The Safety Razor Shop," Howard, the druggist, 157 Central street.

FIRE HOUSE ALTERATIONS

Changes, additions and alterations are being made in the Lawrence street engine house, the High street house and the Gorham street and Branch street engine houses. The expense of the work at each of the houses is estimated at $3500 and it is estimated that the two new boilers to be installed in the Branch street and High street houses will cost $1000, making a total of $15,000 to be expended on the four houses.

The improvements in the Lawrence street house will include six sleeping rooms, a sitting-room, tub and shower bath on the ladder side of the house and the same on the other side of the house.

At the High street house there will be nine sleeping rooms, sitting-room, baths, tub and shower, and a store room. The old ward room in this house will be made smaller.

Ten sleeping rooms, sitting-room and bath will be added at the Gorham street house and at the Branch street house, eleven sleeping rooms, sitting-room and baths.

THE GLEE CLUB GIVES CONCERT

The chorus and glee club of the Bartlett training school gave a concert in the assembly hall this afternoon, and later, on the campus, there was a demonstration of folk dancing and games by pupils at the Bartlett training school and students at the Normal school. Both affairs were very interesting and were well attended.

Fine Lecture Recital

In the assembly hall at the State Normal school, yesterday afternoon, Clarence A. Brodeur, principal of the state normal school, Westfield, read poems from Tennyson and explained them. Tennyson poems were sung by John Daniels, tenor, of Boston; Albert Edmund Brown, baritone, director of the department of music of the Normal school, and the Glee club of the school. The program was as follows:

"The Lady of Shalott".....Hendall
Glee Club.

Readings:
"Charge of the Light Brigade,"
"Welcome to Alexandra,"
"Break, Break, Break,"
Mr. Brodeur.

"Break, Break, Break,".....Homer
Mr. Brown.

Glee Club.

FELL FROM A STAGING

Arthur Conlon and Chas. Smith Improving

It was found today that Arthur Conlon, who yesterday fell three stories together with Charles Smith when the staging upon which the two were working broke, did not suffer a fractured skull and this afternoon the authorities at the hospital reported that he was able to be up and walk around and will be out shortly. Smith sprained his ankle in the fall and was able to leave the hospital last night. It was believed that Conlon, who struck his head on the sidewalk in falling, had fractured his skull and that the injury might prove fatal. The latest reports from the hospital discredit all this and both men are practically recovered from their injuries.

SIX SUFFRAGETTES HELD

Bail Ranges From $4000 to $15,000

LONDON, May 15.—Six militant suffragetic leaders and a male adherent of the "cause" were committed today by Henry Curtis Bennett, the magistrate at Bow street police court to trial at the Old Bailey sessions on charges of conspiracy under the malicious damage to property act. All of them pleaded "not guilty" and reserved their defence. Bail was allowed on the prisoners promising to refrain from all participation in militancy pending their trial.

The amount of the bail ranged from $4,000 in the cases of Miss Alice Lake, Miss Laura Lennox and Mrs. Beatrice Saunders, to $15,000 in the case of the analytical chemist, Clayton.

WILSON MEETS BRYAN

Confer on Formal Protest of Japan

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Wilson has arranged to confer with Secretary Bryan early today before the cabinet meeting to draft a reply to the formal protest by Japan against the California anti-alien land bill which Gov. Johnson has announced he will sign. The note will be submitted to the cabinet and then delivered to the Japanese ambassador. Indications are that the attitude of the federal government toward the legislation itself as well as questions of discrimination raised by Japan will be fully defined.

The members of the Iroquois Canoe club will hold their annual camp opening and ladies' night at their spacious camp on Lake Massapoag Friday evening, May 23. The camp will be open to ladies and friends of the members and a good time is assured as the hospitality of this club is widely known. A musical program will be furnished and there will be speakers on hand to add to the enjoyment of the evening. The Iroquois Canoe club has about twenty-five members and they have one of the largest and most attractive camps at Willow Dale. A large boat house is connected with the club and it is well equipped with canoes and boats so that the lovers of this sport always enjoy a visit to the Iroquois club.

DEMOCRACY AND ARISTOCRACY

William J. Bryan, speaking on Tuesday last before the members of the Pennsylvania legislature, on the occasion of the Jefferson anniversary dinner of a democratic club, drew some sharp contrasts between democracy and aristocracy as they are represented in the political life of today. In the course of his remarks he predicted measures of great national importance which twenty years ago would have been considered extreme, but which now are regarded as the logical outcome of the progressive trend of modern politics. Among these was the abolition of conventions for the presidential elections.

Speaking of the distinction drawn between the democratic party and the opposing party in the olden time, Mr. Bryan said: "Jefferson a century ago spoke of two parties. One was the democratic party and the other the aristocratic party. The democratic party is the party that tries to bring the government near the people, and the aristocratic party is that which desires to restrain and obstruct popular government."

This distinction, however, is not openly avowed by political aspirants before election, as the most conservative individual who seeks public office hides his tendencies under the guise of an assumed democracy, and keeps his sails trimmed to catch the breeze of popular favor. Of such, the secretary of state said: "I do not know of any man who ever ran for office on aristocratic ideas, but I have known of some democrats who ran for election on democratic ideas and afterwards adopted the aristocratic views, despite the fact that the democratic view is the popular view."

As to adherence to party platforms, Mr. Bryan exposed the shallow foundation on which party platform repudiation is generally based. A seeker after political office under a definite party enrollment is expected to uphold the principles of that party. But sometimes he finds it expedient for political considerations to modify his views considerably after election, and strive to play to those whom he formerly opposed, attributing his change of sentiment to the urgings of conscience. This not uncommon hypocrisy was exposed by Mr. Bryan in a few brilliant sentences: "No man should violate his conscience, but that does not mean that he should violate his party platform. It means that his conscience should begin to work before he is elected and not afterward. A man who violates his party platform and betrays his party and the people, is a criminal worse than the man who embezzles money."

As an instance of progressive legislation and a change in popular sentiment, the secretary of state then spoke of the delight with which in a few days he will put his signature to the senatorial amendment which is to put the election of the United States senators into the hands of the people. When he advocated such a proceeding 23 years ago, his views were regarded as almost revolutionary, but like many other announcements of his which were at first attributed to a desire for startling effect and eloquence of speech, the country has at last justified his judgment.

In the closing passage of his address, Mr. Bryan predicted that what has come about in the election of senators will soon become true of the election of presidents. His words are simple and direct and ring true with the fine idealism which has come to be identified with the public addresses of President Wilson: "The day of the boss is gone. The people will write their own platforms hereafter and send their own representatives to the legislative halls. And I venture to say that we have seen the last of the great national conventions. I predict that before another presidential election rolls around the presidential primary will become so general that the presidential candidates will be elected not by the bosses or party leaders but by the people."

TO THE FIELDS

The city streets and the gray pavements will soon grow unbearably warm to suffering humanity, and the summer sun will beat down relentlessly. People will swelter under the warm glare and choose the shady side of thoroughfares when going on errands of business or pleasure; weary girls in the stores will pass out their commodities to listless shoppers; clerks will pore over ledgers, with pained expressions, vainly striving to keep baseball visions from intruding between their puzzled brains and the interminable columns where an elusive dime escapes detection. Blasts of warm air will come from factory windows; people will crowd the open trolley cars; children will sit in shady doorways and await the coming of the street sprinklers. Everything will betoken summer in the city.

But it is not far to the city limits in any direction and beyond, nature has spread out her richly variated scroll for our enjoyment and inspection. Cool shady roads wind through pine groves and fields of corn; fruit trees are bursting into blossom and standing like stately brides in veils of glory. Every faint breeze brings fragrance from copse and clearing; streams run trickling by the roadsides singing minor harmonies sweeter than the songs of the world's greatest composers; unseen birds pour lays of ecstatic delight from shaded groves; butterflies, splendid as jewels, flit from flower to flower. Over it all the sunshine that scorches the stifling city falls in a golden shower, sending shafts of light into odorous recesses and drawing up the heart of the earth in fragrance.

Who would linger in the city when the call of the open country is so alluring? When our workday tasks are done let us leave the cares of mart and office behind us; let us bend our steps towards the open fields and the fair, refreshing face of nature. Calm and silence await us. There we shall find a balm of Gilead—a peace that is potent in soothing the wounds which we all suffer in the world's strife. Whether we speed in a luxurious automobile or loiter on foot, we shall be well repaid for the effort which takes us to the country on which is still in summertime the glamor which it had when it first spun through space fresh from the hand of the Creator.

PURE MILK

The suggestion of Mr. Trull at the annual meeting of the Lowell General hospital that the grounds of the institution be utilized for the erection of a barn and the keeping of a sufficiently large number of cows to supply the hospital with milk, calls attention to the general demand for pure milk all over the state. Other cities are now learning from experience how very necessary it is to general health and we, too, have had our lessons in the past. Milk regulations should be rigidly enforced—not when there is an epidemic, but always. Prevention is better than cure in this case as in others, and far cheaper.

BROWN CRITICIZING HIMSELF

As street commissioner, George. H. Brown in 1912 when buying street oils designated the kind he wanted when making out his requisition. This year when Street Commissioner Donnelly after careful investigation decided what kind of road oils were most beneficial for the streets of Lowell and recommended them, Mr. Brown raised a great howl just as if some fraud were to be perpetrated upon the city by the mere specification of any particular kind of oil. The requisitions of last year showed that Mr. Brown was criticizing his own policy and further one of its least objectionable features.

CONGRESSMAN ROGER'S SPEECH

Though Congressman Roger's brilliant speech against tariff revision in the national house of representatives was masterful and eloquent, one cannot help but feel that it reflects the spirit of discarded policies. Its wealth of statistics and technical information showed study and thought, but it savored of the advocacy of high protection which has brought the republican party into popular disfavor. It was worthy of the palmy days of the stand patters.

Seen and Heard

The friend had dropped in to see D'Auber, the great animal painter, put the finishing touches on his latest painting. He was mystified, however, when D'Auber took some raw meat and rubbed it vigorously over the painted rabbit in the foreground.

"Why on earth did you do that?" he asked.

"Why you see," explained D'Auber, "Miss Millions is coming to see this picture today. When she sees her pet poodle smell that rabbit and get excited over it she'll buy it on the spot."

A teacher in one of the primary grades of the public school had noticed a striking platonic friendship that existed between Tommy and little Mary, two of her pupils.

Tommy was a bright enough youngster, but he wasn't disposed to prosecute his studies with much energy, and his teacher said that unless he stirred himself before the end of the year he wouldn't be promoted.

"You must study harder," she told him, "or you won't pass. How would you like to stay back in this class another year and have little Mary go ahead of you?"

"Ah," said Tommy, "I guess there'll be other little Marys."

Some people have a propensity for the blues that they conquer in time. One dear lady, the most charming, cultivated, and talented woman of my world, once said to me:

"When I was a little girl I used to get terribly angry and sad and annoyed at what I romantically termed 'the indifference of the cold, cold world.' And often I would go up to my room to relieve my tortured feelings. This is what I always did: I had a large mahogany bed—one of the family heirlooms—for my very own, and when I wanted most to scream, and to cry, and to say unkind things, I would stand in front of that bed and bite it hard! And when my teeth began to ache, my blues began to disappear. My bed will always have little dents in it, but, my dear, each dent stands for a victory!" says the Christian Herald.

In a large city at nightfall, when the lamps are lighted, have you ever observed the streams of girls flowing into the streets from the offices and great department stores? And have you asked yourself where and how do these girls live?

The majority of girls who work live at home and, in many cases, have to a certain extent the protection of their family. But an ever-increasing number of girls are entering the towns and cities, quite alone and friendless, to earn their way. These girls either keep house, live in families, in boarding and lodging houses or in the organized boarding house.

The girl who lives at home usually gives all her earnings to her parents—over 81 per cent working in shops, and 88 per cent in factories in New York city, and a similar number in Chicago and St. Louis. The parents rely upon their daughters for an exact amount of income, so that these girls are in no sense "pin money workers."

In New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, Minneapolis and St. Paul, it has been estimated that about 65,000 girls, exclusive of stenographers, office girls, nurses and teachers, are without homes, and entirely dependent upon themselves for support. Several girls may join together and rent a two or three-room flat. After their daily work of eight to twelve hours in factory, shop or office, is over, they have the housework to do—cleaning, cooking, washing and sewing.

Fortunate is the girl who can find a home with some respectable tenement house family. Girls living in this way usually associate with the family, using all rooms in common.

The most dangerous way in which a girl can live is in a lodging, or as they are called "a furnished-room house." Investigations of forty-three boarding and lodging houses in one city showed that five were known to be houses where fast women lived. Not only were good and bad houses on the same block, but good and bad people were living in the same house. Seeing how easy it is for them to get plenty to eat, pretty clothes to wear, and to have "good times," what temptations are placed in the way of such girls living in houses with immoral women!

Can you not see the relationship between unsanitary, overcrowded homes, the loneliness and often vicious environment of many lodging houses, and human waste and immorality? says Edith M. Hadley in The Survey.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Conspiracies

Worcester Post: Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi is authority for the statement that not only will the government bureau of commerce investigate cases of mill closings or wage-cuts for the purpose of "tariff scare," but the department of justice will also prosecute them. The law applied to labor unions he thinks to be also adapted to dealing with "conspiracies" of this kind. But, as the Post has said, there is going to be little need of it, because our manufactures are generally operating with conservative good sense in the matter. And whatever the objection to federal action of this kind, it can at least hurt nobody that has not acted wrongly.

Currency Reform

Newport News: President Wilson and the democratic leaders in Washington are trying to frame a currency reform bill which will give the merchants and farmers of the country, as well as the bankers, a share in the control. The president hopes, in dealing with the subject, which is recognized as a very difficult one, that a system which the American Bankers association will endorse can be devised, as he wishes to enlist the co-operation of all branches of the country's business in the writing of the law, and to that end is consulting professional bankers, merchants and agriculturalists. His efforts in this direction should meet hearty co-operation everywhere.

The Canton Epidemic

Lynn Item: When an epidemic breaks out in a town it would seem to be the duty of the local board of health to give it immediate attention, and for the protection of a wider circle the state board should promptly respond. The fatality in Canton has been large, much larger than it should have been. The suspected cause of the trouble has not yet been removed: the dairy from which the milk was distributed was still at work at last accounts. The merits of the controversy between the two boards are still debatable, and it would almost seem as though the members were more intent on fighting each other than on attacking the disease. It is a deplorable condition, and great distress and sorrow have resulted. It is high time that official differences were laid aside and efforts concentrated on restoring the health of a stricken people.

Canning Industry

Portland Express: The canning industry which was comparatively unknown to our grandmothers, save a few home products that were placed in glass jars, most fruits being dried or preserved, has increased wonderfully in late years until the majority of housekeepers buy more vegetables, fruits, etc., canned than in their original state. Some idea of the canning industry may be formed from the fact the industrial side of the American Can company's operations represent an elaborate organization which last year called for the production of two billions of common cans used in the putting up of fish, vegetables, soup, fruit, etc., and this does not include thousands of other kinds of products made by the company.

Much Needed Changes

Newburyport Herald: The movement of the progressive wing of the republican party for the reform of the party machinery which has been marked this week by a conference in Chicago which recommends the calling of a convention, is interesting and although it is too early to forecast the exact result there is little doubt that radical and much needed changes will be made.

The Speed Maniac

Boston Traveler: The speed maniac must be suppressed for the common good. His mania must be prevented from becoming contagious, even though heroic measures be necessary. The problem is one of tremendous importance to those who ride and those who walk—to those who operate their own motor cars and others who ride and seek enjoyment as guests of owners.

Of every hundred who operate self-propelled vehicles, ninety-nine are sane and sober, conscientious and careful. The one-hundredth carries manslaughter and suicide into the highways of the city and country and leaves behind a trail of suffering and sorrow.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Local Organizations Are Very Busy

S. H. Hines lodge, Knights of Pythias worked the rank of esquire at the recent meeting and there were present Knights of Pythias from other lodges to witness the exemplification. The rank was worked on eight pages, six for Wamesit lodge and one for Lowell lodge.

On Memorial day, the three lodges will meet in Pythian hall and will hold special services and the following committee was appointed to take charge of the arrangements:

GOV. JOHNSON TO SIGN LAND BILL

FOUR LEADING FIGURES IN CALIFORNIA AFFAIR.

Wires Sec. Bryan He Can't Agree to Pres. Wilson's Request to Veto Anti-Japanese Measure

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 15.—Expressing his determination to sign the alien land bill, recently passed by the legislature, Gov. Hiram W. Johnson of California yesterday telegraphed to Secretary of State Bryan a long explanation of the action taken by the legislature.

The message was in answer to the request telegraphed to the governor by Secretary Bryan at the direction of President Wilson that the bill be vetoed.

The governor's message follows:

"The Hon. William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.

"Your very courteous telegram relating to the alien land bill reached me late Sunday night. I take it from our conversations and your request made to me to withhold executive action until opportunity was accorded for the presentations from the federal government, that your message embodies what it was your wish, and the wish of the president, to say to us before final action.

"In this response it is my design most respectfully to present the situation from our standpoint and the views that actuated our legislature in passing the bill and that impel me to sanction it.

Recognized 30 Years Ago

"For many years a very grave problem, little understood in the east, has confronted California: a problem the seriousness of which has been recognized by statesmen in our nation, and has been viewed with apprehension by the people of this state. When the present constitution of California was adopted, more than 30 years ago, it contained the following declaration:

"'The presence of foreigners ineligible to become citizens of the United States is declared to be dangerous to the well being of the state, and the legislature shall discourage their immigration by all means within its power.'

"Of late years our problem from another angle has become acute, and the agitation has been continuous in the last decade in reference to our agricultural lands, until finally affirmative action in an attempted solution became imperative. This attempted solution is found in the act of our legislature in the passage of the alien land bill.

Imperatively Demanded

"In the phraseology of this bill, in those whom it affects, in its scope and in its purpose, we believe we are within our legal and our moral rights, and that we are doing only what is imperatively demanded for the protection and preservation of our state. In this enactment we have kept ever in mind our national good faith, as evidenced by existing treaties, and our desire and anxiety have been to act only in such fashion as would commend us to our sister states and would justify us to our fellow countrymen.

"The objections to our bills are based first upon the treaty obligations of the nation, and secondly, upon the assertion that our act is offensive and discriminating. The protest to our measure, as your telegram states, comes from the representative of Japan."

Made Treaties Part of Law

"The bill that is now before me provides substantially in its first section that all aliens eligible to citizenship under the laws of the United States may acquire real property in the same manner as citizens of the United States, and the second section provides that all aliens other than those mentioned in the first section may acquire real property in the manner and to the extent and for the purpose prescribed by any treaty now existing between the government of the United States and the nation or country of which such aliens are citizens or subjects, and may in addition lease for a period of three years, lands for agricultural purposes.

"Thus we have made existing treaties a part of our law, and thus we have preserved every right that any foreign nation by international contract has insisted upon preserving with our national government.

"The treaty of 1911 with Japan, in reference to the citizens and subjects of each country, provides that they shall have 'liberty to own or lease, or occupy house, manufactories, warehouses and shops; to employ agents of their choice; to lease land for residential and commercial purposes, and generally to do anything incident to or necessary for trade upon the same terms as native citizens or subjects, submitting themselves to the laws and regulations there established.'

"We assume that the right of Japanese to own real property for the purposes described is absolute in our state, and we seek to deal only with our agricultural lands.

"We embody the treaty in our law and we add to it permission to lease our agricultural lands for the period of three years.

Goes Further Than Treaty

"Where such extraordinary care has been exercised to preserve honor and good faith, in the very words of the contract made by the protesting nation with our own and to do more by authorizing leases of agricultural lands, it would seem that we ought not to be open to any accusation of violation of treaty rights or of desire to entrench upon that which belongs alone to the national government or which might become a matter of international policy.

"By the law adopted we offer no offence; we make no discrimination. The offence and discrimination are contained, it is claimed, in the use of the words 'eligible to citizenship' and in making a distinction between those who are eligible to citizenship and those who are not. We do not mention the Japanese or any particular race. The constitution of California, in 1879, made its distinction and there never has been protest or objection.

Naturalization Laws

"The naturalization laws of the United States, long since, without demur from any nation, determined who were and who were not eligible to citizenship. If invidious discrimination ever were made in this regard the United States made it when the United States declared who were and who were not eligible to citizenship and when we but follow and depend upon the statutes of the United States and their determination as to eligibility to citizenship, we cannot be accused of indulging in invidious discrimination.

"May I venture to call your attention to the immigration law now pending in congress, which passed both houses of the last congress, where apparently certain classes, who shall be excluded from our country, are described as 'persons who cannot become eligible under existing laws to become citizens of the United States.' At this very moment the national legislature without protest or objection—indeed it is published in California by express consent—is using the terms that are claimed in California's law to be offensive and discriminatory.

In Three Other States

"At least three states in the Union have in the past enacted laws similar to the contemplated law of California and the enactments of those other states have been without objection or protest. That the protest is now made in respect to California, and demonstrates that California is differently viewed than other states of the Union and that if discrimination exists it is discrimination against California.

"We insist that justly no offence can be taken by any nation to this law, and more particularly does this seem to be clear in the instance of a nation like Japan, that by its own law prevents acquisition of land by aliens. It is most respectfully submitted that, after all, the question is not whether any offence has been taken, but whether justly it should be taken. I voice, I think, the sentiment of the majority of the legislature of this state, when I say that if it had been believed that offence could justly be taken by any nation to the proposed law, that law would not have been enacted.

"We of California believe firmly that in our legislative dealings with this alien land question we have violated absolutely no treaty rights. We have shown no discrimination; we have given to no nation the right to be justified in taking offence. So, believing with a strong reliance on the justice and the righteousness of our cause, and with due deference and courtesy and with proper consideration for the feelings and the views of others, we had hoped the authorities at Washington would have seen the question as we in this state have been forced to see it—as we must see it or be blind.

"And so, with all respect and courtesy, the state of California feels it its bounden duty to citizens to do that which the interests of its people demand; that which the conscience of its people approves; that which violates no treaty rights; that which presents no discrimination, and that which can give no just cause for offence.

"You have suggested to me delay, but this question was very earnestly and fully presented by you to our legislature, and the legislature determined to proceed. My province is to approve or disapprove the law as presented. Our people as represented in the legislature have overwhelmingly expressed their desire for the present alien land bill. The vote in the senate was 35 to 2 and in the assembly 72 to 3. With such unanimity of opinion, even did I hold other views, I would feel it my plain duty to sign the bill unless some absolutely controlling necessity demanded contrary action. Apparently no such controlling necessity exists.

"It is with the highest respect for yourself and the president that I feel my duty to my state compels me to approve the action of the legislature.

(Signed) "Hiram Johnson,
"Governor of California."

Corp. Dorer Tells of His Travels

HAS VISITED EVERY STATE IN THE UNION

Now Member of Local Recruiting Station Served in Swiss Army Before Coming to America

Corporal Arthur E. Dorer, a man of wide military experience both in this country and elsewhere, has come from the main recruiting station of Boston to assist Sergeant Robert J. Carney of the Lowell auxiliary station. Corporal Dorer was interviewed by a representative of The Sun this morning and told an interesting story of his life in the army.

Corporal Dorer is a native of England and early in life went to Switzerland where he had near relatives. While there he became a citizen of the country and according to the law of that land, was obliged to serve one year in the Swiss army. This was his first experience in military life and he was highly pleased with it, though the life in the Swiss army was quite hard. In that country, the chief duties of the army are to guard and protect the frontier against invasions and prevent other nations from making it a field for their activities and maneuvers in times of war. The reason of this can be seen from the location of the country. The work was rough and the men were forced to range the mountains, enduring all sorts of weather and privation, even though there was no actual warfare.

In Switzerland, in which country are many Italians, French and Germans, Corporal Dorer was educated, having received his early mental training in England. It was about eight years ago that he came to America and his naturalization as a citizen of the United States necessitated his renouncing allegiance to both England and Switzerland. The army life again attracted him and he enlisted for three years, serving first in the coast artillery and in an isolated fort in North Carolina. The first term of service was uneventful and at the end of the three years he again enlisted, this time for the training station service, a more interesting branch of the army life and one which affords excellent opportunity for travel and broad experience. He was assigned to work at Fort Slocum on Long Island, one of the several training stations in the country where the recruits are sent to be educated in the duties and requirements of the army. Fort Slocum is the station where all the recruits from the east are concentrated. These, as circumstances arise, are dispatched to various posts and forts throughout the country and usually from 50 to 300 are sent at one time.

Special arrangements are made with the railroads for their transportation and when the number of soldiers is sufficiently large, special trains with dining cars and other conveniences are provided. The men in the training service are assigned to accompany these recruits to their destination, acting as a sort of guard or guide, and that is the work in which Corporal Dorer was engaged for three years. When one of the officers conveys a number of recruits to a certain place, he is allowed to return traveling first class, as a tourist and the government allows a stated amount daily for incidental expenses. He has the best of accommodations and conveniences on the trip and is permitted to stop over for a few days in the larger cities on his return trip for the purpose of sight-seeing, general enjoyment, etc. This is a pleasant feature of the service. During his period in this department, Corporal Dorer at a rough estimate covered about 25,000 miles by rail, and visited practically every state in the union. His third enlistment was for the recruiting service and in this he has been very energetic and successful. In this city he is active in the publicity work.

The corporal is high in his praise of army life and said this morning that it would have to be an extraordinarily inviting and profitable opportunity as a civilian that would induce him to renounce his military career. He says that the army has everything to offer a man and that moreover the man is sure of having the promises fulfilled. Most of the training stations have all the facilities for amusement that are found in the large cities, including free pool rooms, bowling alleys, baseball, theatres, dancing, etc.

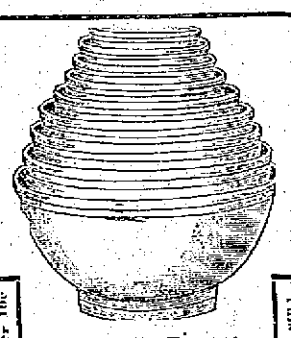

Application is only a start in the work of a recruit and those who apply at Lowell are sent to Fort Slocum where they have to undergo an examination by specialists. Upon their application at the station here, they are superficially examined for defects of vision, etc. The corporal stated that in his experience, about 25 per cent of those who apply are accepted, showing the strict quality of the requirements. Corporal Dorer is pleased with Lowell and considers the district a good field for his work.

GUILTY OF INCITING RIOT

I.W.W. Leader Convicted at Paterson, N. J.

PATERSON, N. J., May 15.—Patrick Quinlan, Industrial Worker of the World leader, indicted with William D. Haywood, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Treska and Adolph Lessig in connection with recent silk mill strike riots, was convicted at his second trial yesterday. The jury in the first trial failed to reach a verdict. The jury yesterday was out only two hours. It found Quinlan guilty of inciting the riot.

Quinlan was not present when the verdict was announced. His counsel promised, however, to have his client in court on whatever date is fixed for sentence. As the convicted leader is still under $7500 bond, Judge Klenert said that he would not issue a bench warrant for his arrest.

TO COMPLETE THE HIGHWAY

In Dracut and Methuen the Sum of $30,000

Is Favored by Committee on Ways and Means

The committee on ways and means in the senate yesterday reported "ought to pass" on the appropriation of $30,000 for the completion of the state highway in Dracut and Methuen, which will carry through the road between Lowell and Lawrence.

To Remove Elevated

Before taking up the railroad bill the house by a vote of 136 to 83 refused to reject the bill giving the harbor and land commissioners $5,000,000 for river and harbor improvements. The bill therefore takes its place in the calendar for today.

By voice vote the house substituted for an adverse report the bill providing for the removal of the Elevated structure between the North station and Sullivan square and the substitution of a subway.

The resolve providing for the appointment of a commission to devise a system of state, county and municipal pensions was passed to be engrossed.

All of the amendments to the bill to permit electric light and power companies to issue bonds to twice the amount of their capital stock were rejected, after which the bill was passed to be engrossed, 50 to 7.

The initiative and referendum amendment of the constitution was assigned for debate today.

Roads and bridges reported a bill providing for the construction of a new bridge over the Neponset river, between the town of Milton and the city of Boston, the cost to be apportioned as follows: Norfolk county, 40 percent; Suffolk county, 40 percent; town of Milton, 10 percent; city of Quincy, 10 percent.

Social welfare reported a bill providing that women and children employed in more than one place shall not be permitted to work an aggregate of more than 54 hours in one week.

The order requesting the railroad commissioners to report as to the feasibility of providing more adequate fire protection for Mystic wharf was adopted.

The committee on agriculture reported a bill appropriating $50,000 for additional improvements at the Massachusetts Agricultural college.

Metropolitan affairs reported a bill providing that no building hereafter erected in Boston shall be used for kiln drying unless of fireproof construction.

The same committee reported reference to the next general court on the report of the metropolitan district fire commission. Senator Williams and Representatives Bothfield, Beck, Peirce and Dolben dissent.

Film Bill Beaten

The senate spent the last part of the day on the bill to extend the time of exhibiting films for serial pictures from 20 minutes to one hour, and to limit the exposure of kinemacolor films to 20 minutes, which was defeated two weeks ago. By a vote of 14 to 7 reconsideration prevailed.

Senator Blanchard of Somerville moved the reconsideration of the vote whereby the senate on April 24 amended this bill to substitute 45 minutes for one hour. A spirited debate ensued; with the result that the bill was again rejected by voice vote.

Senator Montague pressed his amendments to the Boston firemen's pension bill by striking out the words "or any member of fire force" and by making the retirement age "55 years instead of 50." Senator Hobbs opposed the amendments, believing the bill should stand as it is. The first Montague amendment was rejected by a voice vote, and the second was rejected by a rollcall, 14 to 16. Then on motion of Senator Montague the matter went over to the next session.

The amendment of Senator Clark, that the provision in the pharmacy bill that no unregistered copartner or unregistered stockholder in a corporation doing a retail drug business shall hereafter be actively employed in the drug business, shall not apply to those engaged in said business at the time of the passage of the act, was adopted, and then the bill was passed to be engrossed.

P. A. C. Boathouse, tonight.

Meeting of Westford Grange

A meeting of the Westford grange will be held this evening. The meeting will be observed as Patriots' night, and Mrs. Josie Prescott will have charge of the arrangements. As this is the only meeting that is to be held before Memorial day a program will probably be arranged for the observance of that day.

Proper Care of Hair and Complexion

(The Home Doctor)

Scalp-cleanliness means everything in growing and preserving beautiful hair, because only from a clean scalp will healthy hair grow. By shampooing with a teaspoonful of canthrox (which costs little) dissolved in cup hot water, immaculate cleanliness results; dandruff and scalp-discomfort are removed instantly, your head feels good, the hair dries quickly and takes on a most soft fluffiness and lustre without any tendency to become streaky, brittle or harsh.

No woman will have cause to complain of shininess or sallow, oily skin if, instead of face powder, she uses spurmax-lotion which, when on, seems part of skin. This wonderful skin-whitener and complexion-beautifier is easily made at home at small cost by dissolving 4 ounces spurmax in ½ pint witch hazel (or hot water) then adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. It does not show when on, nor does it rub off as easily as powder, and it keeps the skin smooth and fresh, and protects it from chapping.

SMART FIRE IN BOX SHOP

Cady Plant in Danger Last Night

A dangerous fire broke out in the shavings shed and boiler room of Cady's box shop in Western avenue shortly after 8 o'clock last evening and gave the fireman a lively battle before being finally subdued. The construction and material of the building were such as to afford the flames rapid headway and cause a disastrous conflagration in the neighborhood.

The prompt and efficient work of the fire department was the means of preventing great damage and the fire was confined to the portion of the building where it originally started. Some of the employes were at work in the plant last evening and thus it was that the blaze was discovered in time. An alarm was rung in from box 121. On one side of the building, the flames and smoke burst forth, lighting up the vicinity and causing many to think that the buildings were doomed. The firemen, however, set to work with a vengeance and did not pause until the blaze had been completely extinguished, the work requiring more than a half hour.

Another Alarm

Later in the evening, shortly after half past nine, another alarm was rung in from the same box and hearing it, a great crowd immediately ran to the scene, thinking that it was an indication that the flames had spread and more men and apparatus were needed. The second call was sent in by someone who had seen sparks in the shavings where the first fire had been.

Mr. Cady has not made any accurate estimate of the damage as yet, but the loss was covered by insurance. He hopes to have everything in running order today sometime as the machinery and engine were not damaged by the flames.

23 YEARS IN PRISON

Food Thief Pardoned by Gov. Hodges

TOPEKA, Kan., May 15.—Upon information that he had spent 23 of his 30 years of life in prison for no other crime than the theft of a meal and a watch worth $3, Arthur Patten was paroled from the state penitentiary yesterday by Gov. Hodges.

The governor announced it as his belief that "society had committed a crime against Patten." He sent the paroled man to a farm "to become a citizen."

According to information furnished the governor, Patten was the victim of environment, and except for two weeks has been in custody since he was seven years old, when he was sent to the state reformatory as an incorrigible youth, after stealing a cheap watch.

After four years in the reformatory he was paroled. He could find no work. One night, hungry, he entered a farmhouse in Osage county while the family was away and ate remains of a supper he found in the pantry. For this his parole was revoked and he was returned to the reformatory. When his term was up he was taken back to Osage county, tried and sentenced to prison for burglary in the second degree for eating the farmer's supper.

FUNERAL OF REV. FR. GLEASON

Held at Randolph and Was Largely Attended

Rt. Rev. Mgr. O'Brien and Other Lowell Priests Present

THE LATE REV. D. J. GLEASON.

The funeral of Rev. Daniel J. Gleason, for sixteen years pastor of St. Mary's church, Randolph, Mass., and formerly of this city, took place yesterday forenoon at Randolph and was the largest seen in that town for many years.

The body was conveyed from the rectory on Tuesday at 4, escorted by the altar boys and clergy, to the church, where it lay in state until yesterday morning. It was guarded by details from the several Catholic societies, and was viewed by throngs of people in all walks of life from this and surrounding towns.

At 10 yesterday morning a solemn high mass was celebrated with Rev. Andrew Fitzgerald of South Braintree, as celebrant; Rev. Thomas F. Brannan of St. Edward's church, Montello, as deacon; Rev. William E. Keating of St. Patrick's church, Brockton, as subdeacon; Rev. William Tierney of Revere, thurifer; Rev. John J. O'Donnell of Abington and Rev. John P. Ryan of Rockland, acolytes; Rev. John J. McMahon of Randolph, master of ceremonies. Bishop Anderson of Boston was seated in the sanctuary, and was attended by Mgr. O'Brien of Lowell, a close relative of the deceased, and Rev. W. H. Fitzgerald of St. Gregory's church, Milton.

After the solemn high mass had been said, the burial service was read, after which a eulogy was delivered by Rev. Richard Boylan of East Boston.

In the front of the church were seated many prominent priests from all sections of the state, and representatives of the Catholic societies in town.

The Gregorian requiem was sung by the priests' sanctuary choir, under the direction of Rev. M. J. Scanlon of the cathedral, Boston.

The floral tributes were the largest and handsomest ever seen in this town, and consisted of set pieces, sprays and bouquets from the several societies connected with the church, and friends in this and surrounding towns.

The ushers were: John A. Hoye, chief; Robert A. O'Brien, Michael H. Brady, Charles S. Dolan, John T. Moore, John P. Rooney, Edward M. Bracken, James H. Murphy, Joseph B. McMahon and James J. Shea.

At the close of the services the body was conveyed from the church to the hearse by the pall bearers, Judge J. T. Enright, Dr. M. J. Meagher and Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, Eugene L. McAuliffe, Dr. George V. Higgins, Jas. A. Brennan, Timothy Lyons and Chas. D. Hill. The honorary bearers were from the Young Men's Catholic Lyceum association, Div. 3, A. O. H.; St. Mary's court, M. C. O. F., and Vera Cruz council, K. of C.; and were: Jere J. Linnehan, J. Joseph Hurley, Farrell H. Cain, Timothy M. O'Leary, Thomas F. Mahoney, Daniel P. McCarthy, Joseph P. Kelliher and Frank J. McEnelly.

Shortly after 11 the procession started for St. Mary's cemetery on North street, under the marshalship of Jos. T. Leahy, with James Fardy as aid, headed by the Young Men's Catholic Lyceum association as escort, followed by Div. 3, A. O. H.; St. Mary's court, M. C. O. F.; Vera Cruz council, K. of C.; and the altar boys of the church.

During the service at the church and the passing of the procession, the public schools were closed and business was suspended in the factories and stores.

The following is a list of the clergymen who attended the mass: Rev T. W. Smith, O. M. I., Lowell; Rev. Joseph Lawless, Arlington; Rev. L. F. Tighe, Lowell; Rev. James H. O'Neil, East Boston; Rev. J. F. Hamilton, Whitman; Rev. William McDonough, Boston; Rev. J. J. O'Hearn, Charlestown; Rev. J. T. Mullen, Hudson; Rev. J. W. Hickey, Beachmont; Rev. M. F. Burns, Boston College; Rev. James T. McNiff, Atlantic; Rev. D. S. Sheerin, East Boston; Rev. F. W. Coughlin, Pepperell; Rev. A. J. Gunning, Mission church, Roxbury; Rev. P. J. Hally, Malden; Rev. W. J. Pennessey, Arlington; Rev. D. C. Reardon, Newton; Rev. John P. Cuff, Atlantic; Rev. E. A. Carney, Roxbury; Rev. J. P. Flynn, O. M. I., Lowell; Rev. W. A. Conner, Dorchester; Rev. James F. Stanton, Stoughton; Rev. P. J. Billings, Abington; Rev. Henry Walsh, South Natick; Rev. Charles Ring, Roxbury; Rev. John J. Gallagher, Andover; Rev. P. R. Murphy, South Boston; Rev. Charles F. Glennon, Avon; Rev. John McKenna, Foxboro; Rev. M. J. Lee, Medway; Rev. John A. Butler, Cambridge; Rev. James F. Doherty, Cambridge; Rev. James F. Fitzsimon, Stoughton; Rev. B. F. Kelliher, Brockton; Rev. F. S. Kearney, Brockton; Rev. Patrick Colgman, Swampscott; Rev. Joseph F. Mohan, Everett; Rev. John A. Sheridan, Holbrook; Rev. E. J. Dolan, H. R., Lynn; Rev. M. J. Doody, Cambridge; Rev. P. H. Callanan, Canabridge; Rev. John J. Coyne, Quincy; Rev. P. W. Maler, East Bridgewater; Rev. James A. O'Rourke, Foxboro; Rev. P. D. Meagher, Roslindale; Rev. D. J. Heffernan, Lowell; Rev. A. J. Hamilton, Campello; Rev. P. H. Walsh, Brockton; Rt. Rev. Mgr. John O'Brien, East Cambridge; Rev. James Higgins, East Cambridge; Rev. Neil J. Cronin, Roxbury; Rev. M. Banfield and Rev. M. O'Brien of Chicago, both relatives of Fr. Gleason, Rev. Wm. J. Culbert of Portland, Me., and Rev. Wm. J. O'Brien, of Brockton.

TRAGEDY OF THE TROPICS

United States Minister to Columbia Writes

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A tragedy of the tropics depicting the helplessness of the United States government to succor its citizens who meet with misfortune in foreign countries was revealed in correspondence made public today by James T. Dubers, United States minister to Colombia, who has just returned to this country.

The correspondence told graphically of the death of Vice Consul Frank L. McKernan at Bogota from tropical fever. McKernan left a widow, a young daughter and his aged mother destitute. A message to the state department brought word that while the department would pay the expenses of shipping the body home there was no fund to cover the traveling expenses of the family. The plight of the family was relieved by an American steamship company providing them with free passage to New York.

Committee Meets Tonight

It has been announced that tonight there will be a meeting of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the annual lawn party of St. Margaret's church which is to take place on June 18 at the Kasino grounds in Thorndike street. Thus far, the officers chosen are the following: General manager, Frank W. Foye; secretary and treasurer, George P Green; chairman of sports committee, William Whitson; chairman of refreshment committee, John Barrett and chairman of ladies' committee, Mrs. Daniel Donovan. Special features are being prepared to be presented on this occasion.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Mille

"Many good faces are spoiled and look characterless because the eyebrows and lashes are not well defined. Thin and straggly eyebrows will be improved in color and grow longer and more evenly if gently massaged with pyroxlin. Pyroxlin has the same good effect if massaged into the eyelash roots.

"Women detest superfluous hair on the face and forearms because it gives them a masculine appearance and detracts from true feminine charm. To remove superfluous hair cover the surface with a paste made by mixing a little powdered delstone with water; leave on two minutes, wipe off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

"Aches and pains cause the face to contract and form wrinkles. Mother's Salve, which can be bought in prepared form in any neighborhood, gives almost instant relief from pains and aches in back, or joints, sore muscles, rheumatism and neuralgia.

"The springtime is the season of youth, when every girl desires to look her very best. For a complexion of lilies and roses, apply each morning a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. It corrects blotched, pimply and sallow complexions and leaves the skin smooth, white, soft and lovely.

"A shampoo that merely washes the head is not sufficient. The parasites that cause falling, dull, faded and brittle hair must be removed. Mother's Shampoo does this and leaves the scalp in a condition to encourage the growth of hair. It prevents baldness and makes the hair glossy, fluffy and fine."

LOWELL CHORAL SOCIETY

torio had been gone over until there was a note of confidence in last evening's performance which only a thorough acquaintance with the score can give. The chorus was particularly fine. In volume of tone, delicate shading of expression, enunciation, and quality it showed that it is capable of performing the most difficult passages, for to give such a performance of Haydn is to show an understanding of the best in music.

The Principals

The Choral society made a very happy selection in the choice of the three principals, Mrs. Marie Sundelius, Mr. Paul Althouse, and Mr. Frederic Martin. They all sang with wonderful expression and in the passages that called for singing in trio their voices blended beautifully. The wonderfully descriptive oratorio depends for its effect largely on the orchestra, and the Boston festival orchestra proved equal to the occasion, giving an excellent interpretation of some of the longer descriptive passages. Mr. Wilfred Kershaw of this city presided capably at the piano.

Mrs. Marie Sundelius

Mrs. Sundelius has a soprano voice of rare beauty flexible and flutelike, and she was equally at home in the recitatives and in the florid passages. In the high range her voice had the clearness of a bell at times, and the delicate shading of expression and perfect enunciation made it a delight to hear her. Particularly pleasing was her rendering of the air "With verdure clad," in which the lofty description of the growing things of the earth and the forests with their flowers and fruit, gave her an opportunity to display her voice to great advantage. In the still more beautiful "On mighty pens" she reached great heights and her bird like tones blended with the accompaniment of the soft wind instruments made an interpretation that will long be remembered by those present. In the passages describing the cooing of the dove and the thrilling notes of the nightingale who sang before "to a mournful tale were tuned her soft, enchanting lays," she was exquisite.

Mr. Althouse

Mr. Paul Althouse is no stranger to a Lowell audience having been here before in past performances of the society but in the "Creation" he had a vehicle to test his powers. He sang with great ease and with a pleasing absence of affectation, showing great familiarity with the score. He gave the impression of reserved power and rarely swelled out in the limits of his voice, which is round and full. In the recitative passages his enunciation was splendid and he never sacrificed the meaning of the passage to dramatic effect. There is a fresh quality in his voice, due to his youth, which makes it particularly appropriate to the theme of Uriel, and "In splendor bright" his delicate shading of expression was very pleasing. He sang "In native worth" with vigor and animation and showed that he is capable of strength as well as of sweetness in the more sustained passages.

Mr. Martin

The work of Mr. Martin throughout the entire oratorio was of a high order. To him fell much of the narrative and the great variety of treatment which is peculiar to Haydn. In the opening passages he sang with appropriate solemnity and throughout he sustained the biblical atmosphere which is the distinguishing characteristic of the "Creation." His voice is resonant and powerful and capable of great expression. For a voice of such volume and magnitude he manages it well and sings the lighter touches and staccato passages with grace and delicacy. In the grandly descriptive passage, "Now furious storms tempestuous rage," he was powerful, and in "Let the earth bring forth," he described the teeming life of the primeval earth from the roar of the mighty lion to the swarms of insects "unnumber'd as the sands" in a way that would satisfy the most exacting.

An Unbidden Guest

During the singing of this passage, as if in protest at not being mentioned, a tiny mouse caused quite a commotion by walking up one of the aisles, crossing over at the stage and returning via the other aisle. Although there was an air of suppressed excitement, it is to the honor of the Lowell ladies for all time that no one fainted and there was not a single case of hysterics. The titter of laughter which followed its appearance reached the stage, and at the end of the zoological passage, the three principals as well as the chorus laughed heartily. Possibly the mouse was charmed by the music as were the other rodents as told in the lay of the "Pied Piper of Hamlin."

The Chorus

Throughout the entire oratorio the work of the chorus was excellent. Where they sang of praise and glory of God for his marvelous works there was a gradual reaching to a climax which swelled out in triumphant melody. "Despairing, cursing rage" was given with a vigorous power suitable to the theme of the fallen angels and in "the Heavens are telling the glory of God," there was a reverent calm that brought out the idea of wonder. In the final passage "Sing the Lord ye voices all," they worked up to a grand crescendo that echoed in full volume in the majestic triumph of the final "Amen" of praise.

No description of last evening's performance would be complete without reference to the fine work of the conductor, Eusebius G. Hood, who had perfect control over his large chorus, and who was followed closely throughout the performance. It was gratifying to him to see his efforts so well appreciated, and the music loving people of this city may feel assured that the future of the Choral society is in good hands.

Next Summer's Vacation Where Shall We Go?

For children and for all who need a splendid rest among ideal surroundings, Colorado, with its clear skies and health-giving, exhilarating air, with its glorious mountain scenery that lifts your soul clean out of the workaday rut, can hardly be equalled in the world as a place to build up health, and enjoy the keenest holiday pleasure from outdoor life.

Now it's my business to lend a friendly hand in planning trips to Colorado. I can relieve you of a lot of trouble. I can give you maps and pictures of Colorado and a hand book describing the comfortable hotels and boarding-houses and what they charge. I can tell you how best to go and arrange for you all the details, and I would like to do it.

No charge, it is part of the Burlington Route (C. B. & Q. Ry.) service. Call at the office or write for a copy of the free illustrated hand book.

SUFFRAGETTE BOMB WAS FOUND

Outside of National Gallery in London—Machine Wrapped in Suffragette Paper

LONDON, May 15.—A so-called militant suffragette bomb was found during the night outside the National gallery which contains invaluable art treasures and is in the very center of London on Trafalgar square.

The machine consisted of a tin can filled with live cartridges wrapped in a copy of the Suffragette. It was labelled "Pills to break the windows of the National gallery." There was no mechanism or detonators connected with the explosives and the bomb was therefore, like many previous ones, of deadly qualities.

The suffragettes apparently threw it over the high railings as it was found lying against the the wall of the west wing of the building.

Henry Curtis Bennett, the magistrate at Bow street police court who is conducting the hearing of the charge against the militant suffragette leaders of conspiracy under the malicious damage to property act, is the latest public man for whose protection against outrage detectives have been assigned by the police authorities at Scotland Yard. He is accompanied every day to and from the court by two officers in plain clothes as threats have been uttered against him.

Crime's Record Book

LONDON, May 15.—The militant suffragette "roll of honor" entitled the "Crime's record book" created profound interest when produced at Bow street police court during today's proceedings against the suffragette leaders. Miss Harriet Rebecca Kerr, Miss Alice Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Mrs. Beatrice Saunders, Miss Annie Kenney, Miss Laura Lennox and the analytical chemist Clayton again occupied the prisoners' enclosure. Particulars of some 100 convictions for suffragette outrages in which 16 persons were concerned were entered in the list exhibited which was accompanied by receipts for money paid to some of the perpetrators. Miss Emeline Pankhurst's conviction on the charge of inciting others to commit the bomb outrage which destroyed Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George's country house at Walton Heath was among the entries as well as all sorts of trivial disturbances arising from deputations of women to the houses of parliament.

SHOE AND LEATHER

Thorough Investigation of Industry in the United States to be Conducted by the Department of Commerce

NEW YORK, May 15.—Thorough investigation of the shoe and leather industry in the United States in comparison with similar industries in European countries is to be undertaken by the department of commerce. The inquiry will be made by Arthur B. Butman, a commercial agent of the department who has just returned to this country after 22 years spent in Europe investigating the principal shoe and leather manufacturing plants of various foreign countries. Secretary Redfield announced today that Mr. Butman would be despatched at once to begin the investigation. In addition to looking into industries in the manufacturing centers of New England, Mr. Butman also will visit New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and other large cities.

A number of reports by Mr. Butman on the results of his inquiry in the foreign manufacturing situation already have been printed and distributed through the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS

2000 Women Gather in Boston

BOSTON, May 15.—In furtherance of their purpose "to arouse the whole country to a sense of duty and responsibility to childhood" nearly 2,000 persons, the greater number women, have come to Boston for the annual convention of the national congress of mothers and parent-teacher associations, which will be opened tonight and continue until Wednesday. Preliminary meetings of the board of managers were held today.

The general topic to be considered is "Child welfare in home, school, church and state." All phases of child life will be discussed with special reference to home and school training. Mrs. Frederick Schoff of Philadelphia, president of the conference, will preside and the speakers will include a number of prominent educators.

Proprietors of the Kashno Lose Their Cases—Verdicts of $200 and $230 Returned by Jury

The jury in the cases of John F. Lane, and Miss Etta F. Blanchard against Charles E. Bunker and Edward T. Cushing, proprietors of the Kashno, reported a verdict in favor of the two plaintiffs. An agreement was reached shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon, and Judge Pratt who was at his office was notified by telephone. He repaired to the court house, and then the foreman announced that Miss Blanchard was awarded $200, while Mr. Lane was adjudged $230.

GIVE THE HAIR THE FOOD IT NEEDS

Parisian Sage Soaks In At Once. Feeds, Cleanses and Makes Hair Grow.

What a delight to have a beautiful head of hair, fluffy, lustrous, abundant and free from dandruff.

Hair is a plant and your head is a garden—a little cultivation works wonders. If the hair is too dry it needs freshening up. If it begins to get thin it needs fertilizing.

Parisian Sage is a scientifically made preparation that gives the hair just what it lacks to make it soft, luxuriant, abundant and radiant with life. It removes dandruff immediately and cleanses the hair of dirt and excessive oils. It is perfectly harmless.

Parisian Sage is a tea-colored liquid—not sticky or greasy—delicately perfumed, that comes in fifty cent bottles at the druggists and toilet counters. The "Girl with the Auburn Hair" on the package.

The very first application will astonish you—if used daily for a week you will be delighted with the improvement it has made in your hair and scalp.

You run no risk as Carter & Sherburne guarantee to refund the money if you are not perfectly satisfied—a safe offer on their part. Delighted users of Parisian Sage all over the country write us enthusiastically about it. They pronounce it a rare and wonderful hair dressing.

FACES JAIL SENTENCE AND FINE

Leader Quinlan to be Sentenced Tomorrow—Demonstration is Planned at Paterson

PATERSON, N. J., May 15.—The relations between the city and county authorities and the striking silk mill workers, strained at all times since the start of the strike two months ago, were made more acute today by the fact of the conviction yesterday on the charge of inciting a riot of Patrick Quinlan, Industrial Workers of the World leader. Quinlan will be sentenced probably tomorrow and faces a maximum penalty of seven years in prison and a fine of $2000. He is perhaps the most conspicuous leader of the Industrial Workers of the World ever convicted of a similar or kindred offense in this country.

Four other leaders of the organization are yet to be tried for inciting riot. They are "Big Bill" Haywood, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Tresca and Adolph Lessig. According to present plans of the prosecutor the next defendant to face the bar will be Tresca. His trial will start a week from Monday.

Quinlan's lawyers are making preparations for an appeal. An announcement was made by the strikers today that there will be a monster demonstration late today at Lafayette oval, with Quinlan as the leading speaker. Joseph Ettor, who is marshaling the striking barbers in New York also was billed as a speaker along with Haywood and Mrs. Flynn.

Next Saturday at 4.15 O'Clock

A TWO-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 1229 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, AT NO. 29 CHESTNUT STREET

On the premises, regardless of weather conditions, I shall offer for sale the above property. The house is slate roofed, with two tenements of six rooms each, and rents for $17 a month, or $204 a year, occupied by two very good tenants and in excellent condition, inside and out. Now, then, here is a chance for some one of moderate means to secure a nice two-tenement house where they could occupy one and have the income of the other tenement.

Terms: $200 as soon as struck off.

At 4.30 O'Clock

A NINE-ROOM COTTAGE AND ABOUT 1053 SQUARE FEET OF LAND, AT NO. 33 CHESTNUT STREET.

The house has nine rooms, lighted by gas and is in good shape, inside and out. It is occupied by the present owners and would readily rent for $13 a month.

Terms: $150 as soon as struck off.

The above two parcels are located on Chestnut street, between Fayette and High, a location where tenements rent well. Now, then, when you read this advertisement, look the property up. The houses can be seen between 2 and 4 any afternoon, by calling at No. 33 Chestnut street. The sale will be positive, to settle up the estate.

C. F. KEYES in charge for the Heirs.

Monday, May 19, 1913, at 4 O'Clock in the Afternoon

ABSOLUTE SALE OF AN EXCEPTIONAL PIECE OF REALTY—JONATHAN HOPE ESTATE; RESIDENCE, STABLE AND ABOUT 6 3-10 ACRES OF LAND AT THE JUNCTION OF CHELMSFORD AND LIBERTY STREETS.

In an exceedingly fine location, with its gradual rise from the street level until it acquires an elevation that commands a splendid view of the greater part of our beautiful city, with a large frontage of about 600 feet on Chelmsford street, banked by a heavy stone wall, sets this extraordinary parcel of realty to be offered at public competition.

The house consists of about 14 rooms, bath, pantry and shed. It is substantially constructed, high studded, has six fireplaces, furnace heat. It is conveniently laid out, has cemented cellar and rests on a solid foundation and stone piers.

The stable is located some distance from the house, and consists of two stalls, a large carriage house, harness room, and two lofts. The cellar is high posted, with door leading to ground, and has accommodation to tie up two head of cattle.

This sale should receive the consideration of the speculator, as well as the home seeker, as there are about six acres of land in a first class residential section ready for improvement. It is about eight minutes' walk to the railroad station, and about 15 minutes' walk to the postoffice, and is a remarkably high piece of land, well adapted to almost any use. It may be mentioned that there is a long slope of land, which runs to grass and about 60 fruit bearing trees.

The sale will be an absolute one and the purchaser will be the highest bidder on the day and time set above.

Terms: $750 must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms at sale.

The property will be opened for inspection Thursday, May 15, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Per order of MRS. WALTER P. WILEY.

CARPET COMP'Y WANTS HELP

And Mayor O'Donnell Is Appealed To

Help Question More Important Than Tariff Scare

The dark tariff cloud that we hear so much about nowadays is not taken very seriously in some of the manufacturing cities and towns in this great and glorious country. Mayor O'Donnell receives a great many letters from manufacturers who are short of help and it would seem that the help question is much more important than the tariff question. The Magee Carpet Co. of Bloomsburg, Pa. is shy on help, and the mayor is in receipt of the following letter from that company:

Bloomsburg, Pa.,
May 13, 1913.

His Honor, the Mayor, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Frequently in the daily papers we read of people who are destitute because they cannot get work. Occasionally this is the reason given for a suicide.

This condition of affairs we do not understand for right in our own healthy town with good water, good schools, cheap coal and cheap rents we need workers. We ourselves could use 1100 more today if we had them, and give them steady work at wages which enables our people to save money.

We do not want the irresponsible or those that won't work, but for any that want a chance to work we have vacancies. Can use whole families, men and women. The other industries in the town are in like position. We do not insist upon skilled help, as we can teach them.

Will you kindly have the charitable organizations of your city put our name on their lists and have worthy applicants for work referred to us?

Any bank in Bloomsburg, or any business man can be used as reference as to our responsibility. We never had a strike nor any labor trouble whatever as we try to do the best we can for our people.

Thanking you for what you may do for us, we are,

Yours truly,
The Magee Carpet Company.

HORSE AND BUGGY STOLEN

Recovered in Lawrence This Morning

A horse and buggy, the property of John J. Gray of this city, stolen on Tuesday evening from Middle street, near the corner of Central, was recovered in Lawrence this morning by the police of that city. A man whose name has not yet been learned was arrested for the theft.

Mr. Gray was in his office in the Central block and the horse was hitched on Middle street near Central. When he returned the hitch was missing. He immediately notified the police, who notified the Lawrence authorities, and the latter succeeded in locating the property this morning. Inspector Martin Maher went to Lawrence today and brought back the property.

Guatemalan Foreign Debt

GUATEMALA CITY, May 15—Satisfactory arrangements were made yesterday by the Guatemalan government for the resumption of the payment of interest on the Guatemalan foreign debt, which is largely held in England. A fund also has been created for the amortization of this debt, the interest payment on which ceased in 1904 owing to a financial crisis in the republic.

WELLS NOT GUILTY

Swanton Man Acquitted of Charge of Poisoning Children—Jury Was Out 15 Hours

ST. ALBANS, Vt., May 15.—Julius Wells of Swanton was found not guilty today of the murder of his son Louis by poison last December.

The jury was out 15 hours. Wells wept when the verdict was announced but he soon regained his composure, and as the jurymen filed out of the courtroom he shook hands with each of them.

The child Louis and his sister Marie died December fourth and an examination of the stomachs showed the presence of poison. Mrs. Wells was arrested early in January but her husband was not taken into custody until more than two months later. Both were indicted for murder on March 13. The state charged that the motive was a desire on the part of Wells to obtain insurance on the child's life. The defense asserted that the children had been accidentally poisoned.

Mrs. Wells, who is yet to be tried, appeared as a witness against her husband, testifying that he begged her to commit suicide and so cover him from suspicion.

Wells also was under indictment, charged with the murder of his daughter Marie, aged four years, but was tried only on the charge of poisoning the boy. After the verdict had been rendered Judge Miles announced that the other indictment had been quashed and Wells was discharged from custody.

SOLEMN FUNERAL SERVICE

Of Mrs. M. A. Murphy at St. Patrick's

With solemn, impressive services held at St. Patrick's church this morning, the mortal remains of Mrs. Mary A. Murphy, a prominent and esteemed resident of the parish, were consigned to their final resting place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The obsequies were attended by a large gathering of the relatives and friends. Attending the service in the church were many of Lowell's leading citizens, and on all sides were apparent the sorrow for deceased and sympathy for the bereaved family. The funeral took place from the home, 213 Walker street, at 9.30 o'clock and proceeded to the church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Dennis F. Murphy, son of deceased, assisted by Rev. John J. Shaw as deacon and Rev. John J. McHugh as sub-deacon, and Rev. Joseph Curtin was master of ceremonies. The choir under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson sang the Gregorian mass. After the elevation Mrs. James A. Murphy sang "Pie Jesu," and the solos in "Libera" were sustained by Mr. J. A. Murphy. At the conclusion of mass "De Profundis" was rendered by Mr. Andrew A. McCarthy, Mr. Johnson presiding at the organ. As the funeral party entered and left the church the chimes were tolled by Mr. Joseph Johnson.

Present within the sanctuary at the mass were many clergymen including Rt. Rev. Mgr. O'Brien, P. R. and Revs. M. J. O'Connor of Roxbury, John W. H. Corbett of Winchester, Daniel J. Heffernan of St. Peter's, this city, John J. O'Hearn, Charlestown, T. P. McMahon, Dorchester, Hugh M. McDermod, South Boston, John P. Flynn, O. M. I., David J. Murphy, Dorchester, C. J. Sullivan, Boston, John F. Burns, Lowell. Thomas A. Walsh, Collinsville, Philip J. Lee, Leominster, W. George Mullin, Lowell, Lawrence F. Tighe, O. M. I., this city, T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., Michael O'Brien, Chicago, Ill., Francis J. Mullin, this city, William Walsh, Charlestown, Charles Audibert, O. M. I., Lowell, M. Benfield, Chicago, Ill., Fr. Kerrigan, Lowell, D. J. Keleher, Ph. D., Lowell, Eugene Carney, Roxbury, Henry Lyons, Lynn, John Gilday, South Lawrence, William Keenan, West Quincy, Thomas Reynolds, Somerville, William Darcy, South Boston. The bearers were Daniel Crowley, Daniel Sullivan, Daniel J. Donovan, James W. McKenna, John McCann, and Bernard J. Callahan. The ushers at the house and church were John J. Sullivan, Dr. John J. Walsh, Henry Quirbach, and William McGauvran. At the grave many beautiful floral tributes were placed about and the interior of the grave was beautifully lined with floral decorations, a mark of sympathy from the Sunday school children of St. Michael's church.

The committal prayers were read by Rev. Daniel Heffernan assisted by Rev. Frs. Francis Mullin, John J. Shaw, John Burns, Eugene Carney, John J. McHugh, Thomas McManimon, Joseph Curtin, John W. Corbett, William Colbert, William Keenan, and Thomas Reynolds. The burial was under the direction of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

LOWELL AND LAWRENCE

Meet for the First Time This Season

Keen interest of fans, both local and in other cities on the New England league circuit centred about the game this afternoon between the Lawrence champs and Manager Jimmy Gray's outfit representing the Spindle City. It was the first meeting of the two on the diamond this season and both have been playing good ball. Lawrence is in first place with Lowell a good second, and, moreover, Lawrence has had a remarkable record in the league thus far, leading by a good percentage. The Lowell boys, however, nothing daunted, attribute this to a streak of good fortune and today went into the game with the determination once and for all to break the winning streak of her opponents and old-time rivals.

There was a goodly crowd of fans at the park and the bleachers were filled with the old-time "regulars," for many of whom it was their first game this year. People who did not give a rap about the other games up to this time arranged matters so that there would be no danger of their missing the Lowell-Lawrence contest today. The spectators numbered in the vicinity of 1400 and included a large delegation from the down-river city, who followed their team.

The weather favored the baseball people and, though it was a little cool, yet not to such a degree as to render the condition of the spectator uncomfortable. The umpire was Rudderham. Barron opened the game in the box for Lowell, and Pearson was on the mound for the visitors. The lineup:

Lowell		Lawrence
Clemens cf		1b Carlstrom
DeGroff rf		cf O'Connell
Miller 2b		lf Brugey
Magee lf		rf Luyster
Halstein 1b		2b Mahoney
Monahan c		2b Phoenix
Dee 3b		ss Cargo
Smoyer ss		c Breymafer
Barron p		p Pearson

First Inning

Carlstrom flied out to Magee and O'Connell followed with a safe clout to right center field. He was sent away trying to steal by Monahan to Miller. Brugey hit a high one which was collected by Clemens.

Lowell copped one tally in the first. Clemens opened with a high one which O'Connell smothered and DeGroff flied away to Brugey. Miller hit safely to centerfield and stole second. Magee hit through the short stop and Miller scored, Magee going to second on the throw in to the plate. Halstein closed by flying out to Brugey.

Score—Lawrence 0, Lowell 1.

Second Inning

Dee figured in every play this half. Luyster hit to Dee who fumbled but threw to Halstein in time to nail the runner. Mahoney went out by Dee to Halstein and Phoenix flied out to Dee.

Monahan hit to Pearson, who fussed him out to Carlstrom. Dee hit safely to short left field but was forced out at second when Smoyer hit one to Cargo. Barron flied out to O'Connell.

Score—Lawrence 0, Lowell 1.

Third Inning

In this session Lawrence did things to the disaster of Lowell. Cargo walked and went to second on a sacrifice by Breymier who was put away by Halstein to Miller, the latter covering the first sack. Pearson died, Barron to Halstein. Carlstrom got a home run over the right field fence scoring Cargo. O'Connell got a two base slam to left field and scored when Brugey singled to the same garden. Luyster also hit to left and scored Brugey who had advanced to second base. Mahoney walked and stole second and on the throw to get him, Luyster scored. Both Monohan's and Smoyer's throws were poor. Phoenix hit to left field, scoring Mahoney and Cargo closed the half by hitting an easy one which Barron tossed to Halstein.

The third was a fairly profitable inning for the Lowell players also, netting them four runs. Clemens hit to Phoenix, who threw him out to Carlstrom. DeGroff hit safely to right field and Miller was safe at first when Cargo shooted his grounder. Magee hit safely to left field, filling the bases. Halstein then drove the ball to right field near the foul line for three bases, scoring DeGroff, Miller and Magee. Monahan hit a foul fly to Mahoney and Halstein scored when Dee doubled to left field along the foul line. Smoyer hit the ball about one foot in front of the plate and was tagged out by Breymafer.

Score: Lawrence 6, Lowell 5.

LOWELL CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERT

Haydn's "Creation" Was Splendidly Given Last Night

Distinguished Soloists and Well Trained Chorus

Under Direction of E. G. Hood — Large Attendance

EUSEBIUS G. HOOD,
Director.

The audience that filled the Lowell Opera House to its capacity last evening to hear Haydn's "Creation," as given by the Lowell Choral society were not disappointed; they heard a most admirable performance in which the distinguished soloists and the large chorus sang with a finish and precision which could only have been attained by a long and thorough preparation. That those present appreciated the rare treat was strikingly demonstrated by the close attention given the work of the singers, for from the opening recitative of Raphael to the final "amen" the greatest silence prevailed broken only by the frequent and enthusiastic applause.

The excellence of the performance was no doubt largely due to the long preparation and numerous rehearsals, for the society had held meetings for weeks past, and every part of the ora-

TO RESUME EATON INQUEST

Judge Pratt Will Hear Witnesses Tomorrow

Dist. Atty. Barker Will Produce New Witnesses

ROCKLAND, May 15.—The inquest into the death of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, which was suspended when the widow, Mrs. Jennie Eaton, was arrested, charged with murder, will be resumed at Abington before Judge Pratt tomorrow. District Attorney Albert S. Barker said today that about six witnesses, some of whom had not previously appeared in the case, would testify. Admiral Eaton died suddenly at his home in Norwell on March 8, death being due, it is alleged, to poison administered by his wife. Mrs. Eaton is now held at the county jail at Plymouth pending trial, the date for which has not yet been set.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Robert F. Marden Notified of His Election

Robert F. Marden, of the Courier-Citizen, has been appointed county commissioner to succeed the late Chas. H. Richardson. Mr. Marden received notice by telephone, this afternoon, from Commissioner Gould that he had been elected unanimously.

Mr. Marden says that he was not a candidate for the office and that the news of his election came as a great surprise to him. "I am not sure that I will accept," said Mr. Marden, "and I did not promise Mr. Gould that I would. I told him that I would talk the matter over with the commissioners tomorrow."

Killed by Telephone

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 15.—Paul Aiken, a mine foreman is dead and Dr. C. B. Jones is dying in a hospital here, the result of an electric feed wire crossing a telephone line. Aiken went to the telephone to make a call and was instantly killed. Dr. Jones was called when Aiken's body was found and unaware of the cause of death went to the telephone to summon assistance. He was knocked senseless and failing to regain consciousness was taken to a hospital, where it was reported he cannot live.

PERISHED IN FIRE SHE SET

Woman Deranged Over Daughter's Illness Set Barn Afire

Body Burned to a Crisp Was Found In Ruins

PRESQUE ISLE, Me. May 15.—While mentally suffering over the illness of her daughter Helen, whose death was momentarily expected, Mrs. Zebediah Fields was burned to death today after setting fire, it was believed to the barn on the Fields farm, one mile south of here.

She was in the house talking with the cook a few minutes before the fire was discovered. Her body, burned to a crisp was found in the ruins of the barn. The invalid daughter was carried to the home of neighbors. Mr. Fields and the farmhands were at work some distance from the house. The entire set of buildings and contents, valued at about $10,000, were burned.

SESSION WAS SUSPENDED

Proceeding Was Delayed While Attorneys Argue

THE COURT, OFFICERS AND JURORS HAD THEIR PICTURES TAKEN

Settlement Without Trial In Case Against Bay State Co. Resulted From a Long Consultation of Attorneys

Throughout the entire morning, the civil session of the superior court was suspended and the judge, jurymen, court officers, witnesses and spectators sat idly awaiting the resumption of the proceedings. The reason for the delay was the decision of the counsel for both sides in the case of Margaret U. Silk vs. the Bay State Street Railway Co., to retire from the court room to attempt to come to an agreement in the matter without going to trial. The case had not been called nor the jury chosen.

The suit of Margaret U. Silk against the Bay State Co. was an action of tort in which the damages sought were $15,000. The plaintiff is a resident of Dracut. There was a multitude of witnesses for both parties awaiting the bringing to trial of the suit. A few moments before 12 o'clock the attorneys returned to the court room with the glad tidings that they had effected a settlement.

Had Pictures Taken

The fact of the long consultation did not prevent the court, officers and jurors from taking the usual respite of 15 or 20 minutes at a quarter after eleven this morning, and at that time they all gathered on the steps at the north entrance to the court house where a photographer took several group pictures, in the front row was Judge Pratt and the officers, the latter holding the customary white staff. About them were arranged the jurors and Miss Louise N. Jackson, court stenographer, was also in the front row. Altogether they made an imposing array and from one or another there were heard frequent witty sallies at the expense of a friend, not to speak of repeated warnings to the picture man to be careful of his camera. It is a custom to have a picture of this kind taken in order that the jurors may have a memento of the three months' session of the superior civil court in which they deliberated and decided so many and various cases placed before them.

Adjourned to 2 O'Clock

As soon as it was announced that a settlement had been reached in the action against the Bay State Co. the court adjourned to 2 o'clock, for there was no other case ready for immediate trial.

When the session was resumed at 2 o'clock the case of Grace A. Smiley vs. Boston and Maine railroad was called. Plaintiff seeks to recover for injuries alleged to have been received through the negligence of the defendant company. The plaintiff states in the the declaration that on or about December 25, 1912, while riding as a passenger on a train between Lowell and Dover, N. H., and when leaving the car, the train was brought to a sudden stop with such violence as to throw her against the arm of one of the seats, severely injuring her.

The defendant answers with a general denial of the material allegations contained in the declaration. For a large part of the afternoon session, the plaintiff, Mrs. Smiley, was on the stand and on one occasion, by arranging four chairs in a certain position, she demonstrated to the jury the position of herself and companions at the time of the alleged injuries.

BURKES OPEN SEASON

Play Progressive Club Saturday

Saturday afternoon at Spaulding park the Burke Temperance society's baseball team will meet the fast aggregation which the Progressive club of Beverly has put in the field this year. This game will be the first big semi-professional game that Lowell has seen in some years and the question will be decided then whether this city will support a really good club of ball players who are outside the limits of organized baseball.

The Beverly club was organized this year more for the purpose of advertising the political party under whose name they play than for the purpose of making money. The expenses, uniforms, etc. are all paid for by prominent men of Beverly interested in the party and no less than three special cars have been chartered to bring the crowd, which will accompany the team to Lowell.

The Burkes are under the management this year of "Nixey" Coughlin, whose baseball career it is unnecessary to repeat to Lowell fandom. Manager Coughlin understands the game thoroughly and the team should have a very successful season. If the Burkes defeat Beverly Saturday it will be a big feather in their cap for the latter team has not been defeated as yet. The fast Maple team of Salem went down before them two weeks ago. The Salem team has Lonergan, who was drafted to Providence from Lowell last year by Fred Lake, and Gaw, who pitched for Brockton last season, in their lineup so that it can easily be seen that whoever beat this outfit were playing real baseball.

The progressives of Lowell will be present at the game in large numbers. The city committee of the party will attend the game in a body and "Honest Dan" Cosgrove, progressive candidate for lieutenant-governor, will pitch the first ball.

REVOLVER DUEL IN REVERE

One Dead and Another Seriously Injured

BRIDEGROOM AND FATHER-IN-LAW SHOOT EACH OTHER

Latter Died in Hospital of Injuries—Young Man Shot Through Neck and May Not Recover

BOSTON, May 15.—While 9-year-old Grasia Orlandella looked on, her father, Michael Orlandella, and her brother-in-law, Samuel Comiza, engaged in a revolver duel, which cost the life of the little girl's father and the possibly fatal injury of Comiza. The latter was married two weeks ago.

The shooting occurred shortly before noon yesterday in the upper tenement of a two-family house at 9 Mountain avenue, Revere.

Orlandella received bullet wounds in the left shoulder and the head. The second shot lodged in the base of his brain and caused his death in the Massachusetts General hospital two hours later. Comiza was shot once through the neck. As yet it has not been determined whether the wound will prove fatal.

Little Grasia was so overcome by fright, and the knowledge that her father had been killed that she has been unable to give her version of the affair. Her mother, the wife of the victim, collapsed after the shooting, and the police have yet to interview her before any charges are brought.

MILITIA NIGHT

Board of Trade Urges Public Meeting at the Armory—Speaker to Be Supplied By Adj.-General Pearson

The directors of the board of trade held a meeting yesterday afternoon and considerable business was transacted. Among other things it was voted to accept Adjt.-General Gardner W. Pearson's proposal to have a speaker from his department address the members of the board on the militia question. The adjutant-general suggested that the meeting be held at the state armory and that a brief exhibition drill or tactical exhibit be given by the local companies before the address on militia work is given.

The meeting it is proposed will be open to the public with special invitations to the members of the board.

It was also voted to request the Lowell legislators to do all that they deem advisable in bringing before the governor a request to veto the bill appropriating $10,500 for the Salisbury beach reservation, and to explain to him the reasons for such a request.

Relative to the new law regarding the establishment of city planning boards, it was voted that the secretary, John H. Murphy, be instructed to write or confer with the mayor, relative to the matter.

A nominating committee to bring in a list of officers and directors for the annual meeting which will be held on June 4, was named as follows: John E. Drury, F. A. Fisher and D. W. Shanahan. The following new members were chosen: Harold L. Chalifoux, Frank P. Carter and Charles W. Cunningham.

Homely, Yet Admired and Envied; Her Secret

The convention crowd in the lobby made a path for her, cast admiring side glances, then with longing eyes followed her to the elevator. It was at the Panchartrain in Detroit. The incident was recalled when I chanced to sit across table from the woman. What was it about her that caused all that commotion? She wasn't handsome; she was lacking in form and feature. Yet she did seem marvelously fascinating. Her complexion must be the secret. Really, I've never beheld its equal. Venturing to pick up acquaintanceship, I learned the reason.

"I know I'm not built for beauty," she confided, "but I've tried to make the most of my one charm. I've learned that men abhor make-ups and artificiality. I bar cosmetics; there are just two things I ever use and they promote natural loveliness and youthful appearance.

"When my complexion begins to age, I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off in the morning. This gradually flakes off the outer skin; then I have a brand new complexion, magnetically beautiful, as you see.

"Wrinkles never bother me. At their inception I bathe my face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. It works like magic."—Mona Morrow in Town Tattler.

RITCHIE EARNS DECISION

Boxed Andy Cortez at New London

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 15.—Joe Ritchie (Young Jasper) of Boston and Andy Cortez of New York boxed ten rounds in the main bout of the Greenwood A. C. last night. Neither man was badly punished. The former was entitled to the decision. A preliminary between Joe Corbett of Norwich and Kid Collins went eight rounds with honors even.

Ritchie, or Jasper, will appear in the main bout at tomorrow night's meeting of the Acme A. C. in Lowell, and he reports that he is in perfect condition. Ritchie will meet Terry Brooks of New York, also a very clever boy, and the number should prove interesting. The semi-final of eight rounds will be furnished by Barney Snyder of Boston and Finnie Boyle of Lowell, two likely performers. Both report that they are in good shape for the encounter and each is confident of winning. The preliminaries will be provided by lively local boys.

Manager George S. Kyle of the football team resigned his position, as he will not return to school in the fall. William F. Casey was elected football manager. Fred Abbott was elected baseball manager, and Kenneth Simpson, assistant manager.

On recommendation of the athletic council, Arthur N. Gadsby and Carrol S. Peck were awarded football sweaters and "Ts" for their proficient work with the squad.

About 100 students boarded special cars for the Martin Luther recreation grounds yesterday morning, where the annual "Upstream" day was enjoyed.

Schedules of the final examinations have been circulated among the students. Exams start Thursday, May 22, and continue until June 3.

BOSTON NEARLY SHUTOUT

In the Game With Detroit Yesterday

Larry Gardner's triple to right center followed by a passed ball was the only thing that saved Boston from a shutout yesterday. Willet allowed the Red Sox only two hits and Detroit won 4 to 1. Cobb got three hits, all of them coming at opportune times. The score:

Two base hit: Veach. Three base hits: Gardner, Crawford. Hits: Off Bedient 7 in 7 innings. Off Foster 3 in 1 inning. Sacrifice hits: Moriarty, Rondeau. Stolen bases: Crawford, Henriksen. Left on bases: Boston 4; Detroit 6. First base on balls: off Willett 1; off Bedient 1. Hit by pitcher: By Bedient (Moriarty). Struck out: by Willett 5; by Bedient 2. Passed ball: Cady. B. F. Keith's Theatre

John E. and George Gorman, who are enacting the parts of two bunco promoters at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, in the two-act musical comedy called "It Happened in New York" are very well known comedians and stage managers who have played in practically all of the theatres in the east. Charles N. Saunders, who has the role of the millionaire who is present in order to be fleeced, is an old actor who has had very wide experience. Miss Letty Grover, in one of the leading roles, has had much musical comedy training. The chorus of ten girls is an exceedingly active crew, appearing in a half dozen different songs and dances. Peppino, the accordeonist, is one of the masters of his chosen instrument. Los Valadons are slack wire performers of more than ordinary moment, Miss Retif Murri, sings and then takes a trip in her aeroplane over the heads of her audience. Ben Harney & Co. are also on the bill.

LOWELL HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Presented Valuable Gift Last Night at the May Meeting—Large Attendance

The Lowell Historical society held its May meeting last night in Memorial building with a large attendance. A feature of the evening was the presentation to the society of the register of the Lowell Island house in Salem harbor, covering the years of 1852 to 1855, and containing the signatures of many well known people of that period, when Lowell island was the favorite shore resort of the people of this city. It is a very valuable addition to the collections of the society, and an appropriate supplement to the history of Lowell island, by Alfred Gilman, published in the fourth volume of the society's "Contributions."

The presentation was made by William B. Goodwin, and was followed by the reading of a paper on "Our Industrial Growth."

Mr. Henry A. Smith, Miss Jennie L. Allen and Miss Stella J. Allen were admitted to resident membership.

Brig.-Gen. Smith Retired

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Brig.-Gen. Smith, in command of the brigade doing patrol duty on the Texas border, was retired today on account of age.

CLOSE OF THE SESSION

Sermon at Free Baptist Church Last Night

The evening session of the Free Baptist churches of Massachusetts was held last night in the Paige Street Free Baptist church with a large attendance. Many ministers from the Baptist churches throughout the city were present. At the service there was singing by Miss Leona Small and John Moir of the church choir, and Miss Ethel Knowlton; prayers by Rev. H. H. Bishop of the Tewksbury Baptist church and Rev. W. J. Twort of Haverhill, and the address was given by Rev. A. W. Anthony, D. D., on "Our Mission Work in India."

Dr. Anthony spoke on the need of mission work in India and told of the work that is being done there at the present time. He stated that the missionary work should not be confined to the home country. He showed how the youth of New England had more opportunities than the one of India, where the son follows the trade of the father and is obliged to continue it. He said that the native of India who becomes a Christian is immediately disowned and he is obliged to find some other way to earn his livelihood. Thus the industrial establishments of the missionaries are a great blessing.

He spoke of medical missionaries, who strive to teach the natives a new attitude toward life. The natives' religion teaches the mto encourage suffering to a certain extent. Dr. Anthony gave a thorough story of the work among the missionaries, as it is being done at present and as it is hoped to be done in the future.

Owls, Associate hall, tonight.

Missionary Societies

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society of the First Congregational church, which was held Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. John Osgood gave an interesting report of the meeting of the Andover and Woburn branch, held at Wakefield, and Mrs. William Monroe followed with a report of a meeting at Pilgrim hall, which she attended.

Miss Boutelle, the secretary of the Y. W. C. A., held the attention of the audience closely as she spoke of the work it is doing in this city and in other countries.

During the social hour, Mrs. Rexford was asisted by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Stafford in serving refreshments.

THE MILLINER, 35 JOHN STREET,

WHALERS WHALED BY THE GRAYS

Lowell Won From New Bedford by Score of Seven to Three

The New Bedford ball tossers, stick swingers and base runners were the guests of the Lowell Baseball club at Spaulding park yesterday and the two teams crossed bats in a good game which was enjoyed by a fairly large gathering of fans. There were many of the fair sex present, and owing to the fact that it was ladies' day, they were allowed free admittance to the stands as well as to the grounds.

Another change was made in the lineup of the Lowell team in which Halstein and Smoyer were set farther down the list. At the third sack for the visitors was Starr who opened the season with the Lowell team. He was given a round of applause by his Lowell friends as he took his position. Umpire O'Brien, who caused some feeling yesterday in the little mix-up, was the official again today and he called the game to three o'clock.

First Inning

Smoyer let Griffith's grounder get away from him and the runner was safe at first. Connaughton advanced him to second with a sacrifice on which he was put out by Smoyer to Halstein. Sweatt was passed and Kennedy grounded out to Halstein, the Lowell first sacker making a neat stop of a hard hit ball. Briggs was hit by Smith, who was a little wild and Weeden fanned.

Clemens hit safely between third base and short stop and DeGroff advanced him by going out Spires to Briggs. Miller hit to center field and stole second and when Weeden threw to Connaughton, Clemens stole home for the first run. Magee hit to right field and when Griffith dropped the ball which had taken the first bound, Miller scored. Halstein hit an easy one to the pitcher and was fielded out to first while Monahan hit to Spires and was thrown out to Briggs.

Score—New Bedford 0, Lowell 2.

Second Inning

Starr walked and stole second and Spires fanned. Gibbs flied out to Monahan and Griffith slammed out a two-base hit scoring Starr. Connaughton flied out to Clemens.

Dee was put away by Gibbs to Briggs. Smoyer was safe on first on Connaughton's error, the New Bedford manager fumbling the grounder and when he threw wildly to first, Smoyer sped to second, the ball falling into the Lowell quarters. Smith hit through first base and Smoyer scored. Gibbs passed both Clemens and DeGroff and Miller got a two-bagger, scoring Smith and Clemens. DeGroff came home for another tally on a sacrifice fly by Magee. Halstein was credited with a hit when the strong wind carried a fly away from Connaughton, Miller scoring on the play. Monahan closed the inning when he hit a high one to be gathered in by Griffith.

Score—New Bedford 1, Lowell 7.

Third Inning

Sweatt was allowed to stroll and he advanced to second on a sacrifice by Kennedy, the latter being put away, Smith to Halstein. Briggs hit to left field and scored Sweatt. Briggs went to second when Weeden was thrown out, Miller to Halstein. Starr hit to right field scoring Briggs. Spires flied out to Clemens.

Dee fanned, Smoyer out Spires to Briggs, Smith struck out.

Score—New Bedford 3, Lowell 7.

Fourth Inning

Only three men faced Smith in the fourth inning. Griffith was out when he hit an easy one to the pitcher's box. Connaughton got a hit to left center but was nipped at second by Monahan's great throw. Sweatt flied out to Clemens. No runs.

Clemens put up a high one to Sweatt. De Groff knocked the ball a few feet in front of the plate and Weeden made a nice throw to first for the putout.

"SHORTY" DEE
Whose all around work was a feature

Miller walked and stole second on the first ball pitched to Magee. Magee got a hit to left field which he netted three bases on, scoring Miller. Jimmy was out by two yards when he tried to sneak home with another run. One run.

Fifth Inning

New Bedford scored a run in her half of the fifth. Kennedy singled to center and Briggs knocked in the run when he hit his long double to left center. Weeden went out, Smoyer to Halstein. Starr hit one to Smith who turned and caught Briggs going to third. Spires made the third out when Smith handled his easy grounder. One run.

Halstein went out to Gibbs to Briggs Monahan hit a fast one to Spires which the latter juggled but the ball beat the Lowell catcher to first. Dee slammed the first ball Gibbs served up to him to center for two bases. Smoyer closed the inning by striking out. No runs.

Sixth Inning

Gibbs started the sixth by grounding out Smoyer to Halstein. Griffith was out when he lifted his high fly to Clemens. Connaughton walked but was out Smoyer to Miller, when Sweatt hit a fast one to the Lowell short stop. No runs.

Smith went out when Gibbs fielded his grounder to first. Clemens got a hit through short stop. DeGroff went out on a grounder to Starr. Miller hit a slow grounder to Spires but the ball beat him to the bag. No runs.

Seventh Inning.

Kennedy started the lucky seventh by grounding out to Smoyer. Briggs walked and reached second when Smith threw low to Halstein and the ball rolled a dozen feet behind the bag. Weeden flied out to DeGroff. Starr got a hit through shortstop but Magee fielded the ball so fast that Kennedy was held at third. Spires went out when he grounded to Dee. No runs.

Magee, the first man up for Lowell, poked the ball into left field for three bases. Halstein followed with a clout through the pitchers' box, which scored Magee. Monahan hit into what should have been an easy double play, Spires fielded the ball to Connaughton, who forced out Halstein, but the New Bedford manager threw wild to first, and Monahan went to third on the error. Dee walloped the ball to left for a triple and Monahan scored. Dee was out when he tried to steal home. Two runs.

Eighth Inning

Gibbs received a free ticket to first in the eighth, but went out, Miller to Smoyer, when Griffith hit to the former. Connaughton flied out to Miller and Dee threw out Sweatt at first. No runs.

Clemens opened Lowell's half with a hit to centre. He stole second but DeGroff flied out to Sweatt and Miller lifted a high one which Spires got under for the third putout.

Ninth Inning

New Bedford went out in order in her last turn at bat. Miller fielded Kennedy's hot one to Halstein, Clemens took care of Briggs' fly and Magee made the final putout when Weeden put up a high one to left. The score:

AMATEUR BASEBALL

An outfit that calls itself the All Stars announces that it is desirous of competing against any 17-year-old team in the city. The manager is Mr. Higgins, 159 Cross street, and today he stated that in particular he would like to arrange a game with a bunch of hot air compressors who have the nerve to call themselves the Hinky Dinks. The name is a good one for them, he said, and the fellow who called them that must have had some brain.

Hard Guys

Here is a bunch of real "hard guys" who want to trim any 13-14-year-old outfit. They call themselves the Young Champions, and their diet consists of baseball dope for breakfast, dinner and supper. This hard lot of youngsters savagely announced that they are after the scalps of the Red Sox, the Orioles and the Athletics. Send all challenges through this paper. The manager warns all other teams against playing unless they can put up a pretty good game, for it irritates the Young Champions to walk away with game after game without half trying.

The Emeralds avow that they can whip any 13-year-old team in Lowell, and invite aspirants to accept their challenge through this paper.

Any 12-year-old team can get a game with the Young Croesus by writing to the manager, 17 Franklin court, and showing their age certificates.

The Lincolns would like to meet any team under 12 years of age at Lincoln park, Saturday, May 24, and prefer the Mohawks. Herbert Harris, 62 Lincoln street. The Mohawks say the Lincolns are at least 13 years of age each. They want a team younger than themselves.

The Woburn A. C. would like to play the Lions on the Bunker Hill grounds for a 25-cent ball Saturday afternoon. Send all challenges to Frank Kilbride, 15 L street, city.

What do you know about this one, boys? The Blue Sluggers have the gall to challenge any team in the city, and everyone knows that if a team accepted the challenge they would get scared and disband. Wherever they got the name of Sluggers, we do not know, but we think the "Blue Streaks" would be a better name. They have not lost a game thus far this season—they have not played any yet because they can run so fast no team can get close enough to trim them. They ought to organize a track team and not a baseball team.

Well, well, listen to this! The Albion Blues accept the challenge of the Cubs for Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and say that they will eat them alive. The Cubs better wear horseshoes, for the Albion Blues have a mascot named H. Stermont. They are also accompanied by an individual whom they call Pickaxe Murphy, who does the shouting. Pickaxe has four lungs and can make more noise than a steam piano.

The Savages would like a game with any 9 or 10-year-old team. The Savages are true to their name and awfully bloodthirsty. Send challenges to Frank Albert, 447 Broadway.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

O'Brien was on the job again, and we can't say that his work yesterday was exactly scintillated. He missed a great many strikes that cut the plate, Smith being the man who suffered most from his decisions. He seems to be lost when he tries to follow a curve ball.

Mayhohm will probably be used on hot days only in the future. His arm is unreliable in the extreme in anything but the hottest kind of baseball weather. It was reported that he had been released, but Manager Gray has no such intentions at present.

Zelser has a boil on the right side of his neck which is bothering him to such an extent that he will be unable to work for some time. The muscles of his shoulder have become inflamed and his whip is effected as well. Manager Gray has not allowed him to even warm up for the last three days in order to try and get rid of the boil in the shortest space at time.

Manager Gray has been offered a substantial sum of money for Daly from the manager of the Jacksonville, Fla., club, but will not let this player go on any consideration. He has three catchers now on his staff, and one of them must go before the 20th of the month, according to the league ruling. It is safe to say, however, that Daly will remain in the Lowell camp.

Dee was caught at the plate in the seventh when he tried to steal home with Smoyer at the bat. The latter had one strike and there was only one out in the inning, but he let the ball go that Gibbs served up to him as Dee made his dash for home. The decision was a close one, and if Smoyer had swung at the ball it is probable that the run would have counted.

Dee was right there with the war-club yesterday. Two hits out of three times at bat for a total of five bases is the best that Lowell's third sacker has produced this season.

Manager Connaughton of the New Bedford team has the reputation of being the greatest "sponger" on the circuit. Before yesterday's game "Conn" came over to the Lowell bunch and requested a new ball from Manager Gray to warm up his pitcher with. "Remember your weakness," remarked Jimmy, as he threw him an unused ball.

LOWELL HIGH TEAM WON

Defeated Groton by the Score of 6 to 2

Lowell high defeated Lawrence Academy yesterday at Groton by the score of 6 to 2. The local boys showed marked superiority in every department of the game and deserved the contest.

Wilson was in the points for Lowell and, although he allowed the home team seven hits, they were all scattered and he had the game well in hand throughout. Lowell only connected for four safe hits, but the errors of her opponents helped put runs over the plate.

Carter, the Lowell guardian of the first sack, played a great game in the field and got two of Lowell's four hits. Cawley accepted 12 chances without an error. Bailey also made two difficult catches in centre field. The score by innings:

Two base hit: Carter. Sacrifice hits: Gill, Jones. Double plays: Greene, Wilcox and Jones. Stolen bases: Gill 3, Breen 2, Cawley 2, Carter 2, Forgays. Bases on balls: By Wilson 1; by Farrar 5. Struck out: By Wilson 3; by Farrar 9. Wild pitch: Farrar. Hit by pitched ball: Gill. First base on errors: Lowell 5, Lawrence Academy 0. Left on bases: Lowell 6, Lawrence Academy 4. Umpire: Donahue. Time: 1.40. Attendance: 300.

LEFTY TYLER WON AGAIN

Former Lowell Twirler Pitches Victory

Lefty Tyler, the former Lowell twirler, let the St. Louis Cardinals down with four hits yesterday and Boston won her game, 7 to 0. Tyler's two doubles figured in the scoring as well. St. Louis used two pitchers in an attempt to stay the batting of the Braves but eight hits were gleaned off Harmon and Willis. Maranville played a spectacular fielding game, twice smothering hits which looked like safties. The score by innings:

Boston	0	0	0	0	3	1	0	*		—7

Two base hits: Sweeney, Tyler 2, Whaling. Hits: Off Harmon 7 in 6 innings; off Willis 1 in 2 inning. Stolen bases: Devlin 2, Myers 2. Double plays: Maranville and Myers; Devlin, Sweeney and Myers. Left on bases: Boston 5, St. Louis 5. First base on balls: Off Tyler 4, off Harmon 5, off Willis 1. First on errors: Boston 2. Struck out: By Tyler 3, by Willis 1. Wild pitch: Tyler. Time: 1.55. Umpires: O'Day and Emslie.

ANTI-MORMON MEETING HELD

Doctrines of Mormonism Were Attacked by Speakers at the Worthen Street Church

"Give us ten years and we will snap our fingers at the United States government and the devil."

"If plural marriage be unlawful, then is the whole plan of salvation, through the house of Israel, a failure, and the entire fabric of Christianity without foundation."

These are samples of the quotations used at the anti-Mormon meeting at the Worthen Street M. E. church, last night. These meetings are being arranged for by the Massachusetts Patriotic Service league, a league organized for the purpose of driving out the Mormon elders and preventing the spread of Mormon literature. The pastor of the Worthen Street church, Rev. Dr. Davis, presided at the meeting last evening.

Dr. Davis spoke strongly against the Mormons and their doctrine and he said it was time for the people of Lowell to "get busy" and drive the evil from this city. In closing his remarks, Dr. Davis said: "I am in the fight and will remain to the finish, for the sake of God, home and our native land."

The Principal Speaker

The principal speaker of the evening was Rev. Paul Smith, pastor of the Dorchester Memorial church of Roxbury. Mr. Smith lived in Utah at one time and he spoke of Mormonism from the political, social and financial standpoint as well as from the religious standpoint. He likened it to a great cancer eating at the hearts of the American people. He repeated a story told by Rev. Dr. Neese of Boston and having to do with the modus operandi of the Mormons. Dr. Neese was called to the bedside of a dying woman. She told him that the father of her little daughter, who was then present, was a Mormon and she wanted Dr. Neese to take the child rather than to have her fall into the hands of the Mormons. Dr. Neese took the child and a few days after the woman's death he was visited by two gentlemen, well dressed, of good address and quite important in their general appearance. They were Mormon elders and they wanted the little girl. They said that the little girl's father and mother had both accepted the Mormon faith in Maine and because of that fact they wanted the little girl. Dr. Neese refused to turn the little girl over to them and a lawsuit ensued. The court found in favor of Dr. Neese and the girl was eventually put under the care of the society for the protection of children.

Mr. Smith told of a Dorchester man who has been deserted by his wife and daughter. They were converted to the Mormon faith and have gone to Utah. Mr. Smith said he failed to find words to express his disgust for Mormonism and he admonished the people of Lowell to take effective measures to prevent the Mormon elders from polluting the city.

Told Interesting Story

It remained for Miss Ridgley of this city to tell the most interesting story, for hers was a genuine, personal experience with Mormon elders in a place near Boston. Miss Ridgley is an evangelist and has done some very effective evangelistic work. She was engaged in evangelistic work when the incident upon which her story was based occurred. She received a letter one day inviting her to call at a certain house for the purpose of discussing her work. She went to the house and was met by an elderly and very gracious lady who proceeded to make very much of her. Miss Ridgley had but recently lost her mother and the strange lady sympathized very deeply with her. She had been in the room but a short time when a young man entered and he was introduced as Elder ———. Then entered two more young men and they were introduced as elder this and elder that. Miss Ridgley was getting extremely nervous when an old gentleman entered and the lady introduced him as her husband, Elder ———.

Miss Ridgley demanded to know why she had been sent for and the old man, after a short pause, said: "We have heard a great deal about you and your work. We are Mormons and we think that you could do a great work with us. You would not have to give up your own work entirely. We have had a revelation and it has been revealed to us that you are to become the wife of Elder ———" and the old man pointed to the young man who had been first to enter the room.

Miss Ridgley allowed that she had something to say about that and she started to leave the room. She had gone but a few steps when the elders and the woman surrounded her and entreated her to remain. In order to get away she had to promise to return. But she never returned.

Ex-Mormon Woman

Mrs. Louise Brittain, an ex-Mormon woman, was the next speaker. She characterized Mormonism as a great big, bitter poisonous, black pill with a very thin sugar coating. She said that Mormonism without polygamy ceases to be Mormonism. She said that the present day system of "celestial law" is far more degrading than the old time open polygamy. Mrs. Brittain quoted from Brigham Young and other Mormons, and she called a spade a spade. She said that polygamy is a travesty upon womanhood. It is an institution of barbarism and belongs to that time and place in which the laws of society are little better than those of the wilderness. Its presence in the civilized world today must be accounted for other than by natural law and evolution.

Big Meeting Tonight

Another mass meeting under the auspices of the league will be held at the Fifth Street Baptist church at 7.45 o'clock this evening. The pastor, Rev Mr. MacDonald will preside and the speakers will include Mrs. Clark, president of the Methodist Woman's Home mission of New England; Miss Ridgley and Mrs. Brittain. Mrs. Brittain will be the principal speaker.

PRIEST TO LEAVE LOWELL

Rev. Henry C. Reardon Going to Europe

Rev. H. C. Reardon, assistant to Rev. Fr Galligan, pastor of St. Margaret's church of the Highlands will spend the summer in touring Europe, so it was announced this morning. During his absence, his place will be filled by Rev. James F. Lynch of Roxbury, a young priest ordained at Brighton seminary about six weeks ago. Rev Fr. Reardon will leave at an early date and his trip will cover a period of several months. Rev. Fr. Lynch will take up his duties at St. Margaret's soon.

The mayor has received the following letter from the Municipal Employes' union:

Municipal Employees' union,
May 14, 1913.

Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell:

Your Honor:—At a meeting of this union a committee was appointed to have a conference with you, at your convenience and if possible the committee would like to have a two days' notice. Hoping for an early reply, I remain,

G. W. Gordon, Secretary.

Strike Called Off

LAWRENCE, May 15.—The strike of local coal handlers and teamsters for a wage increase of 25 cents a day, which began May 5, was called off by the strikers today, who returned to work at the old scale.

Spring Golf Tournament

BROOKLINE, May 15.—The seventeenth renewal of the spring golf tournament at the Country club, one of the oldest golf fixtures in the country, opened today with nearly 100 on the entry rolls. Several New England golfing centers outside of Boston were represented and a number of Harvard students from New York and the west seized the opportunity of playing the course over which the open championship will be decided next fall.

The best 18 in the day's play will continue tomorrow in match play for the Country club cup.

LOWELL BOY INJURED

Found in Freight Yard at Nashua

Duncan Kelley, aged 18 years, this city, was picked up in the East freight yard, Nashua, last night about 9 o'clock and it is believed that he fell or jumped from the passenger train that runs to Nashua from Lowell.

Young Kelley was found in the yard shortly after the passenger train arrived and he was taken on a shifter to the Main street station from which he was taken to the Emergency hospital in the ambulance. He was seriously bruised about the face and is suffering from a scalp wound although Dr. A. W. Shea stated that he is doing well and will be taken to his home within a few days.

He stated that he lived with his parents, 15 Oak street, this city, and his father was immediately sent for.

Worthen Street Church

The Missionary society of the Worthen Street M. E. church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hugh Green, 144 Wentworth avenue, with a large attendance of members present. The society was left without a president when Mrs. Wood was transferred to Somerville and Mrs. C. E. Davis was elected to serve out her term. Reports were presented by the secretary and an address was given by Miss Ellen O'Leary of the Children's Home. It was the voice of the society that the general anti-Mormon work be taken up throughout the city and plans were made accordingly. The mystery box was in charge of Mrs. C. K. Fiske and proved very interesting. Refreshments were served after adjournment had been taken.

MILK TEAM OVERTURNED

In Wild Dash of Horse From An Alley Into Jackson Street Yesterday.

An exciting runaway occurred in an alley off Middlesex street yesterday when a horse drawing a covered milk wagon belonging to the Mountjoy Dairy of North Tewksbury became frightened from some unexplained cause and dashed down to Jackson street, where his flight was brought to a sensational and disastrous end. The animal appeared to be standing quietly enough in the street and a few moments afterward was seen tearing along the short alley in the direction of the Hamilton mills. Coming into Jackson street a couple of men made an attempt to stop the horse, which swerving about, brought the wheels of the wagon in contact with the railroad track in the mill yard, overturning the vehicle with its burden of milk bottles, both empty and full. The horse missed a freight car by a very narrow margin. The driver was not in the wagon at the time of the runaway. The horse received no injury but the wagon appeared to be considerably damaged.

The cart was of the covered variety and as it lay on its side in Jackson street, the interior contained a mixture of milk and broken glass. A great many of the bottles were smashed and the contents of those that were not empty made a stream down the street. A number of passersby stopped to assist the driver in the work of clearing away the debris. The harness and wagon will need some repairing.

Systems of Agriculture

FLORENCE, Italy, May 15.—A large party of members of the commission for the study of European systems of agricultural co-operation and rural credits arrived here today and were received by the United States consul, the mayor and the city aldermen. They immediately set to work on their investigations of the economic conditions prevailing among the agriculturists of Tuscany.

OCEAN TO OCEAN

Enough Cement to Construct Proposed Highway Donated By Cement Manufacturers in Chicago

CHICAGO, May 15.—Enough cement to construct the proposed ocean to ocean highway was donated yesterday by members of an organization of cement manufacturers in session here. Each member agreed to give one per cent. of his annual output for three years. The subscription is estimated to be worth $2,500,000.

The young men of St. Anne's church held a meeting at their rooms last evening, with a large number of members present. Mr. James P. Ramsay, probation officer at the superior court gave a very interesting talk on police work. Bishop Parker of New Hampshire also spoke briefly to the members. The next meeting of the club will be held on May 27th at which arrangements will be made for the last meeting of the year that is to be held on June 10.

MR. THOMAS J. MULLIGAN DEAD

Had Long Been Telegraph Editor on Sun Staff

Untimely Death of a Popular Young Newspaperman

THE LATE THOMAS J. MULLIGAN

After a lingering illness of about six months, Thomas J. Mulligan of The Sun staff passed away at his home, 92 Pleasant street, yesterday afternoon, mourned by a host of friends, who admired him for his many genial qualities, his loyal friendship and his sterling worth.

It was about a year ago that his health first began to give way, but he continued to work as telegraph editor of The Sun until Thanksgiving, when he was advised to take a rest. He quit work with every confidence of soon being restored to perfect health, but in this he was disappointed, although until within a month ago he entertained strong hopes of recovery with the coming of the warm weather. He bore his illness with great fortitude, being conscious to the last and making full arrangements for his funeral.

Mr. Mulligan was about 41 years of age. A native of this city, he attended the old Mann school and later St. Patrick's parochial school, from which he graduated with high honors in 1888. He then entered Holy Cross college, Worcester, where he studied for three years, but did not complete the course. On returning he held a clerical position until 1892, when he became a reporter on The Sun staff. He soon developed into a keen, bright and accomplished newspaperman; became telegraph editor and filled the position with marked ability; his great memory for dates and names, as well as his familiarity with political leaders and political issues fitting him peculiarly for the varied duties of his office.

As an authority on election figures, the comparative strength of political parties, and the influence exerted by individual leaders in city, state and nation he had few equals. He could discuss the standing and power of Tammany leaders as well as if he were a member of the organization.

He was noted for his polite and courteous manner and his faculty of making friends. He was highly esteemed at The Sun office and it was but a short time before his death that his associates at this office, together with the proprietor, combined to express their sympathy for him in a practical way.

Mr. Mulligan served two terms in the school board subsequent to 1891 and was later chosen a member of the board of health. He was closely connected with local political movements and served as chairman of the democratic city committee.

He was for many years a member of the C. Y. M. L., the Knights of Columbus and Industry council, Royal Arcanum. He always showed a great interest in the C. M. I. Cadets, assisting Rev. Fr. Sullivan C. M. I., in every way possible in the various events undertaken to help the Cadets.

Mr. Mulligan is survived by his wife, four daughters, Helen, Dorothy, Marion and Catherine, the eldest of whom is 15 years old, and his mother, Mrs. Ellen Mulligan, of Prince street. The family has the profound sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their sad bereavement. See funeral notice elsewhere.

Intercollegiate Athletic Meet

BERKELEY, Cal., May 15.—Announcement was made today that the University of California track team will participate in the Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. meet at Harvard and will stop on its return journey at Madison, Wis., to take part in the western conference contests. The Madison meet will be held June 7, one week later than the Harvard event.

CALLS NEW PASTOR

Chelmsford Street Church Asks Newton Centre Man to Come to Lowell

Rev. E. A. Trites of Newton Centre has received a unanimous call from the Chelmsford Street Free Baptist church to become its pastor.

Rev. Mr. Trites was recommended to the church by the pulpit committee in the denomination a few months ago, and when he preached in Lowell March 20, he made a very favorable impression.

Mr. Trites is a native of New Brunswick, about 38 years of age, and a graduate of Colby college. He also graduated from the Newton theological seminary in two and one-half years. He has been a pastor in South West Harbor, Me., during which time the membership of his church has grown greatly. He is a leading man among Baptists. He is a strong worker in Sunday school work. Leading business men in the churches where Mr. Trites has served, have given very satisfactory reports as to his work.

Fire In Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 15.—Fire broke out in the Erie elevator at Ohio and Louisiana streets shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon and gained so rapidly that its total destruction appeared inevitable. The elevator has a capacity of 700,000 bushels.

The elevator was loaded to its capacity and the loss on the grain alone is estimated at $500,000. The fire leaped Buffalo creek to the New York Central freight sheds, the South End Y was quickly destroyed.

HEAVY PRESSURE

EVIDENCE ON ACTIVE ISSUES AT OPENING

Heading Was Suddenly Bid Up—Market Became Steadier After Noon—U. S. Steel 5s Dropped

NEW YORK, May 15.—Stocks were under pressure at the opening today. Almost without exception the active issues ranged under yesterday's close. The heaviest losses were sustained by Cotton Oil which fell two points and Canadian Pacific which receded 1¾.

Reading was suddenly bid up a point, causing the general market to reverse its course. Prices did not hold well on the rally and by 11 o'clock the list was below the opening figures. A break of 1½ in American Cotton Oil weakened other fertilizer shares.

With buying reduced to a minimum bear traders undertook a series of selling movements. Their operations were not on a large scale, however, and they accomplished little outside of a few obscure issues. Eagerness to cover at advantageous prices induced occasional rallies but there was little in the general movement to encourage active speculative operations. The announced intention of the governor of California to sign the alien land bill was cited as one source of caution on the part of traders in entering upon new commitments.

Selling orders were withdrawn and the market became steadier. There was little inclination to buy and Canadian Pacific met stock on all rallies. Chesapeake & Ohio and New Haven weakened after displaying early strength. Action on the dividend of both roads is to be taken later in the day.

Speculation in stocks was at a standstill. Traders were non-plussed over the restricted action of the market, tentative operations on both the long and the short side failing to cause anything more than a nominal movement either way. Comment was aroused by a decline in United States Steel 5's to 99¾, the lowest in a long time.

The market closed heavy.

ASSAULTED POLICE OFFICER

Continued

defendant and arresting officer were rolling in the street when the other officers arrived on the scene. Boyle, it seems, tried to break away from Officer Considine and when he did not appear to be succeeding very well struck him several blows in the face with his fist. From the appearance of the two this morning it is safe to say that Boyle came out second best in the encounter. He was charged with drunkenness and also with assaulting an officer while in the performance of his duty. Judge Enright ordered him to be committed to the house of correction for a term of four months on each complaint.

Oleomargarine Cases

State Inspector of Butter Lombard arraigned three defendants before the local court this morning. Nicholas Kennos, of 412 Suffolk street, was charged with selling oleomargarine without having it properly marked. He pleaded not guilty but was fined $100, the minimum penalty for this offence. Albert F. Nealy was charged with serving oleomargarine to guests in place of butter without notifying them of the fact. He was fined $10. Alvfrid Brodie was fined $10 for the same offence.

Cruelty to Horse

The case of Morris Goldman, charged with cruelty to a horse, was continued for one week. Officer Dooley testified that he had ordered the defendant not to drive his horse in its present condition but that witness had not heeded his commands. Dr. Eaton informed the court that he had examined the horse of the defendant and that the animal will never be fit to use again. The case was continued in order to allow Agent Richardson of the Humane society to ascertain just what will be the best disposition to make of the case.

Setting Fires

Parquals Ondinarelle and Luigi Faenzza, a pair who own a small lot in Tewksbury were in court this morning on the church of setting fires in the open air without having a permit to do so from the town authorities. The case was continued until the court could discover whether the town of Tewksbury had adopted the measure which made this a misdemeanor.

Non-Support Case

The case of Michael J. Gaffney, charged with the non-support of his wife, was continued until Saturday. His wife testified that he had not lived up to a previous order of the court which decreed that he should give her seven dollars each week.

Drunken Offenders

Peter J. Larkin pleaded guilty to drunkenness but did not confess to taking a pair of pants from a house on upper Market street. The evidence developed that the defendant has been a worthless personage for some time past. Officer Martin and Sergeant McCloughrey both testified that Larkin had been hanging around Market street for some few weeks and that he had no visible means of support. He was sentenced to four months in the house of correction.

John F. Murphy was fined $5 for his second appearance for drunkenness. There was only one $2 drunk and Probation Officer Slattery allowed two to leave the station without appearing in court.

PURCHASING AGENT

Makes Good Trade on Car Load of Pig Lead Purchased From American Smelting and Refining Co.

Purchasing Agent Foye says that when the H. R. Barker Mfg. Co. advertised a car load of pig lead at $4.47 a hundred pounds, the company was selling on a good profit making basis and Mr. Foye backs up the assertion by pointing to the fact that he has just purchased a car of pig lead for $4.12½ cents a hundred pounds. He bought from the American Smelting and Refining Co., the "Omaha" brand, f. o. b., Lowell. The car is now on its way to Lowell.

Troops Fled From Dead

NEW YORK, May 15.—Roberto Pesqueire, confidential agent here of the rebellious constitutionalists in Sonora, Mexico, received a private message today from an agent at Douglas, Ariz., contradicting reports of a government victory in Sonora as contained in despatches from Mexico City last night. These despatches placed the rebel loss at 400 after a defeat at the hands of Gen. Medina Baron. Today's private message places the federal loss at 300 and adds that the government troops "fled with shame," leaving among the dead three colonels, two lieutenant colonels and four majors, not to mention ammunition, rifles and other equipment.

Vetoes State Income Tax Bill

DENVER, Colo., May 15.—Governor Ammonds last night vetoed the state income tax bill, the bill repealing the anti-boycott law and the boxing bill.

A bill permitting racing under supervision of a racing commission will become a law without the governor's signature, he preferring neither to sign nor to veto the bill.

14 KILLED BY TORNADO

OMAHA, Neb., May 15.—Reports received early today show that the tornado which formed in the southern part of Seward county last night took a toll of 14 lives; injured 40 persons, and destroyed property valued at $250,000. At least three towns—Seward, Tomaro and McCool Junction—suffered from the elements, the greatest destruction being at Seward where eight persons were killed and 14 injured. At Tomaro four lives were lost and much property destroyed. At McCool Junction two deaths occurred.

At Seward the property loss is estimated at $100,000. The tornado apparently originated southwest of McCool Junction and gathering force as it moved to the northeast struck with full force both at Tomaro and Seward. The storm crossed this city near the southern limits but its strength had been so far spent that the damage done here was nominal.

FIRE HOUSE ALTERATIONS

Changes, additions and alterations are being made in the Lawrence street engine house, the High street house and the Gorham street and Branch street engine houses. The expense of the work at each of the houses is estimated at $3500 and it is estimated that the two new boilers to be installed in the Branch street and High street houses will cost $1000, making a total of $15,000 to be expended on the four houses.

The improvements in the Lawrence street house will include six sleeping rooms, a sitting-room, tub and shower bath on the ladder side of the house and the same on the other side of the house.

At the High street house there will be nine sleeping rooms, sitting-room, baths, tub and shower, and a store room. The old ward room in this house will be made smaller.

Ten sleeping rooms, sitting-room and bath will be added at the Gorham street house and at the Branch street house, eleven sleeping rooms, sitting-room and baths.

FELL FROM A STAGING

Arthur Conlon and Chas. Smith Improving

It was found today that Arthur Conlon, who yesterday fell three stories together with Charles Smith when the staging upon which the two were working broke, did not suffer a fractured skull and this afternoon the authorities at the hospital reported that he was able to be up and walk around and will be out shortly. Smith sprained his ankle in the fall and was able to leave the hospital last night. It was believed that Conlon, who struck his head on the sidewalk in falling, had fractured his skull and that the injury might prove fatal. The latest reports from the hospital discredit all this and both men are practically recovered from their injuries.

SIX SUFFRAGETTES HELD

Bail Ranges From $4000 to $15,000

LONDON, May 15.—Six militant suffragette leaders and a male adherent of the "cause" were committed today by Henry Curtis Bennett, the magistrate at Bow street police court to trial at the Old Bailey sessions on charges of conspiracy under the malicious damage to property act. All of them pleaded "not guilty" and reserved their defence. Bail was allowed on the prisoners promising to refrain from all participation in militancy pending their trial.

The amount of the bail ranged from $4,000 in the cases of Miss Alice Lake, Miss Laura Lennox and Mrs. Beatrice Saunders, to $15,000 in the case of the analytical chemist, Clayton.

Confer on Formal Protest of Japan

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Wilson has arranged to confer with Secretary Bryan early today before the cabinet meeting to draft a reply to the formal protest by Japan against the California anti-alien land bill which Gov. Johnson has announced he will sign. The note will be submitted to the cabinet and then delivered to the Japanese ambassador. Indications are that the attitude of the federal government toward the legislation itself as well as questions of discrimination raised by Japan will be fully defined.

The members of the Iroquois Canoe club will hold their annual camp opening and ladies' night at their spacious camp on Lake Mascuppic Friday evening, May 23. The camp will be open to ladies and friends of the members and a good time is assured as the hospitality of this club is widely known. A musical program will be furnished and there will be speakers on hand to add to the enjoyment of the evening. The Iroquois Canoe club has about twenty-five members and they have one of the largest and most attractive camps at Willow Dale. A large boat house is connected with the club and it is well equipped with canoes and boats so that the lovers of this sport always enjoy a visit to the Iroquois club.

DEMOCRACY AND ARISTOCRACY

William J. Bryan, speaking on Tuesday last before the members of the Pennsylvania legislature, on the occasion of the Jefferson anniversary dinner of a democratic club, drew some sharp contrasts between democracy and aristocracy as they are represented in the political life of today. In the course of his remarks he predicted measures of great national importance which twenty years ago would have been considered extreme, but which now are regarded as the logical outcome of the progressive trend of modern politics. Among these was the abolition of conventions for the presidential elections.

Speaking of the distinction drawn between the democratic party and the opposing party in the olden time, Mr. Bryan said: "Jefferson a century ago spoke of two parties. One was the democratic party and the other the aristocratic party. The democratic party is the party that tries to bring the government near the people, and the aristocratic party is that which desires to restrain and obstruct popular government."

This distinction, however, is not openly avowed by political aspirants before election, as the most conservative individual who seeks public office hides his tendencies under the guise of an assumed democracy, and keeps his sails trimmed to catch the breeze of popular favor. Of such, the secretary of state said: "I do not know of any man who ever ran for office on aristocratic ideas, but I have known of some democrats who ran for election on democratic ideas and afterwards adopted the aristocratic views, despite the fact that the democratic view is the popular view."

As to adherence to party platforms, Mr. Bryan exposed the shallow foundation on which party platform repudiation is generally based. A seeker after political office under a definite party enrollment is expected to uphold the principles of that party. But sometimes he finds it expedient for political considerations to modify his views considerably after election, and strive to play to those whom he formerly opposed, attributing his change of sentiment to the urgings of conscience. This not uncommon hypocrisy was exposed by Mr. Bryan in a few brilliant sentences: "No man should violate his conscience, but that does not mean that he should violate his party platform. It means that his conscience should begin to work before he is elected and not afterward. A man who violates his party platform and betrays his party and the people, is a criminal worse than the man who embezzles money."

As an instance of progressive legislation and a change in popular sentiment, the secretary of state then spoke of the delight with which in a few days he will put his signature to the senatorial amendment which is to put the election of the United States senators into the hands of the people. When he advocated such a proceeding 23 years ago, his views were regarded as almost revolutionary, but like many other announcements of his which were at first attributed to a desire for startling effect and eloquence of speech, the country has at last justified his judgment.

In the closing passage of his address, Mr. Bryan predicted that what has come about in the election of senators will soon become true of the election of presidents. His words are simple and direct and ring true with the fine idealism which has come to be identified with the public addresses of President Wilson: "The day of the boss is gone. The people will write their own platforms hereafter and send their own representatives to the legislative halls. And I venture to say that we have seen the last of the great national conventions. I predict that before another presidential election rolls around the presidential primary will become so general that the presidential candidates will be elected not by the bosses or party leaders but by the people."

TO THE FIELDS

The city streets and the gray pavements will soon grow unbearably warm to suffering humanity, and the summer sun will beat down relentlessly. People will swelter under the warm glare and choose the shady side of thoroughfares when going on errands of business or pleasure; weary girls in the stores will pass out their commodities to listless shoppers; clerks will pore over ledgers, with pained expressions, vainly striving to keep baseball visions from intruding between their puzzled brains and the interminable columns where an elusive dime escapes detection. Blasts of warm air will come from factory windows; people will crowd the open trolley cars; children will sit in shady doorways and await the coming of the street sprinklers. Everything will betoken summer in the city.

But it is not far to the city limits in any direction and beyond, nature has spread out her richly variated scroll for our enjoyment and inspection. Cool shady roads wind through pine groves and fields of corn; fruit trees are bursting into blossom and standing like stately brides in veils of glory. Every faint breeze brings fragrance from copse and clearing; streams run trickling by the roadsides singing minor harmonies sweeter than the songs of the world's greatest composers; unseen birds pour lays of ecstatic delight from shaded groves; butterflies, splendid as jewels, flit from flower to flower. Over it all the sunshine that scorches the stifling city falls in a golden shower, sending shafts of light into odorous recesses and drawing up the heart of the earth in fragrance.

Who would linger in the city when the call of the open country is so alluring? When our workday tasks are done let us leave the cares of mart and office behind us; let us bend our steps towards the open fields and the fair, refreshing face of nature. Calm and silence await us. There we shall find a balm of Gilead—a peace that is potent in soothing the wounds which we all suffer in the world's strife. Whether we speed in a luxurious automobile or loiter on foot, we shall be well repaid for the effort which takes us to the country on which is still in summertime the glamor which it had when it first spun through space fresh from the hand of the Creator.

PURE MILK

The suggestion of Mr. Trull at the annual meeting of the Lowell General hospital that the grounds of the institution be utilized for the erection of a barn and the keeping of a sufficiently large number of cows to supply the hospital with milk, calls attention to the general demand for pure milk all over the state. Other cities are now learning from experience how very necessary it is to general health and we, too, have had our lessons in the past. Milk regulations should be rigidly enforced—not when there is an epidemic, but always. Prevention is better than cure in this case as in others, and far cheaper.

BROWN CRITICIZING HIMSELF

As street commissioner, George H. Brown in 1912 when buying street oils designated the kind he wanted when making out his requisition. This year when Street Commissioner Donnelly after careful investigation decided what kind of road oils were most beneficial for the streets of Lowell and recommended them, Mr. Brown raised a great howl just as if some fraud were to be perpetrated upon the city by the mere specification of any particular kind of oil. The requisitions of last year showed that Mr. Brown was criticizing his own policy and further one of its least objectionable features.

CONGRESSMAN ROGER'S SPEECH

Though Congressman Roger's brilliant speech against tariff revision in the national house of representatives was masterful and eloquent, one cannot help but feel that it reflects the spirit of discarded policies. Its wealth of statistics and technical information showed study and thought, but it savored of the advocacy of high protection which has brought the republican party into popular disfavor. It was worthy of the palmy days of the stand patters.

Seen and Heard

The friend had dropped in to see D'Auber, the great animal painter, put the finishing touches on his latest painting. He was mystified, however, when D'Auber took some raw meat and rubbed it vigorously over the painted rabbit in the foreground.

"Why on earth did you do that?" he asked.

"Why you see," explained D'Auber, "Miss Millions is coming to see this picture today. When she sees her pet poodle smell that rabbit and get excited over it she'll buy it on the spot."

A teacher in one of the primary grades of the public school had noticed a striking platonic friendship that existed between Tommy and little Mary, two of her pupils.

Tommy was a bright enough youngster, but he wasn't disposed to prosecute his studies with much energy, and his teacher said that unless he stirred himself before the end of the year he wouldn't be promoted.

"You must study harder," she told him, "or you won't pass. How would you like to stay back in this class another year and have little Mary go ahead of you?"

"Ah," said Tommy, "I guess there'll be other little Marys."

Some people have a propensity for the blues that they conquer in time. One dear lady, the most charming, cultivated, and talented woman of my world, once said to me:

"When I was a little girl, I used to get terribly angry and sad and annoyed at what I romantically termed 'the indifference of the cold, cold world.' And often I would go up to my room to relieve my tortured feelings. This is what I always did: I had a large mahogany bed—one of the family heirlooms—for my very own, and when I wanted most to scream, and to cry, and to say unkind things, I would stand in front of that bed and bite it hard! And when my teeth began to ache, my blues began to disappear. My bed will always have little dents in it, but, my dear, each dent stands for a victory!" says the Christian Herald.

In a large city at nightfall, when the lamps are lighted, have you ever observed the streams of girls flowing into the streets from the offices and great department stores? And have you asked yourself where and how do these girls live?

The majority of girls who work live at home and, in many cases, have to a certain extent the protection of their family. But an ever-increasing number of girls are entering the towns and cities, quite alone and friendless, to earn their way. These girls either keep house, live in families, in boarding and lodging houses or in the organized boarding house.

The girl who lives at home usually gives all her earnings to her parents—over 84 per cent working in shops, and 88 per cent in factories in New York city, and a similar number in Chicago and St. Louis. The parents rely upon their daughters for an exact amount of income, so that these girls are in no sense "pin money workers."

In New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, Minneapolis and St. Paul, it has been estimated that about 65,000 girls, exclusive of stenographers, office girls, nurses and teachers, are without homes, and entirely dependent upon themselves for support. Several girls may join together and rent a two or three-room flat. After their daily work of eight to twelve hours in factory, shop or office, is over, they have the housework to do—cleaning, cooking, washing and sewing.

Fortunate is the girl who can find a home with some respectable tenement house family. Girls living in this way usually associate with the family, using all rooms in common.

The most dangerous way in which a girl can live is in a lodging, or as they are called "a furnished-room house." Investigations of forty-three boarding and lodging houses in one city showed that five were known to be houses where fast women lived. Not only were good and bad houses on the same block, but good and bad people were living in the same house. Seeing how easy it is for them to get plenty to eat, pretty clothes to wear, and to have "good times," what temptations are placed in the way of such girls living in houses with immoral women!

Can you not see the relationship between unsanitary, overcrowded homes, the loneliness and often vicious environment of many lodging houses, and human waste and immorality? says Edith M. Hadley in The Survey.

WOMAN COULD NOT WALK

She Was So Ill—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pentwater, Mich.—"A year ago I was very weak and the doctor said I had a serious displacement. I had backache and bearing down pains so bad that I could not sit in a chair or walk across the floor and I was in severe pain all the time. I felt discouraged as I had taken everything I could think of and was no better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am strong and healthy."—Mrs. ALICE DARLING, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 77, Pentwater, Mich.

Read What Another Woman says:

Peoria, Ill.—"I had such backaches that I could hardly stand on my feet. I would feel like crying out lots of times, and had such a heavy feeling in my right side. I had such terrible dull headaches every day and they would make me feel so drowsy and sleepy all the time, yet I could not sleep at night.

"After I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a week I began to improve. My backache was less and that heavy feeling in my side went away. I continued to take the Compound and am cured.

"You may publish this if you wish."—Miss CLARA L. GAUWITZ, R.R. No. 4, Box 62, Peoria, Ill.

Such letters prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for woman's ills. Why don't you try it?

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Conspiracies

Worcester Post: Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi is authority for the statement that not only will the government bureau of commerce investigate cases of mill closings or wage-cuts for the purpose of "tariff scare," but the department of justice will also prosecute them. The law applied to labor unions he thinks to be also adapted to dealing with "conspiracies" of this kind. But, as the Post has said, there is going to be little need of it, because our manufactures are generally operating with conservative good sense in the matter. And whatever the objection to federal action of this kind, it can at least hurt nobody that has not acted wrongly.

Currency Reform

Newport News: President Wilson and the democratic leaders in Washington are trying to frame a currency reform bill which will give the merchants and farmers of the country, as well as the bankers, a share in the control. The president hopes, in dealing with the subject, which is recognized as a very difficult one, that a system which the American Bankers association will endorse can be devised, as he wishes to enlist the co-operation of all branches of the country's business in the writing of the law, and to that end is consulting professional bankers, merchants and agriculturalists. His efforts in this direction should meet hearty co-operation everywhere.

The Canton Epidemic

Lynn Item: When an epidemic breaks out in a town it would seem to be the duty of the local board of health to give it immediate attention, and for the protection of a wider circle the state board should promptly respond. The fatality in Canton has been large, much larger than it should have been. The suspected cause of the trouble has not yet been removed; the dairy from which the milk was distributed was still at work at last accounts. The merits of the controversy between the two boards are still debatable, and it would almost seem as though the members were more intent on fighting each other than on attacking the disease. It is a deplorable condition, and great distress and sorrow have resulted. It is high time that official differences were laid aside and efforts concentrated on restoring the health of a stricken people.

Canning Industry

Portland Express: The canning industry which was comparatively unknown to our grandmothers, save a few home products that were placed in glass jars, most fruits being dried or preserved, has increased wonderfully in late years until the majority of housekeepers buy more vegetables, fruits, etc., canned than in their original state. Some idea of the canning industry may be formed from the fact the industrial side of the American Can company's operations represent an elaborate organization which last year called for the production of two billions of common cans used in the putting up of fish, vegetables, soup, fruit, etc., and this does not include thousands of other kinds of products made by the company.

GOV. JOHNSON TO SIGN LAND BILL

FOUR LEADING FIGURES IN CALIFORNIA AFFAIR

Wires Sec. Bryan He Can't Agree to Pres. Wilson's Request to Veto Anti-Japanese Measure

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 15.—Expressing his determination to sign the alien land bill, recently passed by the legislature, Gov. Hiram W. Johnson of California yesterday telegraphed to Secretary of State Bryan a long explanation of the action taken by the legislature.

The message was in answer to the request telegraphed to the governor by Secretary Bryan at the direction of President Wilson that the bill be vetoed.

The governor's message follows:

"The Hon. William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.

"Your very courteous telegram relating to the alien land bill reached me late Sunday night. I take it from our conversations and your request made to me to withhold executive action until opportunity was accorded for the presentations from the federal government, that your message embodies what it was your wish, and the wish of the president, to say to us before final action.

"In this response it is my design most respectfully to present the situation from our standpoint and the views that actuated our legislature in passing the bill and that impel me to sanction it.

Recognized 30 Years Ago

"For many years a very grave problem, little understood in the east, has confronted California, a problem the seriousness of which has been recognized by statesmen in our nation, and has been viewed with apprehension by the people of this state. When the present constitution of California was adopted, more than 30 years ago, it contained the following declaration:

"'The presence of foreigners ineligible to become citizens of the United States is declared to be dangerous to the well-being of the state, and the legislature shall discourage their immigration by all means within its power.'

"Of late years our problem from another angle has become acute, and the agitation has been continuous in the last decade in reference to our agricultural lands, until finally affirmative action in an attempted solution became imperative. This attempted solution is found in the act of our legislature in the passage of the alien land bill.

Imperatively Demanded

"In the phraseology of this bill, in those whom it affects, in its scope and in its purpose, we believe we are within our legal and our moral rights, and that we are doing only what is imperatively demanded for the protection and preservation of our state. In this enactment we have kept ever in mind our national good faith, as evidenced by existing treaties, and our desire and anxiety have been to act only in such fashion as would commend us to our sister states and would justify us to our fellow countrymen.

"The objections to our bills are based first upon the treaty obligations of the nation, and secondly, upon the assertion that our act is offensive and discriminating. The protest to our measure, as your telegram states, comes from the representative of Japan."

Made Treaties Part of Law

"The bill that is now before me provides substantially in its first section that all aliens eligible to citizenship under the laws of the United States may acquire real property in the same manner as citizens of the United States, and the second section provides that all aliens other than those mentioned in the first section may acquire real property in the manner and to the extent and for the purpose prescribed by any treaty now existing between the government of the United States and the nation or country of which such aliens are citizens or subjects, and may in addition lease for a period of three years, lands for agricultural purposes.

"Thus we have made existing treaties a part of our law, and thus we have preserved every right that any foreign nation by international contract has insisted upon preserving with our national government.

"The treaty of 1911 with Japan, in reference to the citizens and subjects of each country, provides that they shall have 'liberty to own or lease, or occupy house, manufactories, warehouses and shops; to employ agents of their choice; to lease land for residential and commercial purposes, and generally to do anything incident to or necessary for trade upon the same terms as native citizens or subjects, submitting themselves to the laws and regulations there established.'

"We assume that the right of Japanese to own real property for the purposes described is absolute in our state, and we seek to deal only with our agricultural lands.

"We embody the treaty in our law and we add to it permission to lease our agricultural lands for the period of three years.

Goes Further Than Treaty

"Where such extraordinary care has been exercised to preserve honor and good faith, in the very words of the contract made by the protesting nation with our own and to do more by authorizing leases of agricultural lands, it would seem that we ought not to be open to any accusation of violation of treaty rights or of desire to entrench upon that which belongs alone to the national government or which might become a matter of international policy.

"By the law adopted we offer no offence; we make no discrimination. The offence and discrimination are contained, it is claimed, in the use of the words 'eligible to citizenship' and in making a distinction between those who are eligible to citizenship and those who are not. We do not mention the Japanese or any particular race. The constitution of California, in 1879, made its distinction and there never has been protest or objection.

Naturalization Laws

"The naturalization laws of the United States, long since, without demur from any nation, determined who were and who were not eligible to citizenship. If invidious discrimination ever were made in this regard the United States made it when the United States declared who were and who were not eligible to citizenship and when we but follow and depend upon the statutes of the United States and their determination as to eligibility to citizenship, we cannot be accused of indulging in invidious discrimination.

"May I venture to call your attention to the immigration law now pending in congress, which passed both houses of the last congress, where apparently certain classes, who shall be excluded from our country, are described as 'persons who cannot become eligible under existing laws to become citizens of the United States.' At this very moment the national legislature without protest or objection—indeed it is published in California by express consent—is using the terms that are claimed in California's law to be offensive and discriminatory.

In Three Other States

"At least three states in the Union have in the past enacted laws similar to the contemplated law of California and the enactments of those other states have been without objection or protest. That the protest is now made in respect to California, and demonstrates that California is differently viewed than other states of the Union and that if discrimination exists it is discrimination against California.

"We insist that justly no offence can be taken by any nation to this law, and more particularly does this seem to be clear in the instance of a nation like Japan, that by its own law prevents acquisition of land by aliens. It is most respectfully submitted that, after all, the question is not whether any offence has been taken, but whether justly it should be taken. I voice, I think, the sentiment of the majority of the legislature of this state, when I say that if it had been believed that offence could justly be taken by any nation to the proposed law, that law would not have been enacted.

"We of California believe firmly that in our legislative dealings with this alien land question we have violated absolutely no treaty rights. We have shown no discrimination; we have given to no nation the right to be justified in taking offence. So, believing with a strong reliance on the justice and the righteousness of our cause, and with due deference and courtesy and with proper consideration for the feelings and the views of others, we had hoped the authorities at Washington would have seen the question as we in this state have been forced to see it—as we must see it or be blind.

"And so, with all respect and courtesy, the state of California feels it its bounden duty to citizens to do that which the interests of its people demand; that which the conscience of its people approves; that which violates no treaty rights; that which presents no discrimination, and that which can give no just cause for offence.

"You have suggested to me delay, but this question was very earnestly and fully presented by you to our legislature, and the legislature determined to proceed. My province is to approve or disapprove the law as presented. Our people as represented in the legislature have overwhelmingly expressed their desire for the present alien land bill. The vote in the senate was 35 to 2 and in the assembly 72 to 3. With such unanimity of opinion, even did I hold other views, I would feel it my plain duty to sign the bill unless some absolutely controlling necessity demanded contrary action. Apparently no such controlling necessity exists.

"It is with the highest respect for yourself and the president that I feel my duty to my state compels me to approve the action of the legislature.

(Signed) "Hiram Johnson.

"Governor of California."

Corp. Dorer Tells of His Travels

HAS VISITED EVERY STATE IN THE UNION

Now Member of Local Recruiting Station Served in Swiss Army Before Coming to America

Corporal Arthur E. Dorer, a man of wide military experience both in this country and elsewhere, has come from the main recruiting station of Boston to assist Sergeant Robert J. Carney of the Lowell auxiliary station. Corporal Dorer was interviewed by a representative of The Sun this morning and told an interesting story of his life in the army.

Corporal Dorer is a native of England and early in life went to Switzerland where he had near relatives. While there he became a citizen of the country and according to the law of that land, was obliged to serve one year in the Swiss army. This was his first experience in military life and he was highly pleased with it, though the life in the Swiss army was quite hard. In that country, the chief duties of the army are to guard and protect the frontier against invasions and prevent other nations from making it a field for their activities and maneuvers in times of war. The reason of this can be seen from the location of the country. The work was rough and the men were forced to range the mountains, enduring all sorts of weather and privation, even though there was no actual warfare.

In Switzerland, in which country are many Italians, French and Germans, Corporal Dorer was educated, having received his early mental training in England. It was about eight years ago that he came to America and his naturalization as a citizen of the United States necessitated his renouncing allegiance to both England and Switzerland. The army life again attracted him and he enlisted for three years, serving first in the coast artillery and in an isolated fort in North Carolina. The first term of service was uneventful and at the end of the three years he again enlisted, this time for the training station service, a more interesting branch of the army life and one which affords excellent opportunity for travel and broad experience. He was assigned to work at Fort Slocum on Long Island, one of the several training stations in the country where the recruits are sent to be educated in the duties and requirements of the army. Fort Slocum is the station where all the recruits from the east are concentrated. These, as circumstances arise, are dispatched to various posts and forts throughout the country and usually from 50 to 300 are sent at one time.

Special arrangements are made with the railroads for their transportation and when the number of soldiers is sufficiently large, special trains with dining cars and other conveniences are provided. The men in the training service are assigned to accompany these recruits to their destination, acting as a sort of guard or guide, and that is the work in which Corporal Dorer was engaged for three years. When one of the officers conveys a number of recruits to a certain place, he is allowed to return traveling first class, as a tourist and the government allows a stated amount daily for incidental expenses. He has the best of accommodations and conveniences on the trip and is permitted to stop over for a few days in the larger cities on his return trip for the purpose of sight-seeing, general enjoyment, etc. This is a pleasant feature of the service. During his period in this department, Corporal Dorer at a rough estimate covered about 25,000 miles by rail, and visited practically every state in the union. His third enlistment was for the recruiting service and in this he has been very energetic and successful. In this city he is active in the publicity work.

The corporal is high in his praise of army life and said this morning that it would have to be an extraordinarily inviting and profitable opportunity as a civilian that would induce him to renounce his military career. He says that the army has everything to offer a man and that moreover the man is sure of having the promises fulfilled. Most of the training stations have all the facilities for amusement that are found in the large cities, including free pool rooms, bowling alleys, baseball, theatres, dancing, etc.,

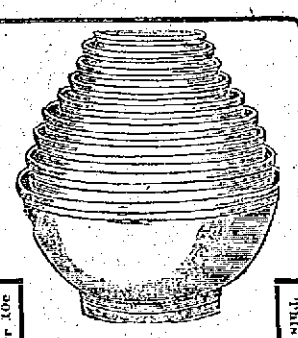

Application is only a start in the work of a recruit and those who apply at Lowell are sent to Fort Slocum where they have to undergo an examination by specialists. Upon their application at the station here, they are superficially examined for defects of vision, etc. The corporal stated that in his experience, about 25 per cent of those who apply are accepted, showing the strict quality of the requirements. Corporal Dorer is pleased with Lowell and considers the district a good field for his work.

GUILTY OF INCITING RIOT

I.W.W. Leader Convicted at Paterson, N. J.

PATERSON, N. J., May 15.—Patrick Quinlan, industrial Worker of the World leader, indicted with William D. Haywood, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Treska and Adolph Lessig in connection with recent silk mill strike riots, was convicted at his second trial yesterday. The jury in the first trial failed to reach a verdict. The jury yesterday was out only two hours. It found Quinlan guilty of inciting the riot.

Quinlan was not present when the verdict was announced. His counsel promised, however, to have his client in court on whatever date is fixed for sentence. As the convicted leader is still under $7500 bond, Judge Klenert said that he would not issue a bench warrant for his arrest.

TO COMPLETE THE HIGHWAY

In Dracut and Methuen the Sum of $30,000

Is Favored by Committee on Ways and Means

The committee on ways and means in the senate yesterday reported "ought to pass" on the appropriation of $30,000 for the completion of the state highway in Dracut and Methuen, which will carry through the road between Lowell and Lawrence.

To Remove Elevated

Before taking up the railroad bill the house by a vote of 136 to 83 refused to reject the bill giving the harbor and land commissioners $5,000,000 for river and harbor improvements. The bill therefore takes its place in the calendar for today.

By voice vote the house substituted for an adverse report the bill providing for the removal of the Elevated structure between the North station and Sullivan square and the substitution of a subway.

The resolve providing for the appointment of a commission to devise a system of state, county and municipal pensions was passed to be engrossed.

All of the amendments to the bill to permit electric light and power companies to issue bonds to twice the amount of their capital stock were rejected, after which the bill was passed to be engrossed, 90 to 7.

The initiative and referendum amendment of the constitution was assigned for debate today.

Roads and bridges reported a bill providing for the construction of a new bridge over the Neponset river, between the town of Milton and the city of Boston, the cost to be apportioned as follows: Norfolk county, 40 percent; Suffolk county, 40 percent; town of Milton, 10 percent; city of Quincy, 10 percent.

Social welfare reported a bill providing that women and children employed in more than one place shall not be permitted to work an aggregate of more than 54 hours in one week.

The order requesting the railroad commissioners to report as to the feasibility of providing more adequate fire protection for Mystic wharf was adopted.

The committee on agriculture reported a bill appropriating $80,000 for additional improvements at the Massachusetts Agricultural college.

Metropolitan affairs reported a bill providing that no building hereafter erected in Boston shall be used for kiln drying unless of fireproof construction.

The same committee reported reference to the next general court on the report of the metropolitan district fire commission. Senator Williams and Representatives Bothfield, Beck, Peirce and Dolben dissent.

Film Bill Beaten

The senate spent the last part of the day on the bill to extend the time of exhibiting films for serial pictures from 20 minutes to one hour, and to limit the exposure of kinemacolor films to 20 minutes, which was defeated two weeks ago. By a vote of 14 to 7 reconsideration prevailed.

Senator Blanchard of Somerville moved the reconsideration of the vote whereby the senate on April 24 amended this bill to substitute 45 minutes for one hour. A spirited debate ensued, with the result that the bill was again rejected by voice vote.

Senator Montague pressed his amendments to the Boston firemen's pension bill by striking out the words "or any member of fire force" and by making the retirement age "55 years instead of 50." Senator Hobbs opposed the amendments, believing the bill should stand as it is. The first Montague amendment was rejected by a voice vote, and the second was rejected by a rollcall, 14 to 16. Then on motion of Senator Montague the matter went over to the next session.

The amendment of Senator Clark, that the provision in the pharmacy bill that no unregistered copartner or unregistered stockholder in a corporation doing a retail drug business shall hereafter be actively employed in the drug business, shall not apply to those engaged in said business at the time of the passage of the act, was adopted, and then the bill was passed to be engrossed.

P. A. C., Boathouse, tonight.

Proper Care of Hair and Complexion

(The Home Doctor)

Scalp-cleanliness means everything in growing and preserving beautiful hair, because only from a clean scalp will healthy hair grow. By shampooing with a teaspoonful of canthrox (which costs little) dissolved in cup hot water, immaculate cleanliness results; dandruff and scalp-discomfort are removed instantly, your head feels good, the hair dries quickly and takes on a most soft fluffiness and lustre without any tendency to become streaky, brittle or harsh.

No woman will have cause to complain of shininess or sallow, oily skin if, instead of face powder, she uses spurmax-lotion which, when on, seems part of skin. This wonderful skin-whitener and complexion-beautifier is easily made at home at small cost by dissolving 4 ounces spurmax in ½ pint witch hazel (or hot water) then adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. It does not show when on, nor does it rub off as easily as powder, and it keeps the skin smooth and fresh, and protects it from chapping.

SMART FIRE IN BOX SHOP

Cady Plant in Danger Last Night

A dangerous fire broke out in the shavings shed and boiler room of Cady's box shop in Western avenue shortly after 8 o'clock last evening and gave the firemen a lively battle before being finally subdued. The construction and material of the building were such as to afford the flames rapid headway and cause a disastrous conflagration in the neighborhood.

The prompt and efficient work of the fire department was the means of preventing great damage and the fire was confined to the portion of the building where it originally started. Some of the employes were at work in the plant last evening and thus it was that the blaze was discovered in time. An alarm was rung in from box 121. On one side of the building, the flames and smoke burst forth lighting up the vicinity and causing many to think that the buildings were doomed. The firemen, however, set to work with a vengeance and did not pause until the blaze had been completely extinguished, the work requiring more than a half hour.

Another Alarm

Later in the evening, shortly after half past nine, another alarm was rung in from the same box and hearing it, a great crowd immediately ran to the scene, thinking that it was an indication that the flames had spread and more men and apparatus were needed. The second call was sent in by someone who had seen sparks in the shavings where the first fire had been.

Mr. Cady has not made any accurate estimate of the damage as yet, but the loss was covered by insurance. He hopes to have everything in running order today sometime as the machinery and engine were not damaged by the the flames.

23 YEARS IN PRISON

Food Thief Pardoned by Gov. Hodges

TOPEKA, Kan., May 15.—Upon information that he had spent 23 of his 30 years of life in prison for no other crime than the theft of a meal and a watch worth $3, Arthur Patten was paroled from the state penitentiary yesterday by Gov. Hodges.

The governor announced it as his belief that "society had committed a crime against Patten." He sent the paroled man to a farm "to become a citizen."

According to information furnished the governor, Patten was the victim of environment, and except for two weeks has been in custody since he was seven years old, when he was sent to the state reformatory as an incorrigible youth, after stealing a cheap watch.

After four years in the reformatory he was paroled. He could find no work. One night, hungry, he entered a farmhouse in Osage county while the family was away and ate remains of a supper he found in the pantry. For this his parole was revoked and he was returned to the reformatory. When his term was up he was taken back to Osage county, tried and sentenced to prison for burglary in the second degree for eating the farmer's supper.

LEGAL NOTICES

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUsetts. Middlesex, ss. Probate Court. To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Harry W. Folsom, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Florence E. Folsom, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, on the twentieth day of May, A. D. 1913, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this seventh day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John H. Swett to Fred A. Buttrick, Trustee under a certain deed of trust given by Gertrude Talbot, now called Gertrude Talbot Taylor, wife of M. Allison Taylor, of Haverhill, in the County of Essex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, dated December 12, 1911 and recorded with Middlesex North District Deeds, Book 474, Page 257, for breach of the condition of said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Saturday, the seventh day of June, 1913 at 3.30 p. m., all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described as follows:

"A certain parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Lowell on the southerly side of Pine street bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at the northwesterly corner of the premises at said street and at land now or formerly of Alma Prescott; thence running southerly on said Prescott land and land now or formerly of M. G. Perkins to a corner at land of said Perkins; thence easterly by said Perkins land, land now or formerly of G. E. King and land now or formerly of M. H. Wiley, to land now or formerly of Franklin Martin; thence northerly by said Martin land and land formerly of J. L. Hunt, deceased, to said street; thence westerly by said street to the point of beginning. Containing about fourteen thousand square feet, and being a portion of the premises conveyed to me by Josiah Sawtell by deed acknowledged December 9, 1863 and recorded with Middlesex North District Deeds in Book 64, Page 545."

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, assessments and tax sales, if any there are.

Terms: $250 cash to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale; other terms at sale.

FUNERAL OF REV. FR. GLEASON

Held at Randolph and Was Largely Attended

Rt. Rev. Mgr. O'Brien and Other Lowell Priests Present

THE LATE REV. D. J. GLEASON.

The funeral of Rev. Daniel J. Gleason, for sixteen years pastor of St. Mary's church, Randolph, Mass., and formerly of this city, took place yesterday forenoon at Randolph and was the largest seen in that town for many years.

The body was conveyed from the rectory on Tuesday at 4, escorted by the altar boys and clergy, to the church, where it lay in state until yesterday morning. It was guarded by details from the several Catholic societies, and was viewed by throngs of people in all walks of life from this and surrounding towns.

At 10 yesterday morning a solemn high mass was celebrated with Rev. Andrew Fitzgerald of South Braintree, as celebrant; Rev. Thomas F. Brannan of St. Edward's church, Montello, as deacon; Rev. William E. Keating of St. Patrick's church, Brockton, as subdeacon; Rev. William Tierney of Revere, thurifer; Rev. John J. O'Donnell of Abington and Rev. John P. Ryan of Rockland, acolytes; Rev. John J. McMahon of Randolph, master of ceremonies. Bishop Anderson of Boston was seated in the sanctuary, and was attended by Mgr. O'Brien of Lowell, a close relative of the deceased, and Rev. W. H. Fitzgerald of St. Gregory's church, Milton.

After the solemn high mass had been said, the burial service was read, after which a eulogy was delivered by Rev. Richard Boylan of East Boston.

In the front of the church were seated many prominent priests from all sections of the state, and representatives of the Catholic societies in town.

The Gregorian requiem was sung by the priests' sanctuary choir, under the direction of Rev. M. J. Scanlon of the cathedral, Boston.

The floral tributes were the largest and handsomest ever seen in this town, and consisted of set pieces, sprays and bouquets from the several societies connected with the church, and friends in this and surrounding towns.

The ushers were: John A. Hoye, chief; Robert A. O'Brien, Michael H. Brady, Charles S. Dolan, John T. Moore, John P. Rooney, Edward M. Bracken, James H. Dunphy, Joseph R. McMahon and James J. Shea.

At the close of the services the body was conveyed from the church to the hearse by the pall bearers, Judge J. T. Enright, Dr. M. J. Meagher and Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, Eugene L. McAuliffe, Dr. George V. Higgins, Jas. A. Brennan, Timothy Lyons and Chas. D. Hill. The honorary bearers were from the Young Men's Catholic Lyceum association, Div. 3, A. O. H.; St. Mary's court, M. C. O. F., and Vera Cruz council, K. of C.; and were: Jere J. Linehan, J. Joseph Hurley, Farrell H. Cain, Timothy M. O'Leary, Thomas F. Mahoney, Daniel P. McCarthy, Joseph P. Kelliher and Frank J. McSnelly.

Shortly after 11 the procession started for St. Mary's cemetery on North street, under the marshalship of Jos. T. Leahy, with James Fardy as aid, headed by the Young Men's Catholic Lyceum association as escort, followed by Div. 3, A. O. H.; St. Mary's court, M. C. O. F.; Vera Cruz council, K. of C.; and the altar boys of the church.

During the service at the church and the passing of the procession, the public schools were closed and business was suspended in the factories and stores.

The following is a list of the clergymen who attended the mass: Rev. T. W. Smith, O. M. I., Lowell; Rev. Joseph Lawless, Arlington; Rev. L. F. Tighe, Lowell; Rev. James H. O'Neil, East Boston; Rev. J. F. Hamilton, Whitman; Rev. William McDonough, Boston; Rev. J. J. O'Hearn, Charlestown; Rev. J. T. Mullen, Hudson; Rev. J. W. Hickey, Beachmont; Rev. M. F. Burns, Boston College; Rev. James T. McNiff, Atlantic; Rev. D. S. Sheerin, East Boston; Rev. F. W. Coughlin, Pepperell; Rev. A. J. Gunning, Mission church, Roxbury; Rev. F. J. Hally, Malden; Rev. W. J. Fennessey, Arlington; Rev. D. C. Reardon, Newton; Rev. John F. Cull, Atlantic; Rev. E. A. Carney, Roxbury; Rev. J. P. Flynn, O. M. I., Lowell; Rev. W. A. Connor, Dorchester; Rev. James F. Stanton, Stoughton; Rev. F. J. Billings, Abington; Rev. Henry Walsh, South Natick; Rev. Charles Ring, Roxbury; Rev. John J. Gallagher, Andover; Rev. P. B. Murphy, South Boston; Rev. Charles F. Glennon, Avon; Rev. O'Brien of Chicago, both relatives of Fr. Gleason, Rev. Wm. J. Culbert of Portland, Me., and Rev. Wm. J. O'Brien, of Brockton.

TRAGEDY OF THE TROPICS

United States Minister to Columbia Writes

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A tragedy of the tropics depicting the helplessness of the United States government to succor its citizens who meet with misfortune in foreign countries was revealed in correspondence made public today by James T. Dubers, United States minister to Colombia, who has just returned to this country.

The correspondence told graphically of the death of Vice Consul Frank L. McKernan at Bogota from tropical fever. McKernan left a widow, a young daughter and his aged mother destitute. A message to the state department brought word that while the department would pay the expenses of shipping the body home there was no fund to cover the traveling expenses of the family. The plight of the family was relieved by an American steamship company providing them with free passage to New York.

Committee Meets Tonight

It has been announced that tonight there will be a meeting of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the annual lawn party of St. Margaret's church which is to take place on June 18 at the Kasino grounds in Thorndike street. Thus far, the officers chosen are the following: General manager, Frank W. Foye; secretary and treasurer, George P. Green; chairman of sports committee, William Whitson; chairman of refreshment committee, John Barrett and chairman of ladies' committee, Mrs. Daniel Donovan. Special features are being prepared to be presented on this occasion.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Millie

"Many good faces are spoiled and look characterless because the eyebrows and lashes are not well defined. Thin and straggly eyebrows will be improved in color and grow longer and more evenly if gently massaged with pyroxin. Pyroxin has the same good effect if massaged into the eyelash roots.

"Women detest superfluous hair on the face and forearms because it gives them a masculine appearance and detracts from true feminine charm. To remove superfluous hair cover the surface with a paste made by mixing a little powdered delatone with water; leave on two minutes, wipe off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

"Aches and pains cause the face to contract and form wrinkles. Mother's Salve, which can be bought in prepared form in any neighborhood, gives almost instant relief from pains and aches in back, or joints, sore muscles, rheumatism and neuralgia.

"The springtime is the season of youth, when every girl desires to look her very best. For a complexion of lilies and roses, apply each morning a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. It corrects blotched, pimply and sallow complexions and leaves the skin smooth, white, soft and lovely.

"A shampoo that merely washes the head is not sufficient. The parasites that cause falling, dull, faded and brittle hair must be removed. Mother's Shampoo does this and leaves the scalp in a condition to encourage the growth of hair. It prevents baldness and makes the hair glossy, fluffy and fine."

LOWELL CHORAL SOCIETY

torio had been gone over until there was a note of confidence in last evening's performance which only a thorough acquaintance with the score can give. The chorus was particularly fine. In volume of tone, delicate shading of expression, enunciation, and quality it showed that it is capable of performing the most difficult passages, for to give such a performance of Haydn is to show an understanding of the best in music.

The Principals

The Choral society made a very happy selection in the choice of the three principals, Mrs. Marie Sundelius, Mr. Paul Althouse, and Mr. Frederic Martin. They all sang with wonderful expression and in the passages that called for singing in trio their voices blended beautifully. The wonderfully descriptive oratorio depends for its effect largely on the orchestra, and the Boston festival orchestra proved equal to the occasion, giving an excellent interpretation of some of the longer descriptive passages. Mr. Wilfred Kershaw of this city presided capably at the piano.

Mrs. Marie Sundelius

Mrs. Sundelius has a soprano voice of rare beauty flexible and flutelike, and she was equally at home in the recitatives and in the florid passages. In the high range her voice had the clearness of a bell at times, and the delicate shading of expression and perfect enunciation made it a delight to hear her. Particularly pleasing was her rendering of the air "With verdure clad," in which the lofty description of the growing things of the earth and the forests with their flowers and fruit, gave her an opportunity to display her voice to great advantage. In the still more beautiful "On mighty pens" she reached great heights and her bird like tones blended with the accompaniment of the soft wind instruments made an interpretation that will long be remembered by those present. In the passages describing the cooing of the dove and the thrilling notes of the nightingale who sang before "to a mournful tale were tuned her soft, enchanting lays," she was exquisite.

Mr. Althouse

Mr. Paul Althouse is no stranger to a Lowell audience having been here before in past performances of the society but in the "Creation" he had a vehicle to test his powers. He sang with great ease and with a pleasing absence of affectation, showing great familiarity with the score. He gave the impression of reserved power and rarely swelled out in the limits of his voice, which is round and full. In the recitative passages his enunciation was splendid and he never sacrificed the meaning of the passage to dramatic effect. There is a fresh quality in his voice, due to his youth, which makes it particularly appropriate to the theme of Uriel, and "In splendor bright" his delicate shading of expression was very pleasing. He sang "In native worth" with vigor and animation and showed that he is capable of strength as well as of sweetness in the more sustained passages.

Mr. Martin

The work of Mr. Martin throughout the entire oratorio was of a high order. To him fell much of the narrative and the great variety of treatment which is peculiar to Haydn. In the opening passages he sang with appropriate solemnity and throughout he sustained the biblical atmosphere which is the distinguishing characteristic of the "Creation." His voice is resonant and powerful and capable of great expression. For a voice of such volume and magnitude he manages it well and sings the lighter touches and staccato passages with grace and delicacy. In the grandly descriptive passage, "Now furious storms tempestuous rage," he was powerful, and in "Let the earth bring forth," he described the teeming life of the primeval earth from the roar of the mighty lion to the swarms of insects "unnumber'd as the sands" in a way that would satisfy the most exacting.

An Unbidden Guest

During the singing of this passage, as if in protest at not being mentioned, a tiny mouse caused quite a commotion by walking up one of the aisles, crossing over at the stage and returning via the other aisle. Although there was an air of suppressed excitement, it is to the honor of the Lowell ladies for all time that no one fainted and there was not a single case of hysterics. The titter of laughter which followed its appearance reached the stage, and at the end of the zoological passage, the three principals as well as the chorus laughed heartily. Possibly the mouse was charmed by the music as were the other rodents as told in the lay of the "Pied Piper of Hamlin."

The Chorus

Throughout the entire oratorio the work of the chorus was excellent. Where they sang of praise and glory of God for his marvelous works there was a gradual reaching to a climax which swelled out in triumphant melody. "Despairing, cursing rage" was given with a vigorous power suitable to the theme of the fallen angels and in "the Heavens are telling the glory of God," there was a reverent calm that brought out the idea of wonder. In the final passage "Sing the Lord ye voices all," they worked up to a grand crescendo that echoed in full volume in the majestic triumph of the final "Amen" of praise.

No description of last evening's performance would be complete without reference to the fine work of the conductor, Eusebius G. Hood, who had perfect control over his large chorus, and who was followed closely throughout the performance. It was gratifying to him to see his efforts so well appreciated, and the music loving people of this city may feel assured that the future of the Choral society is in good hands.

Next Summer's Vacation Where Shall We Go?

For children and for all who need a splendid rest among ideal surroundings, Colorado, with its clear skies and health-giving, exhilarating air, with its glorious mountain scenery that lifts your soul clean out of the workaday rut, can hardly be equalled in the world as a place to build up health, and enjoy the keenest holiday pleasure from outdoor life.

Now it's my business to lend a friendly hand in planning trips to Colorado. I can relieve you of a lot of trouble. I can give you maps and pictures of Colorado and a hand book describing the comfortable hotels and boarding-houses and what they charge. I can tell you how best to go and arrange for you all the details, and I would like to do it.

No charge, it is part of the Burlington Route (C. B. & Q. Ry.) service. Call at the office or write for a copy of the free illustrated hand book.

SUFFRAGETTE BOMB WAS FOUND

Outside of National Gallery in London—Machine Wrapped in Suffragette Paper

LONDON, May 15.—A so-called militant suffragette bomb was found during the night outside the National gallery which contains invaluable art treasures and is in the very center of London on Trafalgar square.

The machine consisted of a tin can filled with five cartridges wrapped in a copy of the Suffragette. It was labelled "Pills to break the windows of the National gallery." There was no mechanism or detonators connected with the explosives and the bomb was therefore, like many previous ones, of deadly qualities.

The suffragettes apparently threw it over the high railings as it was found lying against the the wall of the west wing of the building.

Henry Curtis Bennett, the magistrate at Bow street police court who is conducting the hearing of the charge against the militant suffragette leaders of conspiracy under the malicious damage to property act, is the latest public man for whose protection against outrage detectives have been assigned by the police authorities at Scotland Yard. He is accompanied every day to and from the court by two officers in plain clothes as threats have been uttered against him.

Crime's Record Book

LONDON, May 15.—The militant suffragette "roll of honor" entitled the "Crime's record book" created profound interest when produced at Bow street police court during today's proceedings against the suffragette leaders. Miss Ifarriet Rebecca Kerr, Miss Alice Lake, Miss Rachel Barrett, Mrs. Beatrice Saunders, Miss Annie Kenney, Miss Laura Lennox and the analytical chemist Clayton again occupied the prisoners' enclosure. Particulars of some 100 convictions for suffragette outrages in which 16 persons were concerned were entered in the list exhibited which was accompanied by receipts for money paid to some of the perpetrators. Miss Emeline Pankhurst's conviction on the charge of inciting others to commit the bomb outrage which destroyed Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George's country house at Walton Heath was among the entries as well as all sorts of trivial disturbances arising from deputations of women to the houses of parliament.

SHOE AND LEATHER

Thorough Investigation of Industry in the United States to be Conducted by the Department of Commerce

NEW YORK, May 15.—Thorough investigation of the shoe and leather industry in the United States in comparison with similar industries in European countries is to be undertaken by the department of commerce. The inquiry will be made by Arthur B. Butman, a commercial agent of the department who has just returned to this country after 22 years spent in Europe investigating the principal shoe and leather manufacturing plants of various foreign countries. Secretary Redfield announced today that Mr. Butman would be despatched at once to begin the investigation. In addition to looking into industries in the manufacturing centers of New England, Mr. Butman also will visit New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and other large cities.

A number of reports by Mr. Butman on the results of his inquiry in the foreign manufacturing situation already have been printed and distributed through the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS

2000 Women Gather in Boston

BOSTON, May 15.—In furtherance of their purpose "to arouse the whole country to a sense of duty and responsibility to childhood" nearly 2,000 persons, the greater number women, have come to Boston for the annual convention of the national congress of mothers and parent-teacher associations, which will be opened tonight and continue until Wednesday. Preliminary meetings of the board of managers were held today.

The general topic to be considered is "Child welfare in home, school, church and state." All phases of child life will be discussed with special reference to home and school training. Mrs. Frederick Schoff of Philadelphia, president of the conference, will preside and the speakers will include a number of prominent educators.

PLAINTIFFS WIN

Proprietors of the Kasino Lose Their Cases—Verdicts of $200 and $230 Returned by Jury

The jury in the cases of John F. Lane, and Miss Etta F. Blanchard against Charles E. Bunker and Edward T. Cushing, proprietors of the Kasino, reported a verdict in favor of the two plaintiffs. An agreement was reached shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon, and Judge Pratt who was at his office was notified by telephone. He repaired to the court house, and then the foreman announced that Miss Blanchard was awarded $200, while Mr. Lane was adjudged $230.

GIVE THE HAIR THE FOOD IT NEEDS

Parisian Sage Soaks In At Once. Feeds, Cleanses and Makes Hair Grow.

What a delight to have a beautiful head of hair, fluffy, lustrous, abundant and free from dandruff.

Hair is a plant and your head is a garden—a little cultivation works wonders. If the hair is too dry it needs freshening up. If it begins to get thin it needs fertilizing.

Parisian Sage is a scientifically made preparation that gives the hair just what it lacks to make it soft, luxuriant, abundant and radiant with life. It removes dandruff immediately and cleanses the hair of dirt and excessive oils. It is perfectly harmless.

Parisian Sage is a tea-colored liquid—not sticky or greasy—delicately perfumed, that comes in fifty cent bottles at the druggists and toilet counters. The "Girl with the Auburn Hair" on the package.

The very first application will astonish you—if used daily for a week you will be delighted with the improvement it has made in your hair and scalp.

You run no risk as Carter & Sherburne guarantee to refund the money if you are not perfectly satisfied—a safe offer on their part. Delighted users of Parisian Sage all over the country write us enthusiastically about it. They pronounce it a rare and wonderful hair dressing.

FACES JAIL SENTENCE AND FINE

Leader Quinlan to be Sentenced Tomorrow—Demonstration is Planned at Paterson

PATERSON, N. J., May 15.—The relations between the city and county authorities and the striking silk mill workers, strained at all times since the start of the strike two months ago, were made more acute today by the fact of the conviction yesterday on the charge of inciting a riot of Patrick Quinlan, Industrial Workers of the World leader. Quinlan will be sentenced probably tomorrow and faces a maximum penalty of seven years in prison and a fine of $2000. He is perhaps the most conspicuous leader of the Industrial Workers of the World ever convicted of a similar or kindred offense in this country.

Four other leaders of the organization are yet to be tried for inciting riot. They are "Big Bill" Haywood, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Tresca and Adolph Lessig. According to present plans of the prosecutor the next defendant to face the bar will be Tresca. His trial will start a week from Monday.

Quinlan's lawyers are making preparations for an appeal. An announcement was made by the strikers today that there will be a monster demonstration late today at Lafayette oval with Quinlan as the leading speaker. Joseph Ettor, who is marshaling the striking barbers in New York also was billed as a speaker along with Haywood and Mrs. Flynn.

Next Saturday at 4.15 O'Clock

A TWO-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 1229 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 29 CHESTNUT STREET

On the premises, regardless of weather conditions, I shall offer for sale the above property. The house is slate roofed, with two tenements of six rooms each, and rents for $17 a month, or $204 a year, occupied by two very good tenants and in excellent condition, inside and out. Now, then, here is a chance for some one of moderate means to secure a nice two-tenement house where they could occupy one and have the income of the other tenement.

Terms: $200 as soon as struck off.

At 4.30 O'Clock

A NINE-ROOM COTTAGE AND ABOUT 1053 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 33 CHESTNUT STREET.

The house has nine rooms, lighted by gas and is in good shape, inside and out. It is occupied by the present owners and would readily rent for $13 a month.

Terms: $150 as soon as struck off.

The above two parcels are located on Chestnut street, between Varnum and High, a location where tenements rent well. Now, then, when you read this advertisement, look the property up. The houses can be seen between 2 and 4 any afternoon, by calling at No. 33 Chestnut street. The sale will be positive, to settle up the estate.

C. F. KEYES in charge for the Heirs.

Monday, May 19, 1913, at 4 O'Clock in the Afternoon

ABSOLUTE SALE OF AN EXCEPTIONAL PIECE OF REALTY—JONAH THAN HOPE ESTATE; RESIDENCE, STABLE AND ABOUT 6 3-4 ACRES OF LAND AT THE JUNCTION OF CHELMSFORD AND LIBERTY STREETS.

In an exceedingly fine location, with its gradual rise from the street level until it acquires an elevation that commands a splendid view of the greater part of our beautiful city, with a large frontage of about 600 feet on Chelmsford street, banked by a heavy stone wall, sets this extraordinary parcel of really to be offered at public competition.

The house consists of about 14 rooms, bath, pantry and shed. It is substantially constructed, high studded, has six fireplaces, furnace heat. It is conveniently laid out, has cemented cellar and rests on a solid foundation and stone piers.

The stable is located some distance from the house, and consists of two stalls, a large carriage house, harness room, and two lofts. The cellar is high posted, with door leading to ground, and has accommodation to tie up two head of cattle.

This sale should receive the consideration of the speculator, as well as the home seeker, as there are about six acres of land in a first class residential section ready for improvement. It is about eight minutes' walk to the railroad station, and about 15 minutes' walk to the postoffice, and is a remarkably high piece of land, well adapted to almost any use. It may be mentioned that there is a long slope of land, which runs to grass and about 60 fruit bearing trees.

The sale will be an absolute one and the purchaser will be the highest bidder on the day and time set above.

Terms: $750 must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms at sale.

The property will be opened for inspection Thursday, May 15, from 2 to 4 o'clock.
